By PAUL LIBERATORE

The City of Sausalito was to file suit today in Marin Superior Court against the Golden Gate Bridge District's recent condemnation of a leasehold on downtown ferry terminal property.

The lawsuit, prepared by attorney Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., asks for a permanent injunction against operation of the terminal unless the bridge district negotiates a sublease with the city.

Last week, a San Francisco superior court approved transfer of the lease from the Madden and Lewis Co. to the bridge district for $79,500 in a condemnation action brought by the district.

According to Sausalito's suit, "the city has served notice on Madden and Lewis Co. and the bridge district that their continued operation of the ferry terminal contrary to the desires of the owner of the property, the city, constitutes a violation of the lease and unless this violation is remedied steps will be taken to eject both Madden and Lewis Co. and the bridge district from the property."

In addition, the city seeks cancellation of the entire Madden and Lewis Co. lease on grounds "that it is void against public policy, constitutes a gift to a private party and provides for only nominal consideration of the city for valuable waterfront property."

It asks that a trust be imposed on the $79,500 paid by the bridge district to prevent the money from being spent before the court case is settled.

The sharply worded document calls the bridge district's condemnation of the property without consulting the city a violation of state law and "an obvious attempt to deny the City of Sausalito the opportunity to object ... such shabby and arrogant treatment of one government body by another is abhorrent ... and the use of public funds for the benefit of private individuals in this devious manner is questionable."

The city's suit is the most severe action in the long smoldering dispute with the bridge district over control of the number of passengers brought to Sausalito on the district's new, larger ferries.

Sausalito has opposed the district's plans to replace the present downtown ferry landing with a new downtown terminal to handle the new ferries, saying the big boats will flood the city with tourists.

Previously, it has only threatened to contest the district's legal right to use the ferry landing unless the city controlled the passenger load.

"This action has been pending for sometime," City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie said today. "The fact that the bridge district pulled these latest shenanigans didn't really change things."

Although the Madden and Lewis Co. lease — which the bridge district claims it owns — extends to the year 2002, the city believes it has ultimate control over how the property is used since it became legal owner when the state turned over the property to Sausalito years ago.

The lawsuit seeks a court declaration that the city has the right to approve any subtenants and that the condemnation action by the bridge district is in direct violation of the lease.

Courthouse Square Office Building Sold

Courthouse Square Office Building in downtown San Rafael was sold today by McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, the developer, to a San Francisco property management firm for $5,850,000, with Bank of America providing about $4 million financing.

Purchaser is Geary Market Investment Company at 49 Geary Street, headed by President John Collins of Hillsborough. The company also owns three buildings in San Francisco — The Chamberlain Building on Geary Street, Bankers Investment Building, and Ransohoff's Building at Geary and Grant.

The sale is in line with McKeon's customary practice of building and then selling to another investor.

The transaction was handled by George H. Shipsey Commercial Properties of San Francisco.

The $5,850,000, believed to be one of the largest commercial building sales transacted in Marin County, indicates the inflated values in Marin today as compared with 100 years ago.

A survey map of Marin County, dated in 1873, shows the entire value of Marin County then was $7,200,000.

Collins said McKeon will continue to operate the building, with Coldwell Banker and Company as leasing agent until the eight-story office building is 90 per cent leased.

At that time, probably in June or July of next year, Geary Market Investment Co. will take over the operation of the Courthouse Square.

Two Middle Schools Due In San Anselmo District

Sixth graders will attend two middle schools at Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools next September and Isabel Cook School will be closed next June, San Anselmo School District trustees decided last night. (Another San Anselmo schools story, page 27.)

The 4-1 vote for the plan recommended by district Supt. Frank R. Elliott followed two weeks of stormy public hearings before some 250 parents. Dissenting, trustee Judith L. Vallas urged the district to hold the line next year with its present two junior high schools, close Cook school and seek financing for additions and other remodeling for a single junior high school at Red Hill.

But trustees supported the middle schools plan as a temporary measure in the face of

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — California's attorney general has agreed with an opinion by the Legislature's attorney that Assemblyman-elect Michael Wornum could lose his seat next month if he waits until January to be sworn in.

The longtime incumbent in the Marin-Sonoma Assembly seat, Republican William T. Bagley, reported the informal opinion by the attorney general — and declared that he will run for the seat himself if Wornum loses it.

Wornum has announced he will try to control the governor's appointment of his successor on the Marin County Board of Supervisors by refusing to take office when the new legislative session starts Dec. 2. Unless Ronald Reagan agrees to appoint someone he finds acceptable, Wornum said, he will not take office until January when Edmund G. Brown Jr. becomes governor.

The opinion by Legislative Counsel George H. Murphy, reported Wednesday by the Independent-Journal, concluded that if Wornum fails to be sworn in Dec. 2 the constitution may require the governor immediately to declare the seat vacant and call a special election to fill the slot for the next two years.

Plan Commission Chairman Quits

James W. McClintock, veteran chairman of the Corte Madera Planning Commission, has resigned at the request of the town council, because of philosophical disagreements over the town general plan.

McClintock, 48, submitted his resignation Nov. 7, stating in his brief letter that it was at the council's request.

Mayor Robert J. Flahive said the council unanimously voted to request the resignation during a closed session Nov. 4 at which it filled another vacancy on the commission. At that session, Steve C. Thompson replaced John W. Gates, who resigned Sept. 30 due to ill health.

McClintock said Flahive told him the council "wanted some new blood on all the town commissions" but noted that he was the only one being replaced.

Flahive told the Independent-Journal that the "council is trying to bring the planning

Gain Shown In Novato's Population

The City of Novato has a population of 35,624, up about 14 per cent from 1970, according to preliminary count of a special census completed this week.

The preliminary count in the Novato Unified School District, whose boundaries extend beyond the city, was 42,840, slightly more than a nine per cent gain.

Planner Mark Westfall said the increase in population should bring the city about $6,500 a year more in state taxes distributed to cities on a per capita basis.

Westfall said the increase in revenue wouldn't cover the cost of the census, about $14,000, immediately, but would mean an increase of about $6,500 a year until the 1980 census.

He said the census showed the complexion of the city's population is changing, with population per household now at 3.15 persons as compared to 3.6 in 1970.

Westfall considered the loss of .5 persons per household a

Marin May Recover Court Security Cost

The state department of finance has offered Marin a $343,137 out-of-court settlement to cover the cost of Civic Center security initiated after the 1970 Hall of Justice shoot-out and bombing.

The offer, to be considered by county supervisors on Tuesday, is the result of more than a year of negotiation between state attorneys and the county counsel's office.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who two years ago was skeptical of the county's chances of being reimbursed, today credited the settlement to the skills of deputy county counsel Allen Haim.

The settlement, if accepted by supervisors, will nullify a $396,328 suit filed last year by the county after the state rejected the county's reimbursement claim.

The county maintained that building security was the direct result of an abortive escape attempt by three San Quentin inmates, two of whom died — along with Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley — in a shootout with prison guards and police.

Miss Davis was acquitted last year of murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges in San Jose where the trial was transferred.

In making the offer, state Finance Director Verne Orr said the funds are not budgeted and cannot be paid unless appropriated in next year's state budget.

He said he would support an effort by Marin to have the funds budgeted.

Grid Clashes Head To Finale

San Rafael and Redwood clash tonight in the first of four games set for the final weekend of the football season for Marin County high schools.

Ford Definitely Will Run In '76

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, who assumed the nation's highest office without voter approval, will definitely run for the presidency in 1976, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said today.

"I guess you've heard him say how much he enjoys being president," said Nessen a press briefing. "Yes, he intends to run in 1976."

Ford's change from "probably" to "definitely" came with the blessings of his wife Betty despite her recent cancer operation and was made while talking to persons outside the White House last Monday, Nessen added.

All-Breed Cat Show, Concerts Headline Events For Weekend

The cats' meows, more than 200 of them, will be heard tomorrow and Sunday at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building as the 24th annual all-breed cat show of the Marin County Cat Fanciers.

Entries to the show are expected from the western states and as far away as Texas.

Short-haired breeds will be judged tomorrow and the long-haired breeds on Sunday. There is a special class for household pet cats. Judging will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

In addition to the cat show, there are many plays, films, lectures and concerts to attract residents of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties who do not want to travel far for entertainment.

Gear Problem To Delay New Ferry Deliveries

Belated discovery of a design flaw on engine gears in the Golden Gate Bridge District's new ferries, will force another delay in the delivery of the first vessel.

Ferry transit manager Stanley M. Kowleski reported today that the first of the three new $4.2 million ferries cannot be delivered until sometime late February. The vessel, The San Francisco, had been scheduled to go into service by the end of next month.

It originally was supposed to be running last June.

Kowleski explained the problem was in the reduction gears that slow the power system of each engine to match the speed of the water pumps that drive the ferries. The gas turbine engines operate at 14,000 revolutions per minute and the gas pumps at 1,200 revolutions per minute.

Endurance tests of the gears in New Jersey have just turned up the highly technical design problem after running them continuously for 40 hours.

Kowleski said the gears will be redesigned by the manufacturer, Sier-Bath, a subcontractor to Avco-Lycoming, supplier of turbines. He said a monetary penalty will be imposed by the district on Campbell Industries of San Diego, in whose shipyard the ferries are being built.

Kowleski said that in actual use the gears probably would have worked since, in actual operation, the ferry does not run continuously for 40 hours at high speed but added that no chance should be taken.

Ford Challenges Congress To Act On His Proposals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — President Ford says inflation is "starting to recede," that he still supports his legislative proposals for repairing the economy, and he challenged Congress to help do something about it.

In a question-and-answer session last nigtt, Ford showed a combative, campaigning spirit despite the defeat of of many of the GOP candidates he fought for in October. He indicated that he would pattern his actions after the first President he ever met, Harry S. Truman, and hold Congress accountable for its 1974 mandate.

Many questions and answers dealt with another area of collision with Congress. Ford's appointment of Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president was No. 1 on his list of "the best things we've done" in the first days of his administration. Ford, trying to get Congress to "fish or cut bait" on the nomination, made a point of suggesting that Congress reexamine the 25th Amendment, to speed up the appointive sections.

Most of the questions from the regular White House correspondents and the members of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalists' society, dealt with the economy. Ford again rejected a tax on gasoline and repeatedly opposed wage and price controls, calling them "just absolutely the wrong approach to the solution of a weakening economy."

Ford even said the Democratic leaders of Congress told him "there is no prospect" of such controls. If Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., is one of them, he admitted a setback, because the Senate Democratic leader has repeatedly said wage, price and rent controls should be adopted.

In response to a question about whether the economy is getting worse — the reporter asked whether the United States faces another Great Depression — Ford said: "I believe that we have certain safeguards today that we did not have in the 1930s and I remember the Depression."

Ford admitted one economic indicator — unemployment — will increase, but he said no economist has indicated to him that it will go above 7 per cent. The way to solve the problems, he said, is to pass his economic proposals.

"I happen to think we've got two problems: a weakening economy and inflation that's too high," Ford said. "The proposals that I submitted — 31 in number — try to meet both. And at the moment I see no justification for any major revisions."

This included his "constructive proposal" of a 5 per cent surtax for middle and upper incomes, which faces a tough time in Congress. It "would affect only 28 per cent of the personal income taxpayers" — whom, he suggested, might be willing to sacrifice a few cents a day to help whip inflation.

The prospect of a face-off with Congress came up again and again. Ford said Congress will have to act on the economy, has been dragging its heels on the Rockefeller nomination, hurt him by objecting to aid to Turkey during the Cyprus dispute, and Ford said of the long period of Democratic control, "So all of the evil that you had, you can blame on them, not on us."

Ford analyzed the Democratic success in 1974 elections this way: "The Republican party was in the White House at the time that we had 10 or 11 per cent inflation, where we had some softening of the economy, and where we had the heritage of Watergate."

He was clearly looking forward to 1976, when he is expected to be a candidate. "We're going to solve the inflation problems, we're going to strengthen the economy and Watergate is ended," he said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Crash Inquiry

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The crew of the Eastern Airlines jet that crashed two months ago apparently failed to adhere to recommended final approach procedures, the National Transportation Safety Board was told yesterday.

Eastern officials testified that information obtained from transcripts of the cockpit voice recorder recovered from the crash site indicated the plane was flying faster and lower than it should have been minutes before the impact.

The NTSB panel of inquiry concluded three days of hearings into the crash in which 72 persons died, but a report on the board's findings is not expected for several months.

Textbook Feud

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Makeshift schools, patterned after those in colonial America, sprang up in outlying Kanawha County villages and towns today amid intense security maintained to avert further violence in the long-running textbook feud.

Snow-laced rains and swarms of police cars combined to cool tempers that exploded into roadside ambushes earlier in the week when more than 300 books dubbed obscene by protesters went back to classrooms.

Despite a steady climb in school attendance, Schools Superintendent Kenneth Underwood said past acts of violence would deter some parents from sending children to schools because "there's no way to combat fear."

Gleason Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House aide Jack A. Gleason pleaded guilty today to federal violations growing out of his administration of a secret political fund used to support Nixon administration-favored candidates in the 1972 congressional elections.

Representatives of the special prosecutor's office said Gleason administered a fund of $3 million from funds raised by Herbert W. Kalmbach, who has also pleaded guilty to campaign violations.

Specifically, Gleason pleaded to a misdemeanor charge accusing him of running a political fund raising committee which had neither a designated chairman nor treasurer.

Saudi Arabian Minister Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Omar Sakkaf, Saudi Arabia's minister of state for foreign affairs and a close adviser to King Faisal, died last night in his Waldorf Astoria hotel suite. He was 50.

Sakkaf

The Saudi Ambassador to the United Nations, Jamil Baroody, said Sakkaf died of a cerebral thrombosis. The diplomat was in New York to attend the U.N. debate on Palestine.

He had served as ambassador to Ethiopia and permanent undersecretary in the Saudi foreign ministry before taking over the ministry in 1968.

NATO Oil Stock

LONDON (UPI) — The nations of Western Europe have only a 65-day reserve of oil, not enough to sustain allied military operations in an emergency, a report to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said today.

NATO's preparedness depends on the immediate availability of large quantities of fuel to sustain military operations, but force cannot be used to obtain needed oil, a panel of military experts reported.

The report said Western European nations are committed to bringing their reserve oil stocks up to 90 days by next Jan. 1, but gave no indication whether the target can be reached at a time of high oil prices and rampant inflation.

Rebel Massacre

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel forces raided a farming village near Phnom Penh today and massacred dozens of men, women and children, apparently for refusing to cooperate with the insurgents.

Leaving Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — A leading Jewish activist began packing his bags for Israel today, winning a four-year battle to emigrate from the Soviet Union.

Physicist Viktor Polsky declined to say if he thought the Soviet decision to let him out of the country was a result of last month's agreement on trade and emigration between the Soviet Union and the United States.

"Maybe this is the first, maybe not," said Polsky, who acquired the title of the nation's leading "refusenik" for the number of times his applications to leave were refused.

Americans Freed

SEOUL (UPI) — The South Korean government freed five American prisoners today in a goodwill gesture to the United States. North and South Korean troops clashed across the truce zone a week before President Ford's visit to Seoul.

A government spokesman said the prisoners were released "to reaffirm the traditional friendly relations existing between Korea and the United States."

The four soldiers and one civilian were serving jail terms of two to 10 years for crimes ranging from possession of marijuana to murder.

Aid To Detente

TOKYO (AP) — China promoted Chiao Kuan-hua, a leading internationalist, from deputy to foreign minister today in a move interpreted here as an advance for U.S. detente.

The foreign ministry in Peking said the replacement of Chi Peng-fei in the post was effective immediately and was a routine reorganization. But the change takes place 10 days before Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's talks in Peking and amid reports that President Gerald Ford may be going to China soon.

Rabin Warns Syria To Keep Peace

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin warned Syria today not to violate the U.N.-policed disengagement accord on the occupied Golan Heights and said if it did Damascus would find Israel strong and ready. Cairo newspapers reported that Israel was planning a new war against the Arabs.

Rabin's remarks came as urgent demands mounted for a national emergency "wall-to-wall" coalition government in what political sources said was Israel's worsening position in the Middle East.

Moussa Sabry, editor of the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar said in a page one article "our enemy is preparing for a new military round. Belts have been tightened in Israel so the military establishment can meet the requirements of the new war."

Al Ahram editor Ahmed Baha'eddin, said the Arabs should take seriously current talk of a possible new war "which only complete Arab unity can thwart."

Rabin said more than 20 Soviet cargo ships were now unloading weaponry in Syria's main port of Latakia.

U.S. officials said today in Washington that, while the situation in the Middle East undoubtedly was rather tense because of a variety of developments, they had nothing to suppport the Cairo newspaper reports that an outbreak of hostilities was imminent.

They said the United Nations General Assembly debate, demonstrations on the West Bank of the jordan, stringent economic measures in Israel and various other things had contributed to the somewhat heightened atmosphere of tension — but there were no indications that it would go beyond that.

TODAY'S WORLD

"If the world is getting smaller how come air fares are going up?"

There has been speculation in the Middle East for some time, they noted, that Israel might be preparing to carry out a preemptive attack on Syria. However, all signs received in Washington point to the contrary, they said.

U.S. observers noted that the Syrian-Israeli truce in the Golan Heights comes up for renewal at the end of this month. They said, however, that indications were it probably would be renewed and there have been no actions on the Syrian side which might be taken as prompting an Israeli attack.

Addressing the Tel Aviv Engineers' Club, Rabin said he hoped Syria would decide to renew the U.N. mandate to enforce the Golan cease-fire despite recent statements by Damascus that the international peace-keeping force might be removed when the mandate expires Nov. 30.

"We shall not violate agreements we have signed," Rabin said. "We expect the other side to honor its obligations as well. "I suggest that each side not entertain illusions that it has the ability to take a unilateral step."

"We believe that a continuation of the separation of forces agreements in itself contains a contribution to calm, a contribution to even the slightest chance to advance peace."

Opening Of New Building Is Near

COURTHOUSE SQUARE — Bank of America and California Canadian Bank are the major tenants in this $6 million office building which will open next month in the heart of downtown San Rafael. A model office will be ready in a week or two on the third floor of the eight-story tower where prospective tenants will be able to see the carpeting, drapes, and modern conveniences that are available in the 75,400 square foot tower.

The $6 million Courthouse Square Office Building in San Rafael, which is scheduled to open its doors to the first tenants in two or three weeks, is expected to draw banks, attorneys, accountants, insurance companies and other professional offices to the heart of the downtown area.

James Fuller, president of the commercial division of developer McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, said California Canadian Bank will move into the first floor of the eight-story tower at the corner of Fourth and A Streets, while Bank of America will take over the first floor and mezzanine of the low level building at Fourth and Court Street opposite Macy's. The mezzanine will connect with the tower building's second floor, which Bank of America will also occupy. Bank of America will occupy 15,125 square feet of floor space, including the mezzanine. Both banks will have drive-up and walkup facilities.

The eight-story tower has 75,400 square feet of air-conditioned office space, complete heating and ventilating, fire sprinkler system, recessed lighting, carpets and draperies, with janitorial service and utilities provided. Air conditioning is zoned so that various parts of the building will have their own controls.

While only the two banks as yet have leases, negotiations are under way with others such as legal firms, said Fuller. He estimated that 60 per cent of the floor area is still available for lease through Michael Keating of Coldwell Banker and company in San Francisco.

A model office on the third floor of the tower building should be ready for inspection by prospective tenants by the first of December.

The 264 parking spaces in the five-level parking garage at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Court Street with covered walkways to the office buildings will be available only to tenants for use by them and their clients.

Project Engineer Harger said ticket spitters will issue tickets to those entering the parking garage, and some type of validation system will be set up to reimburse customers who use the garage.

Rental rates, which vary with elevations and locations, will generally run from 62 cents to about 72 cents per square foot per month. Except for the first floor, which is the choice location, the higher the elevation, the higher the rental because upper floors command better views.

McSweeney-Schuppel of San Francisco were architects of the building. Landscape contractor is Neil Shooter Co. of Novato.

McKeon Construction Co's practice is to build a structure and then sell it to another investor such as a large insurance company. Fuller said Courthouse Square will probably be sold by the end of this year.

Venezuela Trails In Telecommunications

CARACAS (UPI) — Communications minister Armando Sanchez Bueno says Venezuela is 50 years behind the times in telecommunications facilities.

The minister blamed the situation on what he called the mentality of politicians who in the past thought it was enough to construct obstentatious public works projects with no thought given to their daily operation and maintenance.

Bells In The Old North Church May Peal To Open Bicentennial

BOSTON (AP) — Boston wants to ring in the nation's Bicentennial in the old style, but experts warn that free-swinging bells could topple the tower of the Old North Church.

Engineers are at work now, gingerly testing the 3½-ton chimes to see if they can safely swing free as they did in Paul Revere's time.

They have freed one bell, and it has been sounding one single note within the 3½ foot-thick walls of the bellfry.

In an annex beside the church, Dorothy Larson, secretary to the vicar, heard the chime and didn't recognize it.

"It didn't sound like the regular peal of the bells I'm used to. I heard the bell going for a long time — deep and resonant and beautiful."

The engineers expect to have their verdict on the chimes within a month.

The bells in Old North Church, where two lanterns warned of the sea approach by the British in 1775, are the oldest set of chimes in North America.

But for the last half century, with the fading of the art of bell-ringing, the chimes have been held in a fixed position and struck by clappers.

Now, a new breed of bell ringers wants to set them free.

The Episcopal Old North Church, built in 1723, is the oldest church building in Boston.

Its bells were cast in 1744, and have rung out on every important occasion in the nation's history, says the Rev. Robert W. Golledge, vicar of the church.

He says the first celebration of the nation's 200th birthday will come next April 18, when descendants of Revere and Robert Newman — the man with the lantern — will climb the steeple with their lights.

By that time, there may be eight free-swinging bells in the steelple to ring in the nation's next century.

Governor's Ball May Be Junked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov.-elect Edmund G. Brown Jr., a 36-year-old bachelor, is entertaining the idea of scrapping the traditional inaugural ball, an aide said yesterday.

"There is a possibility there will not be such a thing as an inaugural ball," the aide said. "Jerry has indicated he has questions about whether he should have one."

Asked if one question was whether Brown could get a date, the aide said: "I don't think there's any problem there."

Lawyer Concedes Attempt To Conceal Book Financing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lawyer who helped set up a corporation to publish a book critical of Nelson A. Rockefeller's Democratic opponent in 1970 conceded today that efforts were made to conceal the Rockefeller family financing of the biography.

Robert D. Orr, a Philadelphia lawyer who had worked for the Rockefeller family, said "yes sir" when asked at the Senate Rules Committee hearing into Rockefeller's nomination if the purpose in creating a dummy Delaware corporation was to hide the Rockefeller connection with the book.

Laurance Rockefeller, brother of the former New York governor, put up $65,000 to help publish the book about former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, Orr testified.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Rules Committee, told reporters he had no doubts the money was "laundered" to conceal the Rockefeller connection.

But Cannon said he did not think the book affair was serious enough to block Rockefeller's confirmation.

New York Attorney John Wells testified the idea of publishing a book critical of Goldberg was his own. He said Rockefeller was "noncommittal" when he broached the matter with him four months before the 1970 election.

"When I walked out of there I didn't know whether I'd made a sale or not," he said.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., suggested he felt the protracted questioning about the book was designed to destroy Rockefeller as a future candidate for national office.

Wells said a week after his meeting with Rockefeller he received a call from a Rockefeller lawyer who wanted to discuss means of publishing the book.

Rockefeller, whose nomination was expected to be approved by the committee, has testified that the 15-minute meeting with Wells was his only involvement with the book. He has admitted that he gave tacit approval to the project and recommended that his brother, Laurance, finance it.

The book, published when Goldberg was challenging Rockefeller for the governorship of New York and described as libelous by the former justice, is one of several issues which have stalled President Ford's nomination of Rockefeller for nearly three months.

Sirica Orders Replay Of Watergate Tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today ordered a crucial White House tape replayed before he decides whether defendant H.R. Haldeman can cite CIA secrecy as part of his defense in the Watergate cover-up trial.

For the second straight day, the Central Intelligence Agency and its possible role in the Watergate bugging became a central issue at the trial of Haldeman and four other aides to former President Richard M. Nixon accused of conspiring to hush up the scandal.

The prosecution contends that Haldeman, with Nixon's blessing, ordered the CIA to block a key phase of the bugging investigation just six days after the Watergate arrests to keep the FBI from tracing the crime to the president's 1972 reelection campaign.

Haldeman's lawyers, however, are seeking to prove that the CIA had a legitimate concern that the FBI investigation might uncover its operations abroad and thus the CIA sought on its own to block that phase of the investigation.

After listening to legal arguments with the jury out of the courtroom, Sirica ordered a replay of the tape of a June 23, 1972, meeting between Nixon and Haldeman in which Nixon approved the idea of ordering the CIA to interfere in the FBI investigation of Watergate.

"I'm going to have it played," Sirica said, slapping the bench with his hand to overrule objections. "I want to find out what their defense is."

The tape, originally played for the jury on Monday, was repeated while the jurors were out of the room. After listening to it, Sirica evidently was still troubled and asked Haldeman's lawyers how far they intended to go in cross-examination on the CIA matter.

of reelection to the seat he has held since 1960, said the attorney general's office had advised the governor's office that it agreed with Murphy's opinion.

Bagley said that as a result he has asked the governor to declare the seat vacant if Wornum is not sworn in Dec. 2.

He acknowledged the constitution has a provision for newly elected legislators to be sworn in after Dec. 2, but argued this applies only to those who are sick or unavoidably delayed — not to deliberate refusal to be sworn in.

Bagley predicted the governor will conform to his request for a special election if Wornum misses the opening day.

Asked if he expected Wornum to dodge the Dec. 2 swearing in given the threat to his later seating, Bagley said, "I would assume he'd be carrying his own Bible."

Bagley said his future plans so far are indefinite, adding "all depends on Mike Wornum. I don't want to see the seat demeaned. I am saying what I am saying in order to hasten his exercise of good judgment so that he will take the oath as he should."

Wornum's supervisorial term has two years to run. He is vacationing out of state.

commission more in tune with the current thinking of the council." While deliberating the town general plan, the council had to make "a fair amount of corrections" in planning commission wording concerning the Hahn and Corte Madera del Presidio projects, Flahive added.

"I guess it's just a difference in philosophy," McClintock said.

He was appointed to the commission in 1966 and served as chairman about five of the eight years, he said.

Appointment of a replacement for McClintock is on the council agenda for Monday. Town Mgr. Ronald B. Bartels said no interviews are scheduled; the council may choose from among a standing list of persons who have volunteered for service on city panels or who have been put forward by homeowner groups, he said.

There is no specific list of applicants just for a planning commission seat, Bartels said.

significant drop. This, he said, represents more townhouse and apartments and the "flight of the lower and middle class. Ten years ago the typical family was a mother and father in their 30s and three school-age children, but there's not as many now."

It appears there are more young persons without children and more older persons whose children have grown and left home, he said.

Westfall said the number of dwelling units in the city has increased from 8,553 to 12,905, a 41 per cent rise since 1970. In the school district there are 14,509 dwelling units.

The detailed data relating to such things as income, shopping habits and horse ownership will be taken to a processing center in Berkeley and the results are expected in three to four weeks.

The census was cosponsored by the city seeking its fair share of tax revenues and the school district, seeking information to help its planning.

DOODLING ON

Cast doodling is elevated to a fine art as Illinois State Museum curator of art Bob Evans exhibits his ability on the cast of Debbie Van Nest. Miss Van Nest, a community arts management student at Sangamon State University in Springfield, Ill., is working as an intern with Evans, who has shown his work throughout the state. But never a traveling exhibit, like the one on Miss Van Nest's ankle.

Roller-Skating Rabbi Gets His Cap

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (UPI) — Rabbi Gordon Gladstone had a problem.

He and several friends had gone roller skating and the Rabbi was surprised when a rink attendant stopped him and said that because of safety rules he couldn't wear his hat.

As always — except when he sleeps or showers — the rabbi was wearing his skullcap.

"I said, 'This isn't a hat' and I skated off," said the rabbi.

Gladstone was stopped a second time and told if he didn't remove the "hat," he would have to leave the rink.

"I explained that this was part of my religious belief and it was a fairly extensive practice among the Jewish faith," said the rabbi, but to no avail.

So, when Gladstone would not remove his skullcap — a small circular piece of cloth held on by two bobby pins — he was kicked out.

The next day he filed a religious discrimination complaint with the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

That was last April and now, more than six months later, the Civil Rights Commission has ruled in Gladstone's favor.

"What we were dealing with was not a clear case of religious discrimination, but accidental discrimination based on a safety rule," figures the rabbi. "However, by virtue of its existence, it was religious discrimination against me."

Gladstone said he received "hate mail and other critical reaction" stemming from the incident. "Some people thought what I did was childish."

"But I really felt discriminated against," added the 28-year-old rabbi, who has a congregation of 59 families.

"I won a personal battle but I'm not too sure how big an overall blow I struck," he said. "I don't know too many rabbis that roller skate."

The managers of the rink — a married couple who confronted the Rabbi — have been fired and an official of the controlling corporation said he was "embarrassed" about the incident.

"We had some people around who weren't familiar with Jewish customs or traditions," said Golden Tee, Inc. executive Paul Sacolick, himself a Jew who used to wear a skullcap. "I think the rabbi was treated pretty crudely and we shouldn't have thrown him out.

"But," added Sacolick, "we're still not going to allow skating in big, floppy hats that could fall off and wreck other skaters. We're just going to make sure our people know what skullcaps are."

Bargaining Council Considers Sending Coal Pact To Miners

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The United Mine Workers' bargaining council today resumed consideration of a proposed three-year coal contract. Both sides called it a "good contract" but a spokesman for the mine owners warned it would drive up the price of electricity and automobiles.

Union officials said the 38-member council —which wound up an eight-hour session before dawn and met again at mid-morning —might vote later today on whether or not to recommend passage of the contract by 120,000 striking miners.

UMW President Arnold Miller said at the breakup of the early morning session that the council still had 19 items to go through before making its recommendation. He called the contract "a good one."

"I think the contract is proper, I think it is justified," agreed Guy Farmer, a spokesman for mine owners, on the NBC Today Show. "There are a lot of things in it which are good for the miners and, I think, good for the country."

"But I'd be less than frank and candid if I didn't agree that this is going to have a significant impact in those areas," he added when asked if the higher pay and benefits for miners would drive up the price of coal, power, steel, automobiles and other items.

"I think obviously, with a contract of this magnitude, it will have some effect on the price of coal," he added. "It will have to."

"It's been a long session and we haven't come to any conclusion," Miller said after the meeting broke up.

The contract was presented to council members last evening and they worked straight through completing major economic issues and some of the non-economic items.

The new pact, reached Wednesday, provides for wage increases of 9 per cent the first year and 3 per cent in each of the following years, in addition to cost of living increases. It also includes substantial pension increases ranging from $150 to $442.50 a month.

OUT OF HOSPITAL — A weak and underweight Richard Nixon, still in a wheelchair and with his left foot elevated, is wheeled to a waiting limousine as he was taken home from Long Beach Memorial Hospital yesterday after a 23-day stay. At upper right is nurse Andrea Evanson, who was with Nixon when he went into shock six hours after surgery for phlebitis.

Ford Aide Favors Easier Pot Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Ford administration drug abuse official said today he favors an end to criminal penalties for personal use of marijuana while still pursuing a policy to discourage its use.

"The social goal of our marijuana policy is not to punish, but to prevent and discourage use," said Dr. Robert L. Dupont, director of the White House Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Programs.

He made the remarks in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws tonight.

He told the NORML Convention — a group organized to decriminalize marijuana use and possession — that the federal policy "of relying exclusively on law enforcement to arrest both users and sellers has been replaced by a policy which targets law enforcement on the drug distribution system and not on the users of illicit drugs."

The federal government, he said, was closely watching the so-called Oregon experiment, where possession of marijuana is a "civil violation" instead of a criminal violation, much as a parking ticket.

"I think there are two central propositions which command widespread support and stand out amid all the controvesy:

"First, the continuing uncertainty about marijuana's effects mandates restraint and active efforts to discourage use of the drug. Second, criminal penalties for possession of marijuana for personal use are costly and should be avoided."

He stressed that he did not believe marijuana is harmless and "several recent studies seem to indicate there may be serious risk to marijuana users."

Court Approves Sales Tax Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Supreme Court says a Los Angeles man may file a suit on behalf of 500,000 car owners in his attempt to collect refunds of part of the sales tax.

The plaintiff, George Javor, seeks a refund on part of the tax on new cars purchased between Aug. 15 and Dec. 11, 1971.

The high court has ruled that a "class action" could be brought in the case.

Nixon Will Be Asked To Permit An Exam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon's lawyer said today he expects to ask the former president this weekend whether he will consent to an examination by court-appointed doctors to determine if he is well enough to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial.

In a surprise appearance before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, Nixon lawyer Herbert J. Miller Jr. said he hoped to see Nixon at his home in San Clemente, and report to the court no later than Tuesday on Nixon's response.

"I have not had an opportunity to speak with my client for some time due to the state of his health ...," Miller told Sirica. "I am informed the time I can spend with him is very, very limited."

Sirica this week named a panel of three physicians to examine medical records and to conduct a physical examination of Nixon if necessary to determine whether he is well enough to give testimony in some form for the cover-up trial of five of his former associates.

Nixon, an unindicted coconspirator in the cover-up, has been subpoenaed to testify by defendant and former No. 2 White House aide John D. Ehrlichman. Miller previously told the court that Nixon could not provide testimony in any form for at least two or three months.

The prosecutors disclosed today they may rest their case on Wednesday or Thursday next week, making the issue of Nixon's testimony more immediate.

"If we're going to do anything, time is of the essence," Sirica told Miller.

He said the doctors are reluctant to inquire into the Nixon case unless they have the consent of the former president through his lawyers. He asked Miller to consult with Nixon and provide, if possible, a letter of authorization for the independent medical examinations.

One of the court-appointed physicians, Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel, told a news conference yesterday they cannot proceed until the court determines whether Nixon will agree to the examination.

Larkspur Schools Show Growth In Library Books

Libraries in the Larkspur School District now have an average of 27 books for each student, four times as many as five years ago.

District trustees were told last night that 3,000 new books, records, filmstrips and magazines have been purchased in the last year, according to Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

Cohen noted that five years ago the libraries at the various schools averaged only seven books per child.

The district began a systematic improvement of the facilities and during the past year spent $12,000 in federal, state and district funds for new materials.

The Larkspur School District board also:

ELECTIONS — Learned that board President Shirley A. Walker and trustee Charles E. Newman already have filed for reelection in the school elections next March 4.

PRINCIPAL — Accepted, "with extreme regret," the resignation of Mervin Gootherts as principal of Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur. Gootherts, who has held the post 16 years, wants to return to teaching next year.

INSURANCE — Were told that the district will save $3,500 in insurance costs over the next five years because of a $600 inventory of district equipment taken last year. Cohen said the survey showed the district did not have as much equipment as the insurance companies originally had estimated and so premiums will be lowered by $700 a year.

LEAVE — Granted a maternity leave to Marita Randolph, a third grade teacher at San Clemente School.

Sewer System Plans Approved

Plans for a sewerage system for the New Marin Valley Mobile Country club won approval from the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night.

The 200-unit trailer park is near Hamilton Air Force Base.

In other business, district directors postponed action on a proposal to raise their salaries from $40 to $50 per meeting and a plan to grant themselves pay for committee meetings. The matter will be discussed further at the board's Nov. 21 meeting.

In addition, the board tentatively approved an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District in which the sanitary district would divert up to four acre-feet of water per 24 hours for a waste water treatment plant to be constructed by Marin Municipal. The district intends to sell the reclaimed water for irrigation.

Nader Says Nuclear Power Plants Risky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader opened a two-day meeting of critics of the nuclear power industry today by charging the Atomic Energy Commission is creating a national security risk in promoting the development of atomic power.

"This is a very grave national security risk because this technology is potentially catastrophic," Nader said at a news conference opening "Critical Mass '74," a national gathering of the citizens movement to stop nuclear power."

Nader said that as commercial nuclear power reactors spread through the nation, they will be widely vulnerable to sabotage, theft and terrorist action.

"One of the futures to which we might be burdened in this industry is the future of turning the country into a garrison state necessary to safeguard the proliferating nuclear power industry," he said.

There will have to be guards at every checkpoint of transportation of nuclear materials, guards at plants, waste disposal areas, he said, and, "I'm sure there will have to be guards for the guards."

Nader said the conference also is concerned with safety aspects of nuclear power plants and what he said was a financial crisis in nuclear power stemming from rising uranium costs and increased capital and plant maintenance costs.

He said conference organizers invited proponents of nuclear power as well as opponents to attend the meeting, but he said most declined to appear.

A nuclear energy proponent who did appear at the conference, former AEC commissioner William O. Daub, said after Nader's news conference, "I think it is perfectly obvious that this whole two day conference is designed to provide an opportunity for nuclear critics to talk to each other. I've been given 15 minutes to give the pro side.

Home Of Extortion Pair Burglarized

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — David and Sheila Heesch, who pleaded guilty Wednesday to a $1 million extortion plot against the Bonneville Power Administration, became crime victims themselves this week.

Clackamas County authorities said yesterday the couple's home in Beavercreek, south of Portland, was burglarized late Wednesday or early yesterday.

Worst Recession Since World War II Forecast

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford economist Thomas G. Moore, who says the nation is suffering from both inflation and recession, is optimistic about the former and pessimistic about the latter.

Moore said in an interview yesterday he feels the nation is heading for its worst recession since before World War II, "and I see no particular reason why it should be short."

Moore recently listed 22 steps — many of them painful — for combating inflation. Now he says when the nation does get its inflation under control, it will find itself in a major recession.

"The way to stop inflation is to restrict demand. This means we must cut people's incomes in order to restrict the quantity they can buy. This is painful."

The cutback made its appearance long ago in the crippled housing industry and more recently in the automobile industry, where sharp sales drops have resulted in layoffs for thousands of workers.

He said the slowdown was already affecting middle and high income persons in many areas and asserted real estate prices are sliding in many areas. Moore predicted that further signs that inflation is slowing but hard times are coming is shown in the drop of some commodities in the world market. Moore even expects a sharp drop in oil prices next year, if war is averted in the Middle East.

Sexual Disease Claimed An Epidemic Worldwide

GENEVA (UPI) — Sexually-transmitted diseases have increased to epidemic proportions and one of them — gonorrhea — is out of control in several countries, the World Health Organization (WHO) said today.

WHO said 13 diseases are now known to be transmitted sexually and while most can be cured easily they are still spreading at an increasing rate.

"It has to be admitted that the medical response to this worldwide epidemic has so far proved partly ineffective," it said.

WHO was reporting on a four-day meeting of 50 experts on how to improve the fight against the diseases.

"The full scale of the problem is still not known but syphilis and gonorrhea are known to be on the increase, especially gonorrhea which is much more common than syphilis and which is regarded as out of control in several countries," WHO said.

In the United States, it said, there are an estimated 2.5 million cases of gonorrhea although only 800,000 have been officially notified.

In Denmark and France more than one fifth of all cases, and in Sweden more than one third, occur among people under 20, WHO said.

The organization said there are twice as many cases of venereal diseases among persons aged 15 to 19 than in the whole population of any given country.

"The annual incidence of gonorrhea in many countries affects one to five per cent of people in the age-group 15 to 30 and may go ashigh as six to 10 per cent," it said.

WHO gave these reasons for the increase in venereal disease:

Better diagnostic methods,

The increased number of young people in the population,

Faster urbanization with the young providing the biggest contingent of newcomers to the cities,

The migration of manpower wth six million foreign workers in European countries and with the infection rate among the worlds estimated one million sailors 16 to 20 per cent above average,

Tourism with more than 200 million people traveling yearly,

Greater sexual freedom.

"Since public health methods have so far failed to deal with the problem, the next method to be tried is public education," WHO said.

The organization said it plans to promote a concerted effort to improve training of health professionals and and the education of children from the age of 15 upwards.

Students Add To School Board

By PAUL CANE

Students — they are the ones who read the books, listen to the teachers and use the athletic facilities.

It's only natural, then, that members of a school governing board should listen to what students have to say.

And in the San Rafael school district, that's what happens.

Catherine M. Sasek, 17, and 16-year-old Heidi L. Thomas are the two students elected by their peers to serve as advisory members to the San Rafael Board of Education.

They sit at the school board table at meetings and are given time with the elected board members to express their views on issues. Like regular members, they serve on district committees studying various problems.

They don't vote, but nevertheless each considers her role important in bringing student concerns to the attention of both the board and the public.

(The Tamalpais High School District also has a student representative on its board.)

Miss Sasek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Sasek of 1276 Idylberry Road, is a senior at Terra Linda High School. In addition to her school board position, she is president of the Terra Linda High chapter of the California Scholastic Federation, and a member of the school's football color guard.

CATHERINE M. SASEK
. . . on school board

Miss Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Thomas of 15 Mountain View Avenue, is a junior at San Rafael High School, a member of the school's Student Action Board, the school orchestra, swim team, school newspaper, and is a varsity cheerleader.

"Before I got on the board, I had no idea what Senate Bill 90 was," said Miss Thomas. "But I've done a lot of work, and now the board members don't treat me like a child, but as an equal — they appreciate my opinion."

According to Miss Sasek, a student member of the board has a great advantage over elected board members. "We have power to say a lot of things other board members don't. We can say whatever we feel without having to worry about being reelected," she noted.

Both agree that the problems facing the district can be summed up in one word — money.

Because of a limitation imposed by SB 90 on the amount of money districts can spend on each student, the district is faced with rising costs and an unelastic supply of money to spend on its programs.

A teacher strike — threatened when the board said it couldn't afford to give teachers a full cost-of-living pay increase — was only narrowly averted a few weeks ago.

Next year, problems will get worse unless district voters approve a spending increase that will probably be planned for March.

The solution to the money crisis?

Obviously, all associated with the school dearly hope the spending increase will be approved by the electorate.

"It just has to pass," Miss Sasek said. "We don't have enough programs now, and without more money everything would have to be cut. We at Terra Linda don't have a theater, for one thing. And the girls want a girls gym. But I don't think it will pass unless people get out and do an awful lot of pushing for it."

If it doesn't pass?

"I don't know — it will be awfully tight," commented Miss Thomas. "I'm sure glad I'm not in Superintendent (Donald E.) Leisey's position," since he has to figure out how to get by on less money.

Teacher cutbacks — almost inevitable next year if more money isn't forthcoming — are made on the basis of seniority, and Miss Thomas thought this method unfair to "new teachers, who really are the lifeblood of the school." She suggested that a panel of administrators, students, teachers and parents evaulate teacher performance to determine who should be rehired.

Miss Sasek, however, disagreed with that plan. "If you did that, teachers would feel that they had to 'perform' for evaluators," she speculated. "Student evaluation of courses is coming — and it's a good thing — but a teacher shouldn't lose a job" on the basis of an opinion rendered after a brief observance by outsiders.

On another issue, the girls opinions are the same — they believe that the board members come prepared for meetings and are informed about school problems, and that too many students and community members are not.

"The board members do their homework before the meetings, and we do, too — you can't sit up there and fake it," Miss Thomas said.

According to Miss Sasek, there should be more community information and involvement in school affairs. "People sit home and say, 'We should have better schools for our kids," but then they never show up at board meetings to do something about it."

Students are the same way, Miss Thomas obsrved. "Some of us are interested and involved, but not nearly enough. All of us should learn what's behind the school, what makes it go, and then get in and fight for what you believe — don't just sit down and complain."

Mental Health Unit Expanded

Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council has expanded its task force to help prepare a proposal to the county supervisors for solving Marin's continuing problems in administration of mental health services.

Joan M. Ripple, executive director for the council, reported that the council's directors on Wednesday voted to add its health services committee to the mental health and health facilities committees assigned last month to the probe. The fask force is to prepare recommendations for the health planning council to pass on to the supervisors.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council also:

BYLAWS — Voted unanimously to change the requirement for the annual meeting and election of directors from the second Wednesday in January to anytime in the first 45 days of the new year.

CRISIS — Heard that no date yet has been set for a public hearing on the Community Mental Health Center's crisis unit, postponed from Oct. 17. Staff is still waiting for data from the center, required before the council can recommend a state license for the crisis unit.

RADIO — Unanimously approved a letter to the state emergency medical services office, urging that the proposed emergency medical technician program provide radio training for all technicians, to permit constant voice contact with hospital emergency rooms.

Cover Ordered For Personhole

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Satellite Beach City Manager Richard Shinn gave a slight push to the women's liberation movement yesterday when he approved a requisition for a "personhole" cover for a water main.

The order form, which went to Shinn for approval, was filled out by a woman clerk in the street water department, who changed the wording from "manhole cover" to the term showing no gender.

Shinn said later he signed the requisition "as part of our women's lib program."

$62 Million Saved During Support Sweep

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State-funded efforts to enforce child support collection saved California taxpayers $62 million that would have gone out in welfare payments during the 1973-74 fiscal year, a state official said yesterday.

David B. Swoap, state Benefit Payments director, also said that during the same 12-month period the percentage of absent parents contributing to the support of their family rose to 28 per cent, nearly double the figure prior to the 1971 Welfare Reform Act.

"In the case of welfare families, every child support dollar we can bring in means one dollar less a family will receive in the form of welfare payments," Swoap said.

Larkspur Postal Group Petitions Against Move

Members of the Friends of the Larkspur Post Office planned to knock on residents' doors today, collecting signatures on a petition aimed at blocking the proposed transfer of carriers to the Corte Madera Post Office.

The signatures will be presented to the Larkspur City Council when it meets next Wednesday, according to Peter Hagen, spokesman for the group.

The organization wants the council to go on record against the shift, in hopes that will persuade the U.S. Postal Service to drop the plan.

Under the plan, all Larkspur letter carriers would work out of the larger, more modern Corte Madera Post Office. Other services would remain in Larkspur, such as boxes, money orders, stamps, mail collection, special delivery pickups, insurance and large package handling.

At its last meeting Nov. 6, the council split 2-2 on whether to oppose the change. Mayor Joan L. Sestak and Councilman Alfred J. Malvino were willing to allow the move. Councilman William G. Fleckles was absent.

A petition circulated in local shops and signed by 98 residents was presented to the council then, but Mayor Sestak felt the wording was unspecific and unclear, Hagen said.

The new, more concise petition says the signer "oppose(s) any action on the part of the U.S. Postal Service to relocate Larkspur letter carriers to the Corte Madera office. It is my sincere feeling that Larkspur is in need of a new and larger post office, as we are a growing community."

Hagen's organization, which he says has 20 active members, including 10 of the 13 postal employees, has retained a lawyer, Robert Jaffe of Larkspur.

It plans an informational picket line of off-duty postal employees and their friends beginning at 2 p.m. Monday.

The group argues that the move will result in a deterioration of mail service in Larkspur — delaying some routine functions and wiping out a myriad of small, unrequired services postal employees now perform for residents.

They also feel it will pave the way for complete elimination of the Larkspur post office when its lease expires two years from now.

Marin Postmaster High Cassidy says the move will create more efficient mail delivery, noting facilities in Larkspur are cramped.

Thorough Search For Fatal Slugs

NORTH BRANFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Efforts to recover bullets fired during a fatal liquor store holdup have included the x-raying of two chickens.

The chickens were in the store Oct. 16 when the owner, Alexander Bruzy, was shot to death by a holdupman.

A search of the store failed to recover the bullets but police noticed the chickens near the body, and theorized they may have swallowed them. A veterinarian made the X-rays which showed nothing. The chickens have since died.

Inmate Is Found Slain At Prison

A 25-year-old minimum security inmate at San Quentin was murdered and his body found buried yesterday in a compost pile outside the prison walls in the minimum security srea.

The victim, Richard Trujillo, had been reported as an escapee at 10 p.m. Wednesday, but his body was discovered with his shoes protruding from the compost pile yesterday morning, said William D. Nyberg, information officer.

The prison has two suspects in custody, he said. The murder weapon has been identified as a shovel.

The Marin County coroner reported that Trujillo had lacerations to the right ear, head and neck. The murder took place 60 feet from where the body was found, as evidenced by the victim's key and wallet.

Trujillo had been sentenced to San Quentin from Alameda County for two counts of first-degree burglary. He had been paroled but returned to prison for 90 days for "dryout" for narcotics use, Nyberg said.

He is survived by his wife, Jeanetta R. Trujillo and his mother, Marcelina Trujillo, both of Hayward.

School Incumbents File Papers Quickly

Filings opened yesterday for 44 seats on Marin school boards and the two incumbents up for reelection next March 4 in the Larkspur School District returned their papers along with a newcomer for the Fairfax board.

Returning papers were the Larkspur incumbents, Shirley A. Walker, 40, of 476 Montecito Drive, Corte Madera, a one-term member, and Charles E. Newman, 53, of 1495 Casa Buena Drive, also of Corte Madera, who won a special election in April 1973 to fill the unexpired term of Curtis P. Kamai.

Also returning papers was Karl Scheppelmann, 38, of 32 Oak Tree Lane, Fairfax, for that city's school board where two seats will be up for grabs. He listed his occupation as a meat cutter.

Also eight others took out papers, the county elections office reported. Deadline for filing is Jan. 3. The Independent-Journal erred in reporting Wednesday that the deadline was Jan. 5.

Value Of Kisses Put At $6,400

The judge awarded the money in damages yesterday to a pretty 23-year-old housewife who lost the ability to kiss when she was injured in a automobile accident seven weeks after she was married.

The judge said her injury is "no trivial matter" for a young wife and mother but he reduced the compensation by $760 because she had not been wearing a seat belt in the car.

All Sales Strictly Cash But Gold Sales Booming

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — The store Larry Thoman runs in this city across the river from Detroit sells something no other American store can offer and business is booming.

He operates the Stirling Gold and Silver Trading Corp. and sells gold bullion over the counter.

"Let's see," he says, "today a 20-ounce bar of gold will run $3,967. A one-ounce wafer, our best-seller, will run you $211.75."

On the London gold market Wednesday, gold hit a new record of $185.25 an ounce.

One stockbroker in Detroit yesterday said Americans are able to buy gold coins or stock in gold mining firms but bullion cannot be legally purchased domestically until Jan. 2.

The firm Thoman works for, owned by George Stirling, bought large quantities of gold bullion in 1970 and 1971 when prices were a fraction of what they are today.

In January 1972, gold was selling at $47 an ounce, a year later at $65 and by last January it had gone up to $128 an ounce.

Dealers like Thoman says the phenomenonal rise is due to record inflation rates and general gloom in the global economy.

One reason offered for rushing to the Windsor firm was given by a gold buyer who reflected consumer fears of inflation by saying: "I want to leave something to my children that will still be of value."

"I was going to leave them cash, but who knows what that will be worth."

Another customer said, "It sure beats the hell out of trying to make money on the stock exchange."

Others said they thought the bullion would make a nice Christmas present.

As for the future, Thoman says the price of gold bullion will never go down, but adds, "although since gold is just a commodity it's going to disappear one day."

Golden Hinde II Reaches Barbados

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Golden Hinde II, sailing in the path used by Sir Francis Drake nearly 400 years ago, has reached the Barbados Islands.

The masted ship's captain, Adrian Small, radioed San Francisco yesterday to report his arrival two days earlier than anticipated.

FORD VISIT PROTESTED

A cartoon on a large placard shows U.S. President Gerald Ford being asked to stop with a slogan saying "We oppose Ford's visit" at a demonstration yesterday in Tokyo. Some 4,000 students and workers took part in the demonstration and also demanded the overthrow of Japanese prime minister Kakuei Tanaka. Ford is scheduled to visit Japan beginning Monday.

Inn At Muir Beach Refused

Coastal commissioners, in a rare rejection of a staff recommendation, last night denied a permit to build an inn at Muir Beach.

Opponents and several commissioners argued the project threatened to pollute Redwood Creek, would consume too much of the community's limited water, impinge on the natural beauty of the area and attract too many visitors.

Charles R. Felix, who has been planning the project for several years, said he will appeal the denial by the North Central Coast Regional Commission to its parent statewide body.

Commissioners balloted 7-6 to approve the permit, one short of the two-thirds majority needed. Chairman Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon was absent. Three of the other four Marinites on the commission voted against the permit: Fairfax Mayor Frank J. Egger, Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini and Phyllis Faber of Mill Valley. Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield was the only Marin member to vote for it.

About 50 persons from Muir Beach attended the hearing at the Marin Civic Center. Most of them opposed Felix's plan for a Tudor-style two-story restaurant, bar, five-room overnight inn and parking lot for 20 cars. His property is at Shoreline Highway and Pacific Way.

The commission's staff unsuccessfully argued for approval of the permit, saying it was needed, small enough that it would not increase traffic, had a septic tank system approved by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, and would use only as much water as four households.

Opposing the project were Bolinas Future Studies, Muir Beach Improvement Association, Stinson Beach Projects, and several citizens. The improvement association presented a petition signed by 79 persons protesting the project.

Supporting it were the Muir Beach Property Owners Association, several citizens and letters from 11 persons. The association said the inn was needed for visitors, and would provide a place for residents of the area to go "for a congenial meeting and dining facility."

Commissioners, continuing their session into the early hours today, also heard without action an application by rancher Waldo Giacomini for an annual gravel dam on Lagunitas Creek downstream from Shoreline Highway. The hearing and voting were continued to Nov. 27 because inadequate notice had been given to residents of the area.

The Nov. 27 meeting starts at 1 p.m. in the Sonoma County Planning Commission chambers, 2555 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa.

Robber's Gun Fails To Shoot

INGLEWOOD (UPI) — Dean Maxwell, 40, was holding up a liquor store when the owner's wife screamed and Maxwell tried to shoot her, police said yesterday.

He pulled the trigger, but his pistol did not fire.

He tried twice more, but the gun still did not fire, giving the store owner time to bash Maxwell on the head with a liquor bottle and disarm him.

Maxwell, arrested on robbery charges, complained of a headache and died shortly afterwards of a heart attack.

Handicapped Suing Bridge, Bus Districts For Over $1 Million

A group of handicapped Marinites are about to sue the Marin County Transit and Golden Gate Bridge districts for more than $1 million because they cannot board buses operated by the two districts.

The class action suit to be filed Monday, also asks Marin Superior Court to order the districts either to modify the present fleet of 250 buses so persons confined to wheelchairs can board them, or to provide special buses.

Sterling L. Ross of Mill Valley, attorney for the San Rafael chapter of Indoor Sports, said the suit asks $1 million in general damages to be divided among the 28 members of the organization, plus an unspecified amount for special damages to cover actual expenses for other transportation for an estimated 568 handicapped persons in Marin who cannot use the buses.

The organization previously asked the bridge district to pay each of the 568 persons $1,000 a year to hire private transportation, but district officials took no action on the request.

Ross said he had no estimate of the cost of modifying the present bus fleet to accommodate the handicapped. He stressed the primary aim of the suit was to give handicapped persons the same access to transit as the general public.

Bridge District directors yesterday took another look at an old problem — the widening of the San Francisco approach to the span — and dropped it for at least four months.

The project, stymied for years by opposition from San Francisco citizen groups, is aimed at eliminating the head-on accidents that have plagued the narrow roadway.

Meeting as a committee of the whole, directors unanimously accepted pleas from spokesmen for citizen groups that nothing be done until after completion of a long-range transit plan by the bridge district. The plan, already more than a year behind schedule, now is due in March.

Amtrak Bumps Fare Schedules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Starting today, traveling by rail will be 10 per cent more expensive on most Amtrak trains. Family groups will pay an even heftier increase.

Amtrak's new fare schedule increases fares 10 per cent for individual passengers on all but a handful of routes.

Family fare discounts for accompanying family members will cost an additional 12 per cent, with an accompanying spouse's fare increased from two-thirds to three-fourths of regular fare.

Fares on several routes remain the same — Chicago Detroit, Chicago-St. Louis, Chicago-Port Huron, New York-Montreal via Albany, and local fares between Chicago and Denver.

Israeli Aide Accuses U.N. Of Muzzling

Arab Proposal To Limit Debate Wins Approval

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah has accused the General Assembly of trying to muzzle him during the U.N. debate on Palestine.

The assembly voted 75-23 with 18 abstentions yesterday to back its Arab president, Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria, in limiting each nation to just one major address during the debate.

Tekoah said Bouteflika's proposal was the latest evidence of his anti-Israeli "bias." He said the Algerian diplomat gave Palestine guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat honors usually reserved for a head of state.

"There is only one Israel, but there are 20 Arab states," Tekoah declared. He said the vote was an attempt to "muzzle Israel's freedom to speak." Tekoah had signed up to speak each day in an effort to counter the Arab speeches.

Diplomats already worried by the inflexibility displayed by Tekoah and Arafat in their addresses Wednesday said the speech limitation had never before been imposed in the 29-year history of the United Nations.

The diplomats had hoped the invitation to Arafat would lead to a dialogue defusing the explosive Middle East situation, which has sparked four wars in a quarter-century.

Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization guerrillas denounced by Israel as "terrorists and murderers," flew to Cuba yesterday after urging the assembly to help create a Palestinian nation.

In Israel, Foreign Minister Yigal Allon summoned the ambassadors of 50 nations to urge opposition to any Arabbacked resolution introduced at the U.N. debate.

Allon said the resolution undoubtedly would give "further encouragement to the extreme elements in the Arab world that are pushing the region into renewed warfare." He labeled Arafat's speech "empty rhetoric and verbal posturing."

Arab sheikhs, kings and presidents meeting in Rabat, Morocco, earlier this month appointed Franjieh to speak on behalf of them. They also gave the PLO sole authority to establish a Palestinian nation.

Franjieh, a Christian and the only Arab head of state scheduled to speak, said recognition of the Palestinian people would be "the realistic approach to the heart of the problem."

The assembly vote gave Israel the chance to deliver only "right-of-reply" remarks, which are generally limited to 10 minutes and scheduled late in the day when the chamber is largely deserted.

Tekoah read to newsmen the text of the speech he had prepared but was unable to deliver yesterday.

He said Lebanon must assume responsibility for expeditions launched from within its borders by Arab guerrillas "sent to Israel and other countries to massacre, to terrorize, to hijack and to sabotage."

U.S. Ambassador John Scali said the vote indicated a "deep and disturbing trend."

President Ford, at a news conference in Phoenix, Ariz., last night, said he had not suggested that the Israelis negotiate with the PLO but "with the Egyptians and other Arab parties."

"The Israelis have said they will never negotiate with the PLO," Ford said. He added that the United States is "not a party to any negotiations."

Equal Educational Funding Is Backed By State Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state board of education yesterday backed the concept of a statewide property tax to equalize educational financing in California schools as mandated by the landmark Serrano-Priest court decision.

The plan, presented to the board by a special committee on school finance, envisions pouring $7.3 billion into public schools by 1980 with the help of $1.4 billion in additional taxes.

Board members voted unanimously to send the proposal to their legislative committee and have it prepared in bill form. It would then be returned to the board to decide whether it will be sent to the legislature.

"I think it will be extremely controversial," said board member Mark Gates Jr. as he questioned portions of the proposal.

Since the start of the landmark court ruling, the committee has sought to develop a plan which would equalize per student expenditures among rich and poor school districts.

The court ruling, which faces appeal, said the state's current school financing plan is illegal because the amount of money spent on a child's education depends on the assessed valuation of the real property in the community where the child lives.

In a detailed study, the committee determined that a quality education in 1975-76 would cost $1,231 per pupil on the elementary level and $1,409 per high school student.

Each child in elementary school presently averages about $900 for education, while secondary students each receive $1,100.

Fears were expressed following the meeting that the plan would force districts now spending higher than the state average to cut their educational programs. The proposal does provide for school districts to go above the "equality" financing level, but the money returned on each dollar taxed would be the same in rich and poor districts.

Board President Newton L. Steward, Eureka, expressed fears about sending a proposal to the legislature calling for a billion dollars in tax money without allowing the people to vote on it.

But board members agreed that a proposal to meet the guidelines of court decision should go to the legislature as soon as possible.

Ed Harper of the state department of education said once the bill gets before the legislature "it will be compromised and chewed up."

Freedom Of Information Veto Defended By Ford

PHOENIX, Ariz (UPI) — President Ford has defended his veto of a bill strengthening the Freedom of Information Act and asked Congress to take a "hard second look" at the legislation before trying to override it.

Ford told a news conference held by the professional journalism society (Sigma Delta Chi) yesterday that he strongly disagreed with the position of SDX President Ralph Otwell who suggested SDX chapters urge their local congressmen to override the veto.

Ford said he did not think the bill "as it stands or amended, played or could have played any part in uncovering the Watergate cover-up."

"I do support the Freedom of Information Act and most of the reforms contained in the current amendments," Ford said. "There are three amendments, however, that bother me, both on principle and in practice, and these were the basis for my vote."

Ford said he opposed sections of the bill that would allow any federal judge to examine classified documents, a provision giving the government 30 days to respond for a request for a specific document, and because the bill would open raw FBI files to the public.

"I have proposed more flexible and realistic ground rules that would preserve what I consider to be the essential confidentiality of investigatory files of law enforcement agencies," Ford said.

"I hope that professional journalists will take another look at this section of the Freedom of Information bill and see if you don't agree that this Pandora's box should remain shut."

COOL FOR KISSINGER

Snow and near freezing temperatures greeted demonstrators as they expressed various opinions on the appearance of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger yesterday at a fund-raiser for the University of Chicago. In a dinner address, Kissinger announced a program to protect industrialized nations against the economic and political perils of big oil price increases and to force oil prices down.

Initiatives Pushed For '76 Ballot

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three more proposed initiatives are being circulated in California for voter signatures in an attempt to qualify for the June 1976 primary election ballot, Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said yesterday.

One would set limits on nuclear power plant construction and operations based on safety devices and waste disposal methods. Its proponents have until April 7, 1975 to collect signatures equal to 5 per cent of the vote cast for governor in the Nov. 5 election.

A second ballot proposal would allow off-track parimutuel horserace wagering in the state and casino gambling in the City of Adelanto in San Bernardino County. Proponent Robert Wilson of North Hollywood faces a deadline of next March 27 to obtain the required 520,806 signatures.

The third proposal would restrict property taxes to not more than 2 per cent of the fair market value and eliminate personal property from taxation. Proponent Steve Wilson of Soquel has until next Feb. 7 to collect 520,808 signatures to qualify it for the ballot.

State Students Do Poorly In Writing, Language Test

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Statewide test results revealed today that senior high and sixth grade students are performing below the national average in writing and language skills.

But the tests, which involved 1.5 million students, showed that children in California's second and third grades scored above the national average in reading.

The results were to be presented to the state Board of Education.

Yesterday, the board approved in concept a plan to equalize educational finance in the state's public schools. The plan is designed to bring California's school districts in compliance with the Serrano-Priest court decision.

The average reading test score for the third grade was two percentile points higher than the national average. Second graders performed three percentile points above the national norm. The tests were taken during the last school year.

"There is evidence that the downward trend in the sixth grade has been halted," said Alexander I. Law, chief of the Department of Education's Office of Program Evaluation and Research.

High school seniors scored 16 percentile points below the national average in writing and language skills. Sixth graders were 13 percentile points below the national norm in the same areas.

Reading scores for the seniors were down three percentile points and mathematic scores were two points below the national average. They were also three points below the national average in spelling.

"The emphasis on improving the instructional program in the lower grades in the past four or five years is paying off," said Law. "Similar emphasis will be placed on the higher grades during the next two to four years as a result of the efforts of the Reform of Intermediate and Secondary Education.

Yesterday, the board backed the concept of a statewide property tax to equalize educational financing in California's public schools as mandated by the landmark Serrano-Priest court decision.

The plan, presented to the board by a special committee on school finance, envisions pouring $7.3 billion into public schools by 1980 with the help of $1.4 billion in additional taxes.

Board members voted unanimously to send the proposal to their legislative committee and have it prepared in bill form. It will then be returned to the board and if approved forwarded to the legislature.

The court ruling, which faces possible appeal, said the state's current school financing plan was illegal because the amount of money spent on a child's education depends on the assessed valuation of the real property in the community where the child lives.

Many richer districts in California spend more per student for education than poorer ones.

Ford Jokes About Rather

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — President Ford made a joking reference yesterday to CBS newscaster Dan Rather.

There had been tension between the White House and Rather, then the network's White House correspondent, during the Nixon administration.

Talking to a journalistic society, Sigma Delta Chi, Ford noted with a smile that Rather was speaking later on the program.

"I may be the first President in history to come all the way to Phoenix just to hold a press conference — and when I get here I find out that Dan Rather is going to get the last word anyhow," Ford said.

FTC Orders Xerox To Share Copying Patents, Know-How

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission today ordered Xerox Corp. to share its patents and know-how with other companies in a move to increase competition in the multibillion dollar office copying machine business.

The ruling could lead to lower consumer prices, an FTC spokesman said.

"Simply put, Xerox's competitors will be able to make a copier comparable to a Xerox copier," James T. Halverson, head of the FTC's Bureau of Competiton told a news conference.

He said about 20 firms are on the edge of the market which Xerox has dominated for the past decade. The consent order which Xerox agreed to should "dissipate" the firm's monopoly power and "lead to increased competition," Halverson said.

Asked what the agreement would mean in terms of consumer prices, Halverson said he had no dollar estimate.

But he said office copying is an "element of cost in all of American business and government" and "to the extent we can inject competition into the market ... you are going to see a lowering of cost to the entity involved, and that should be a lower cost to the consumer."

Under the settlement, originally announced last month by Xerox but formally accepted by the FTC today, the company will license the more than 1,700 patents it possesses and make available know how about office copiers to potential competitors. The order also applies to the company's two subsidiaries, Rank Xerox of Britain and Fuji Xerox of Japan.

Among other provisions, the company is forbidden for the next 10 years from stopping its employees from going to work for a competing firm and it also is forbidden to acquire new patents, with a few exceptions, during the same time period.

Halverson said Xerox's 1973 revenues were $2.9 billion, with an after tax profit of $300 million. He said office copiers accounted for about 90 per cent of the total revenue.

He said Xerox's return on sales is about 10 per cent, over twice the return in most industries.

Evaders Given Longer Furlough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Draft evaders who were released from prison on 30-day furloughs have been granted a further extension to allow more time for processing their applications for alternate service under President Ford's amnesty program.

Eighty-seven imprisoned draft evaders were released on furlough Sept. 18 and were granted another 30 days on Oct. 17.

INTRODUCING: A NEW WINE AND AN old FRENCH CUSTOM.

Nouveau

On November 16th your favorite gourmet or French restaurant may be serving the Gamay Beaujolais Nouveau 1974 from our vineyards.

We were inspired by a French custom, but this wine is made in California by one of America's oldest winemaking families.

Call your favorite restaurant and ask if they'll be serving our Nouveau wine. If not, in another week try your local wine merchant. This unique wine may not be easy to find, but it's well worth looking for.

Curtailment Of Medical School Programs Considered By UC

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The University of California may have to close one or two of its five medical schools for lack of money, two university regents have warned.

The medical schools and their associated hospitals have $32 million in unpaid bills and the UC system cannot go on supporting them without more state aid, said Regent William K. Coblentz at a meeting of the regents yesterday.

This was despite a record $7.2 million in gifts received by the university in 1974, up 11.4 per cent from gifts the previous year, the audit committee reported.

Gov. Ronald Reagan was scheduled to attend the regents' meeting today.

Coblentz said operating costs are "horrendous" at medical schools and hospitals at the Davis, Irvine, UCLA, San Diego, and San Francisco campuses, which in addition to providing teaching facilities offer public health care.

Robert O. Reynolds, chairman of a special hospital operations committee, said that if the financial problems are not faced now, "we'll have no alternative to cutting our services or doing away with a medical school."

Coblentz said that "maybe we'll have to bite the bullet and do away with one or maybe two of the medical schools and concentrate our efforts on the rest."

The audit also predicted that further financial problems would develop if the UC system assumed responsibility for the Orange County Medical Center, which it agreed to buy last month.

Although UC president Charles J. Hitch said he agreed that there was a need for "many millions of dollars in working capital," he said he did not think the university would abandon any of its medical schools.

Coblentz suggested that two separate budgets be presented to the Legislature —one for the medical schools and hospitals and another for the rest of the university.

The Volvo 244

THE EVOLUTIONARY NEW VOLVO FOR 1975.

Between smaller big cars, bigger small cars and smaller small cars, car makers have introduced a lot of "revolutionary" new cars this year.

But before you rush out to finance a revolution, consider the 1975 Volvo 240.

Consider the Volvo windshield wiper. On most cars, wiper blades are shiny. And the shine can end up in your eyes. To avoid this glaring fault, Volvo paints them matte black.

All cars have head rests. Volvo's head rests have openings so you can see behind you better.

So you can see beside you better. Volvo has another thought. Side window defoggers.

Not even the gas cap has gone unnoticed. It's red, so it's hard to lose. So it's less likely to be misplaced, we provide a place to put it: a holder behind the door.

When you add all these thoughtful little touches to Volvo's thoughtful big touches — fuel injection, rack and pinion steering, 4-wheel power disc brakes, spring-strut front suspension, 12 outlet heating and ventilation, infinitely adjustable bucket seats with lumbar supports, child-proof rear door locks, steel belted radials, rear window defroster — you have a car which some people might consider revolutionary.

But to us it's simply a Volvo. A car which has evolved through years of careful improvement into what it is today.

And the people who buy Volvos are thoughtful, indeed.

87% of them have been to college. The other 13% are just plain smart.

VOLVO

Record List Turns Into A Career

By LOUIS SNYDER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BOSTON — The Rosetta Stone, the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Gutenburg Bible — unique ancient answers to compelling needs for information. Stone, Scrolls, Bible — meet the Schwann Long Playing Record Catalog, which came into being, also by necessity, in October, 1949.

So far, the first copy of "the Schwann," 26 typewritten pages, "listing all 33⅓ r.p.m. microgroove records" hasn't achieved history-book or museum-space recognition comparable to its illustrious, informative predecessors. However, give it time — historical perspective has a way of coming into focus slowly.

For what this modestly conceived publication has been doing over the past 25 years is to record, almost item for item, one of the greatest tonal explosions the world has ever known.

From a photo-offset listing of 674 recorded selections by 98 composers on 11 different labels — the grand total in 1949 — the catalog, now set by computer and rechristened Schwann-1 Record & Tape Guide, offer the internationally avid ear, each month, a choice of "about 45,000 stereo LP records (and) 8-track cartridge tapes and cassette tapes, on about 814 record and 272 tape labels.

William (only W. has ever appeared in the catalog) Schwann heads the staff of eight that assembles, collates, and fine-tooth-combs the mountains of record information available monthly.

Schwann opened a small record store, while attending college and after service in World War II, Schwann returned to it and to study and perform as an organist.

Among his younger customers were those who wanted "the latest," and Schwann was hard put to discover what might be expected on his shelves. So he sat down at his typewriter with LP listings from the major recording companies (11 in 1949), collated them by composer, and thus was prepared for the most aggressive buyer.

The Schwann catalog boomed and by 1953, Schwann found the catalog was preempting his time, so he gave up the record shop. His unpremeditated session with the typewriter in 1949, the result of sheer necessity, had turned into a lifetime career.

Contrary to general assumption, the Schwann publications are not subsidized by the recording companies whose latest releases are so meticulously listed therein. Dealers throughout the world who acquire it on a regular basis to sell or give away to their customers, remain Schwann's only outlet. The catalog is not sold by individual subscription.

DOUGH DOLLS — Martha Smythe of San Rafael (left) uses a craft knife to cut a pattern out of baker's clay. Using the same dough, Jerri Lynn Vanscoy of San Anselmo, shapes the clay with her hands. Both are members of Boyd Marin Museum of Science Guilds making baker's clay dolls to sell at the 10th annual Marin Festival of Trees. Using the same dough the different processes create a different feeling in the finished product. (Photos by Bob Hax)

Dough Dolls Are Destined To Grace Christmas Trees

By JOAN LISETOR

Using the same dough, members of two different guilds of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science have discovered they can achieve an entirely different look in doll ornaments.

The Terra Linda Guild is using patterns and molds, and the Sleepy Hollow Guild members use a free-form method. The patterns and molds create a precise, detailed look, according to Martha Smythe of San Rafael, coordinator of the project for her guild. Jerri Lynn Vanscoy of San Anselmo heads the project for the Sleepy Hollow Guild, which is turning out dolls with a folksy look.

EACH GUILD has been working since last February to finish 200 ornaments for sale at the 10th annual Marin Festival of Trees. The festival, a benefit for the museum, will be held Dec. 6 and 7 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

The dough, also called baker's clay, is made from a combination of flour, salt and water.

When she is working from a pattern Mrs. Smythe rolls out a hunk of the dough until it is flat. She places the pattern on top of the dough and using a craft knife cuts through the dough. Pieces are added, using water to make them adhere, to complete the design.

Mrs. Vanscoy shapes the dough in the palm of her hand to create various parts of the doll bodies. She has also found water effective in putting pieces together.

BOTH AGREE that charm of the dolls is in the painting. Acrylic paints are used for their bright glossy look.

Neither woman had worked with baker's clay before joining the guilds. Mrs. Vanscoy said when she joined last year and was told what the guild's project for the festival was, she asked, "What are doug' dolls?"

In the brief time experience has taught the women a lot about working with the dough.

HAIR CAN be made by pressing the dough through a garlic press.

Pie crimpers can be used to make ruffles, and toothpicks are handy to carve out features and buttonholes.

Paper clips cut in half can be inserted in the top of the dolls so they can be used as ornaments on the Christmas tree.

It is important to store them in a dry place, if they are put away, but how could anything so cute be stored away between Christmases?

BAKER'S CLAY

4 cups flour
1 cup salt
1¼ cups water

Add flour and salt alternately to blend. Sift together 15 times. Add water cautiously because the amount needed sometimes varies. Knead until the dough feels like satin, approximately 15 minutes.

Thick ornaments should be baked 35 to 45 minutes in a 325 degree oven. Flat ones take on to two hours at 220 degrees. Tap back of ornament to see if ready.

Cats Of All Kinds Being Curried For Big Show Coming On Weekend

By KAREN PETERSON

Ailurophobes beware. Your most frightful dreams will come true this weekend as more than 200 felines descend upon the Marin County Veteran's Memorial Building to vie for ribbons and rosettes at the annual Cat Show.

Don't expect feats of derring-do at the two-day event. Cat shows, like their participants, are things of subdued grace and beauty — just ask any cat lover.

Saturday is reserved for the short hairs, from Abyssinians to the "Heinz 57" domestics. Sunday will belong to the long hairs: the Persians, Himalayans and Burmese, to mention just a few.

Behind all the pomp and fur of the event stand the 20 members of the Marin Cat Fanciers, the sponsoring organization. And pulling it all together is Shirley Colabella, vice president of the club and show entry clerk.

"You start handling them at two and three days old," said Mrs. Colabella. "When they're old enough, they'll let you do just about anything to them."

"Cats are docile animals anyway," she added.

It will take Mrs. Colabella three to four hours to groom each of her three brown tabby Persians for the show. Claws are clipped, ears are swabbed and hair is combed after the bath.

Contrary to popular belief cats do like water, at least Mrs. Colabella's five-month-old "Shir-jo's Little Lulu" approves. And, like their human counterparts at the beauty salon, the cats get a blow dry to fluff up the shining coat.

HOW DO I LOOK? — Five-month-old "Shir-jo's Little Lulu" will be competing against other kittens this weekend at the annual cat show. Since she's a Persian, Lulu will debut on Sunday. Her shorthaired peers will be featured tomorrow. (Saturday)

Early Saturday morning all the entrants (100 short hairs; 135 long hairs) will "vet in," a protection against disease and fleas. Cages are supplied by the cat club and must be draped side, back and bottom. This, said Mrs. Colabella, prevents any disruptions between "neighbors."

The cats are called up to the judging platform by number and evaluated by standards set down by the Cat Fanciers Association. These include (depending on breed) color, markings, condition of the cat (appearance and health), grooming and overall proportions.

The four judges will award a best and second place in four categories: novice, open, champion and grand champion, after which the judges will choose the top five cats in show.

See CATS, page 20

ON THE AGENDA

Doctor And Wife Will Relate Their Experiences In Nigeria

The Evening Group of the United Presbyterian Woman's Association will meet at 8 p.m. Monday to hear a talk by Dr. and Mrs. John Siemens of Kentfield on their volunteer work at a Nigerian hospital.

Music for the meeting will be provided by Susan, Gayle and Marjorie Chan, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Chan of San Anselmo.

The meeting will be held in the Fireside Room of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo, according to program chairman Orbie Griffith.

THE SAN FRANCISCO-Marin Alumnae Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, international music sorority, will meet Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Lang of Tiburon.

The 2 p.m. program will feature selections by Jeanne Kostelic, coloraturo soprano; vocal duets by Helen Blakeslee and Glenna Colistra, and instrumental ensembles by the Lang family.

Assisting hostesses for the day will be Janet Bingaman, Betty Musser and Dorothy Clazie.

BETHEL 48, SAN Rafael IOJD will have a PHO meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, San Rafael. Stephanie Foust and Kalen Dolandson are in charge of the evening's activities.

THE MARIN COUNTRY Club Homeowners Association has scheduled a Swinger Dinner-Dance at the country club in Novato tomorrow. A cocktail party at 7 p.m. will precede a steak dinner at 8 p.m., followed by dancing at 9 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferrero are cochairmen of the event, assisted by Jean Ahr and Alice Drucker.

A Look At Singles And Money Matters

Money matters and the single person will be the subject of a one night discussion sponsored by the Marin Jewish Community Center Nov. 25 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Broker Gordon Creswell will speak on inflation, taxes, insurance and investments.

Greek and Israeli folk dancing will also be sponsored by the community center for both beginners and intermediates. Children eight and over are welcome to the two-hour lesson Nov. 26 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Widows Are Aided By Unique Service

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — This column deals with a subject no family wishes to face, but one that is ever present. Individuals and society must learn to cope with it.

The subject is widowhood.

It's generally agreed that on the average the woman outlives the man by 18 years. Three out of four women face widowhood. Upward of 11 million women in our population already are widowed.

Yet who's to help these women through what Diana Cooper Horowitz calls the loneliest, most isolated phase of living. Mrs. Horowitz is executive director of the Widows' Consultation Center, a New York-based organization which she believes is unique in the nation.

This week, the center was honored at the New York Welfare Conference for its "most unique and innovative service."

Mrs. Horowitz said in an interview that WCC works to help the widow through the severest of all emotional traumas, changed family relationships, the practical problems of finance, legal and vocational advice, and readjustment to a society that long has looked on her as a wife and now sees her as an older single.

"We want society to accept her as a whole person, not just a leftover half," said Mrs. Horowitz. "We want to help her realize her own worth, capacity, ability to be a useful member of society, to motivate her to make a new life."

Consultation is on an individual or group therapy basis — with the groups limited to nine or less. "You are talking with your peers," she said. "You are not alone. Women come from all social and economic strata."

Fee is scaled to ability to pay; no consultation costs more than $15.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Family Home Shouldn't Become Bachelor Pad For Swinging Son

DEAR HELEN:

Our son, 21, is living at home while he finishes college. He's a good son on the whole, but has one major fault: he considers his bedroom (which opens to the outside) his "apartment" and invites girls there often. Since his room is next to ours, we know they aren't "burning the midnight oil" on books.

We have tried to remain broadminded, but the other night I discovered another couple was using his bedroom. I learned this by accident when I saw them leave, and later heard our son drive up.

We've implied distaste but he says, "What's the harm if girls and guys get together to study?" He pretends we're so naive we don't know the score.

If he had one steady girl we might understand, but we don't even know the people who share his bedroom.

How do you establish rules without seeming prudish? — PARENTS UNLIBERATED

DEAR PARENTS:

Since it's your home, you have the right to establish reasonable rules, and certainly one should be: "This bedroom is not a sleazy motel — don't use as such!"

Tell your son when studying becomes "studding," research must be conducted elsewhere . . . or he moves elsewhere. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

For some time now our family and I have felt very selfish celebrating Christmas as lavishly as is the custom in the U.S. while people in other parts of the world are starving.

This year we are trying to change things, and have sent our a form letter to all members of our large family, explaining that instead of personal gifts this year we are giving a like sum of money to a carefully selected orphanage, or to the starving people of Asia or Africa. We hope our family members will do likewise, for so often Christmas joy is lost in the mad rush of shopping for presents no one really needs.

Beyond reasonable gifts to the children (after all Christmas IS for kids), our money will go this year to where it will really help.

We ended our letter: "We in no way wish to coerce you into joining our plans. This letter is simply to inform you before you begin your Christmas shopping . . . However, if you are interested in this plan, we would be most happy to have your suggestions as to any group which would be most in need of our combined financial aid. If you are not interested, please do leave us off your gift list, but keep us in your hearts and prayers."

Thought you might like to share our idea with your readers. — MRS. P.P.

DEAR MRS. P.:

Certainly will! It's a great idea and I hope many other families adopt it. — H.

PERSONAL to "Overpraised and Worried About It": Keep in mind what Dr. Otis Singletary, president of the University of Kentucky, said in response to a flowery introduction: "Just so I won't take flattery like that too seriously. I'll have to remember the words of a hard-bitten old Texas cowhand who once said that a little perfume won't hurt you if you don't drink too much of it." — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

MR. AND MRS. GREGORY SILVEIRA
Wed at St. Raphael's Church
(Photo by Julius Chernak)

Miss Hasler Married At Saint Raphael's

Sherry Anne Hasler of San Rafael and Gregory Silveira of South San Francisco were wed Nov. 9 at Saint Raphael's Church in San Rafael. A reception followed the wedding at Harbin Restaurant in San Francisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Hasler of San Rafael. Sue Joy of San Rafael was her matron of honor and Heidi Freed of San Rafael and Louise Meyerfeld of Daly City were her maids of honor.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Vanderlip of Los Angeles; the bridegroom's sister, Lorna Silveira of Santa Cruz; Linda Hasler of San Rafael; Marilyn Nettro of Sonoma, and Mary Lou Stratton of Healdsburg.

Al Tuschen of South San Francisco was best man at the afternoon wedding and ushering guests to their seats were the bride's brother, Gordon Russell Hasler of San Rafael; Mike Sharigian of Salinas; the bridegroom's brother, Doug Silveira of Santa Cruz; Robert Joy of San Rafael; Robert Miret of Los Angeles; Victor Mello of Oakley, and the bride's brother, George Hasler Jr. of San Rafael.

The newlyweds plan to make their home in South San Francisco after returning from a trip to San Diego.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo. She is currently a student at California State University, San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hasler of San Rafael.

Silveira is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Silveira of Bakersfield and the brother of Kendaell Silveira. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stefik and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Silveira, both of Antioch.

He was graduated from Soquel High School in Bakersfield and now attends California State University, San Francisco. He is employed with Schmidt Builders in Pacifica.

SEW SIMPLE

Split Pattern To Get More Flare

By EUNICE FARMER
Distributed by Register and Tribune Syndicate

DEAR EUNICE,

I have a very favorite skirt pattern that I can make without trying on and it fits perfectly. This fall however, I think my pattern is cut too straight. The ones I see in the stores have more of a flare at the hem. Is there any way I can use my pattern and change it for the newer look? I'm afraid to begin with a new pattern. — HELEN M.

DEAR HELEN M.,

If you simply want to add a few extra inches of fullness to the skirt, you can do so without purchasing a new pattern. Make two slashes in your pattern, from the hem to about two inches from the waistline. This should divide your skirt pattern, both front and back, into three equal parts.

It would probably be better to make a new paper pattern before placing it on your fabric. Keep the center front and back on the straight grainline. Next, spread the two slashed lines open so that they are spread about one inch at the hem which narrows to nothing at the waistline. You may also add an additional inch at the side seams by beginning at the hemline and tapering to nothing at the hipline.

By adding the extra width at the three places, both front and back, you have actually added 12 inches to the hemline width. Perhaps you don't want to add this much, then you can eliminate the extra width at the side seams, which would mean you have added eight inches to the width. If you wish still less fullness, separate the pattern only one-half inch instead of an inch. Can you see how simple this is? The best part is that you will still retain a smooth line at the hips, and the extra fullness will begin gradually below the hips.

DEAR EUNICE,

I recently bought plaid polyester material to make a blazer. When I was placing the pattern on the plaid, I noticed that the plaid matched perfectly across the width of the material, but not lengthwise. Do I have to cut this on a single thickness or how can I be sure the plaids are even? — MRS. MARTHA C.

DEAR MRS. MARTHA C.,

There are two ways of doing this so the plaids will be even. Place the fabric on the carpet where it can't slip. Pin evenly, the length of the fabric at the fold line, making certain you are pinning exactly on the center of a plaid pattern.

Next, fold the top layer of the fabric back, away from the under layer. Then bring about four inches of it back onto the under layer. You can instantly see if the plaid is even; shift it slightly if necessary. Next, proceed by bringing down another four or five inches and rechecking the plaid lines, again shifting as necessary. Continue until you have come to the selvage. Now you can be sure that the lines of the plaid on the under layer of fabric match the top layer.

Very often you will find the plaid of polyesters very difficult to see from the wrong side. If this is the case, simply turn the fabric so the right side will be on the outside. Proceed with whichever side is the easiest to see.

You may also cut each piece of your garment separately. However, if you do this, be sure you turn the pattern over the second time you place it on your pattern or you will end up with two pieces alike. I usually don't advise the separate cutting for beginners because they are so apt to forget this point and end up having to purchase extra fabric.

DEAR EUNICE,

So many of the ready-made blouses have the narrow lace edgings. They seem to be ruffled, then sewed onto the edge of the sleeves, collars, etc. I am uncertain about how to ruffle this lace. When I tried, it took up most of the width of the lace and the edge didn't look good sewed onto the edge of the blouse. Should the lace be inserted into the seams? — MRS. N.C.C.

DEAR MRS. N.C.C.,

The narrow val type lace you are referring to is usually not sewn into the seams. However, you may do this with eyelet ruffling, gathering it first and then inserting it into the edged of your collars, cuffs, necklines or whatever.

Often you can find the fine val laces used for ruffling. You will notice there is an extra thread at the edge of the lace. This thread can be pulled up gently and it will automatically form a ruffle. You can pull the thread as much or as little as necessary for the gathering you desire. Because this thread gathers the very edge of the lace, it can be hand sewn or machine stitched to the outer edge without any added bulk.

It's not too soon to start making things for your upcoming bazaar, and ideas can be found in the booklet, "Boutique Gifts." For your copy, send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Eunice Farmer, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Antique Dealers To Attend Show

Two antique dealers from Marin will participate in the Hillsborough Fall Antique Show and Sale scheduled next week, Nov. 21 to 24, at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds.

Tom Pepper and Company of Mill Valley will be an exhibitor as will Sonia DeLew, owner of Trifles and Treasures in Corte Madera, whose specialty is early California paintings.

The show, at which $3 million worth of antiques will be shown, is one of four such shows sponsored annually by United Voluntary Services, a non profit organization which provides volunteer assistance to veterans hospitals.

Admission is $1.50 donation to UVS.

Dog Training Club Is Licensed Body

Marin County Dog Training Club is the only Marin obedience dog club licensed by the American Kennel Club to hold obedience trials, matches and tracking tests.

American Kennel Club does not license MCDTC or any other group to conduct dog training classes, as implied in a story about "The Obedient Dog's Best Friend's Cookbook" in Wednesday's Independent-Journal.

Dental Association Booklet Gives Tooth Care Answers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Is a battery operated toothbrush better for your teeth than a regular one?

And what about those oral irrigating devices? If you use one of these to clean teeth and flush food particles from gums, can you give up a toothbrush?

Knowing the answers to such questions can help you to become a wiser dental consumer. There are other questions for families wanting to know more about proper care of teeth and gums.

The American Dental Assocation, to help laymen, packs the answers to these questions and others in a new pamphlet — "How to Become a Wise Dental Comsumer."

The following excerpts from the pamphlet answer the questions posed above and others:

MANUAL TOOTHBRUSHES and Dental Floss: Two dental products, floss and toothbrushes, are simple in design and functional. The floss comes waxed and unwaxed. While many dentists recommended unwaxed as doing the better job of removing bacterial plaque, persons with tightly spaced teeth might find it easier to use waxed floss. The important thing is to use floss daily in the manner prescribed by your dentist or his auxiliary in order to remove the plaque — a major cause of tooth decay and periodontal or gum disease.

A special toothbrush may also be recommended by your dentist. The type that matches the needs of the greatest number of people is a brush with soft, multi-tufted, rounded bristles. Be certain that the head of the brush is small enough to reach all accessible areas.

POWERED BRUSHES. Powered toothbrushes are much more complex. The methods of obtaining power, the safety in design and various other factors are considered before ADA acceptance is given to a product. No one has been able to satisfactorily show that either manual or powered brushing is superior. If the patient tends to be more thorough and consistent in his use of one type as opposed to the other, that type should probably be his choice. Because of the novelty, children may find the powered toothbrush appealing and use it more often than the manual toothbrush. Persons with certain physical handicaps often find powered toothbrushes easier to use.

ORAL IRRIGATING Devices. These use a direct spray of water to remove loose food particles and other material from about the teeth. The ADA says they cannot take the place of either the toothbrush or dental floss in removing bacterial plaque, but for some persons they are an effective additional aid to promote oral cleanliness. Patients with orthodontic bands or fixed partial dentures in particular may find oral irrigators helpful. The ADA says in all cases the patient should seek the advice of his dentist on the manner in which to use oral irrigating devices. Persons with certain oral ailments may injure tissue with incorrect use of the pressure sprays.

MOUTHWASHES. Mouthwashes can temporarily freshen breath or sweeten your mouth. However, they do not remove plaque and cannot prevent decay or gum disease.

Commercial mouthwashes available without prescription are primarily cosmetic but unfortunately advertisers sometimes imply wider benefits. The ADA Council on Dental Therapeutics discourages the use of medicated mouthwashes for unsupervised use by the general public.

Offensive breath may indicate poor oral health or other bodily disorders. A mouthwash does not attack the basic problem. The general use of mouthwashes can be considered to serve no greater purpose than as an aid in the removal of loose food and debris.

TOOTHPASTE. Today's modern dentifrices generally are in two forms: paste and powder. Pastes are the most popular. Thorough cleaning of teeth with toothbrush, fluoride dentifrice and floss helps control the buildup of dental plaque, a sticky almost colorless film that forms continuously on teeth and which leads to both decay and gum disease. To aid in the prevention of these, bacterial plaque should be removed from all tooth surfaces a minimum of once a day. For some people more frequent removal may be recommended by their dentist.

The family dentist can recommend toothpastes that are within the proper range of abrasiveness based on the patient's individual needs.

The booklet — "How To Be a Wise Dental Consumer" — is available for 15 cents from the American Dental Association, Bureau of Public Information, 221 East Chicago Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Speaker's Topic Will Be Renaissance Art

Renaissance Art will be the subject of an interpretive, illustrative lecture to be given by Prof. Hal T. Wilmeth at the Sausalito Woman's Club at 2 p.m. Nov. 21 at the clubhouse.

Professor Wilmeth teaches Art History at Dominican College. He is a well known art historian who did his graduate studies at the University of Chicago and the Universita degli Studi in Florence, Italy. Before joining the faculty at Dominican College in 1960, the professor had taught at the California College of Arts and Crafts, the Kansas City Art Institute and the University of Nebraska. He was also director of Gump's Gallery in San Francisco. He has also conducted tours of world famous galleries in the major art centers of Europe.

For the program he will discuss the painters of the Renaissance and illustrate the lecture with slides from his own extensive collection.

Constant Supply Of Ice Provided

Automatic ice makers make, store and replenish ice cubes, giving a continual supply for instant use. If the family entertains frequently, lives in a warm climate or has children who enjoy cold drinks, this is a good buy, according to home economists at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Automatic ice and water dispensers in the door provide ice, crushed ice and cold water without opening the door.

Tomorrow Is Date For Flea Market

A flea market and bazaar featuring antiques, jewelry, paintings and handicrafts will be held tomorrow at Sir Francis Drake High School girls' gymnasium.

The 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. sale is being sponsored by Dolphins of Marin Children's Swim Club. All proceeds are earmarked for a travel fund so that the swimmers, ages 8 through 17, can compete nationally.

TONING UP WHILE CLEANING UP

Those house cleaning chores need not be all waste motion, as demonstrated here by Carol Crawford, western territory home economist for Johnson Wax. Miss Crawford (above) makes spot waxing your floor into an exercise for thighs, tummy and waistline. Sit on floor, legs extended, raise left leg upward, knee slightly turned in, use right hand to apply wax in three large clockwise circles, then three circles counterclockwise. Reverse legs and arms and do the floor to your left. In left picture, below, Miss Crawford demonstrates a thigh exercise for vacuum cleaning: with right hand on vacuum, left hand extended to side, lunge forward on right foot, pushing cleaner in front of you. Return to original position, feet together. Change sides and repeat with left hand and foot leading. Or (right, below) clean venetian blinds this way: spray with aerosol cleaner. Then, standing to left of blinds, wipe surface from left to right in one motion; return on same slat, bending elbow, to same position. Move to next slat and continue. When they're all done, reverse blind, reverse position. Remember, says Miss Crawford, breathe in before you start, exhale as you wipe, pulling in your abdomen.

Hospital Honors Many Volunteers

Pins for service hours to Marin General Hospital were awarded to a large number of volunteers at the end of October, according to an announcement by Mary Brody, coordinator of volunteer services at the hospital.

Ten members received pins for 100 hours of service. They include Eliane Apheceix, Pauline Brooks and Serena Kokjer of Greenbrae, Alba Ciucci of Fairfax, Pat Furlong and Penny Marshall of Belvedere, Jane Jett and Hope Pracht of Mill Valley, Frieda Krafzick of Tiburon and Amy Seward of Kentfield.

Seven volunteers — Connie Brightbill and Helen Sanford of Tiburon, Stephanie Fambrini of San Anselmo, Patricia Ripley and Shirley Silvestri of Belvedere, Hazel Stitt of Ross and Karen Wilson of Mill Valley — received 200-hour pins.

Three hundred-hour pins went to Betty Elder of Fairfax and Barbara Lamb and Deanna Sarrafzadeh of San Rafael.

Cherie Parenteau of Larkspur and Marce Tyler of Belvedere accepted pins for 400 hours of service. Eight volunteers were given 500-hour awards, including Marion Fuller, Carol Munro and Els Tuinzing of Mill Valley, Jean Kollewe and Mary Jane Pero of San Rafael, Peg LaBoyteaux and Judy Sanchez of San Anselmo, and Suzanne Thomas of Corte Madera.

Pins for 700 hours were presented to Marion Ibach of Mill Valley, Steve Janas of San Rafael and Carroll Rosenmayr of Kentfield, while Suzanne Abramson of San Rafael received a 900-hour pin and Dahne Moffett of San Anselmo earned a pin for 1,000 hours of service.

Freda Carr of San Rafael and Marge Smith of Mill Valley attained 1,100 hours, and Judy Allen of Corte Madera, and Helen Ball of San Rafael reached 1,200 hours of service to Marin General.

Achieving 1,300 hours were Gayle Abrams of Ross, Kathleen Laymon of Tiburon, and Delpha Noland of Belvedere. Two volunteers — Margaret Gibbon of Greenbrae, and Oma Pemberton, Mill Valley — reached 1,400 hours.

Marilyn Artieres of Novato, attained 1,800 hours, and Leslie Anixter of Kentfield reached 1,900 hours, while Irmgard Pierce of Greenbrae received a pin for 2,000 hours and Grace Miller of Inverness marked up 2,100 hours of service.

Merrilee England of San Anselmo, Mary Lloyd of Ross and Betty Viering of San Rafael achieved 2,200 hours. Marge Carruthers of Kentfield received a 2,500-hour pin and Peggy Disher of San Rafael, reached 2,600 hours.

Ruth Maysonave of San Rafael was awarded a pin for 3,000 hours of service, and Meredith McKendry of Ross, attained 3,300 hours. Peggie Lippitt of Mill Valley totaled 3,800 hours and Evelyn Kionig of Kentfield, received a 6,000-hour pin.

WIDOWS

two other consultants on legal and financial matters.

Mrs. Horowitz was asked about typical case histories. There is no such, she said — "widows are as different as fingerprints."

Rejection of the idea of widowhood is common in the early phases of bereavement, she said. "But we all must realize that death is a fact of life, not a taboo subject. We can discuss it, openly, candidly, but we don't have to dwell on it.

"Above all, I'd wish for closer communication between a couple so the wife has a better understanding of her husband's status — wills, insurance, income, legal matters. Shutting her out is leaving her unprepared.

"Society too can be unfair and unknowing. A woman should be permitted to weep, to mourn. You've got to complete the grief work, without someone telling you falsely, 'Cheer up.'

CATS

People may think "a cat is a cat," said Mrs. Colabella, but some show champions demand a selling price of $500 to $600. It's not an inexpensive event for the showers, either. From mid-September to March or April, a cat show is held at least once a week in various parts of the west. Each show, said Mrs. Colabella, costs about $20 per cat aside from travel.

Why do they bother then? Aside from enjoying the show circuit, many breeders use this as a vehicle for advertising their cats, said Mrs. Colabella.

Cats must stay in shape for the show season and food is an important consideration. At the Colabella home in Fairfax, the cats feast on ground horsemeat, vegetables, cottage cheese, vitamins and, on special occasions, ice cream.

For the cat, a show means tolerating poking fingers and comments such as "Oh, that's not a registered cat. That's a plain old alley cat" or "What a mess. That must be a new breed."

Mrs. Colabella, who has heard such comments during her three years of showing, adds that most owners just sit quietly until all has passed.

One feeling that will abound at the show is the deep respect between cat and owner. "People underrate their intelligence," said Mrs. Colabella. "Cats are easier to take care of than dogs. They will do anything a dog will.

"You learn their moods. In their own way, they will communicate with you. It depends on you. They can show as much love and affection as any animal."

And, she added, while it's nice to have a dog curled up in your lap, a cat "just burrows in and nestles."

David White Will Marry Denver Girl

David White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter White of Marinwood, is engaged to marry Judy Hilmes of Denver, Colo. The engagement was announced at a family dinner party last Saturday at the Whites' home at 558 Loganberry Drive.

David was graduated from Terra Linda High School in 1971, attended the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and is now a senior in a predental program at the University of Pacific in Stockton.

Jud is a graduate of the University of Northern Colorado and is now employed as a registered nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Stockton.

The young people plan to be married in Denver sometime in the summer of 1975.

Keep Doors Closed To Cut Heat Costs

Home heating costs can be kept down by keeping all exterior doors, as well as those to garage, attic and basement, tightly closed. Lost heat is a waste of energy and money.

Proper home insulation and weatherstrip will also cut heating costs, as much as 45 per cent, according to home economists for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Taking Up Gum, Wax From Floor

Chewing gum, candle wax and tar are easier to remove from a resilient floor when they are hard.

To speed setting, cover with an ice cube in a plastic bag. Then scrape the excess with a dull-edged tool and remove residue from solvent-resistant floors with a cloth or very fine steel wool dipped in mineral spirits or naptha. Dry with a clean cloth and repolish if necessary.

Ross Valley Women Form A New Needlework Guild

Fourteen women interested in needlecraft have formed a Ross Valley needlework guild. Other women wishing to participate are invited to an organizational meeting at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Robson-Harrington House, 237 Crescent Avenue, San Anselmo.

Organizers Ginny Schweiger of San Anselmo and Sharon Lipton of Fairfax said the guild will bring together women who want to try "everything from ebroidery to crewel work to weaving to quilting."

A beginner's workshop in knitting will be part of Thursday's meeting.

People with needlework skills as well as those wishing to acquire them are welcome, Mrs. Lipton said. They will share skills or invite instructors to vitit their monthly meetings.

Persons with questions about the guild are invited to call Mrs. Lipton or Mrs. Schweiger. There will be no charge to join nor any skills requirements.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, significant air pollution. Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

San Francisco Bay Area: Fog and low clouds along the coast extending inland night and morning with local drizzle; mostly fair otherwise through tomorrow; little temperature change; highs tomorrow in upper 50s and 60s; lows tonight in mid 40s to low 50s; westerly winds 10 to 20 m.p.h.; low tonight at San Francisco 52 Oakland Airport 53 Redwood City 53.

Sierra Nevada: Fair through tomorrow but occasional high clouds; little temperature change.

Napa and Sonoma Valleys and Santa Rosa Plain: Night and morning fog and low clouds; otherwise, mostly fair through tomorrow but occasional high clouds; light southerly winds.

Hub City Trio Robbed, Beaten

Three men wearing ski masks yesterday entered a San Anselmo home and robbed its three residents of $115 at gunpoint, striking and injuring two of them, police said.

Robbed were Ian L. Summit, Brian W. Nelson and Robert Zimmer, all 24, of 42 Humboldt Avenue. Summit and Nelson were struck by the robbers and treated at Marin General Hospital for head injuries.

Police said the robbers — all black, ranging in height from five feet six inches to six feet one inch — entered the home from an unlocked side door about 6:45 p.m. and fled in a dark Mercedes-Benz.

Producer Joins Sidewalk Start

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television producer Don Fedderson yesterday became the 1,602nd show business personality with a star bearing his name embedded in the Hollywood "walk of fame."

Fedderson produced "The Lawrence Welk Show," "My Three Sons," "Family Affair" and "The Millionaire," among other shows. The "walk of fame" is a stretch of Hollywood Boulevard and Vine Street, with stars embedded in tte concrete bearing the names of entertainment industry personalities going back to silent movie days.

Fortune's Hand May Smile For Gypsies

Two gypsies who want to set up a fortune telling operation in Sausalito lost a legal round today but there were indications they might prevail in the end.

Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson dismissed a lawsuit brought by Dorothy M. and James Adams, but gave attorney Boris J. Baranowski 10 days to file new papers.

Wilson said the suit did not claim clearly enough that the ordinance prhoibiting fortune telling violates his clients freedom of religion under the First Amendment.

But if the religious argument is restated, Wilson indicated the 29-year-old ordinance might be overturned.

"You may have a significant point as far as religious activity is concerned," he told Baranowski, "But you have to tender that argument. Once the ordinance gets into the First Amendment area, it might be in trouble."

Baranowski told the judge he is involved in a dozen challenges of laws banning fortune telling throughout California and has won two victories on religious grounds.

Earlier this week, another Superior Court judge, Henry J. Broderick, ruled that the ordinance will remain in force until a trial can be held.

Baranowski has asked an immediate order banning enforcement of the ordinance, but Broderick refused. No trial date has been set.

'40s Western Star Brown Dead At 70

WOODLAND HILLS (UPI) — Johnny Mack Brown, who went from All-American college football player and Rose Bowl hero to star of hundreds of Saturday-matinee western movies in the 1930s and 1940s, died Thursday at age 70.

Brown died of kidney failure, according to a spokesman for the Motion Picture Country Home and Hospital, where he had been under treatment for a month.

Brown first won fame as a halfback on the University of Alabama team that beat the University of Washington in the 1926 Rose Bowl game 20-19 in a come-from-behind thriller in which Brown caught two touchdown passes. Brown was named to the College Football Hall of Fame in 1957.

Brown went on to become an actor, and once estimated he had appeared in more than 300 pictures, mostly B-grade westerns with his horse, "Reno."

His first western was "Billy The Kid" with Wallace Beery in 1930. From 1942 to 1950 he was consistently named to the Motion Picture Herald's list of the 10 top-money-making western stars. Almost all of his pictures were aimed at the Saturday afternoon children's market.

He retired in the 1950s and was host and manager of a restaurant in the San Fernando Galley.

Brown once said that one of the benefits of becoming a cowboy actor was that he got to become friends with his boyhood heroes, the horse opera stars of an even earlier age, such as William S. Hart and Tom Mix. He was known in the 1930s as part of a polo-playing crowd that included Will Rogers, Charles Farrell, Hal Roach and Darryl Zanuck.

The 1926 Rose Bowl game was the highlight of his football career, Brown said in later years, because "we were the first Southern team ever invited to participate.

"We were supposed to be kind of lazy down South — full of hookworms and all," said Brown, who was born in Dothan, Ala. "Nevertheless we came out here and beat one of the finest teams in the country, making it a kind of historic event for Southern football. We didn't play just for Alabama, but for the whole South."

DRUNKS NEED RAILINGS TOO

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Janos Kobanczi wrote a letter to the Hungarian government newspaper Magyar Hirlap demanding that bars get treatment equal to schools.

"Schools have guardrails at the entrance to stop children running out into the street, but I know at least three bars where there is no guard rail to prevent drunks staggering out into the path of an oncoming car," he said.

U.S. Balance Of Payments Is Improved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. balance of payments improved in two areas in the third quarter, in part because of the slowdown in the domestic economy, the Commerce Department said today.

The official reserve transactions balance swung from a $4.5 billion deficit in the second quarter to a $330 million deficit in the July-September quarter.

At the same time, the deficit position in the net liquidity balance narrowed from $6.3 billion to $4.8 billion in the same two quarters.

"The international petroleum situation, troubled international financial markets and slowing economic activity here and abroad were major factors contributing to these changes," the department said.

The payments measures used to be good indications of the strength of the dollar in relation to other world money.

But under the current regime of floating exchange rates, and the enormous shift of international assets from industrial to oil producting nations, the two reports have lost much of their value. The department is currently studying ways to make the payments figures more helpful to economists and financial observers.

Work Against Clock

ROME (UPI) — The U.N. World Food Conference worked against the clock today but officials predicted it would complete work on schedule tomorrow to set up vital machinery needed to feed the world's hungry millions.

MUSIC REVIEW

Duo-Pianists Excel On Britten, Liszt

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

Duo-pianists Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz — the second offering of the Marin Concert Association — last night at the Marin Veterans Auditorium gave fine renditions of Bach, Schumann, Mozart, Rachmaninoff and Saint-Saens and two great interpretations of Britten and Liszt.

The program, however, with the exception of the Liszt and Britten, suffered from a problem all too frequent with today's pianists. They opted for a popular but not necessarily musical approach, emphasizing tempo to the detriment of coloration. It made for a concert full of a virtuoso display of keyboard pyrotechnics but short on transition and modulation of mood.

A piano has been called man's greatest single instrument; two pianos in unison and augmenting one another become then a height of civilized sound, and Mozart is the master of the two-piano repertoire.

The Mozart "Sonata in D Major, K 448" is a spirited animated joy to hear, full of humor and charm. The Andante moves from very fluid, airy passages to stately, understated ones, but last night's rapid pacing cut some of the lyricism short of bloom.

A bit more lift in the Allegro con spirito would have proportionately increased the Allegro molto. As it was, the difference between the two, while notable in tempo, was missing in intensity and dynamics. It made the three movements a touch too level in character.

The introduction, waltz and tarantella of Rachmaninoff offered more of the same, as did Saint-Saens' "Polonaise, Opus 77".

Saint-Saens' "Polonaise" showed Horowitz, the dark-haired, younger partner, to be the warmer of the two pianists. Stecher plays so fast he seems possessed and next to the more reserved Horowitz he is the more showy pianist. Horowitz is more romantic and lyrical, the one more sensitive to modulating phrases.

Every now and then a bit of Saint-Saens' full texture — how rich it is — would come out like the sun trying to break from behind furious and angry clouds but then the separation of tone, the subtleties of texture, would get murky again. The crescendo was, however, most exciting, due to Horowitz's strength in building a true climb of tonal color.

How refreshing it was to come to the Britten, all the more so to have a modern composer steal the show from the classics. His "Mazurka Elegiaca" in memory of Paderewski was fragile, tender, every bit the understatement missing from the rest of the program. A touching piece, it filled the room with a simple glory, then a haunting suggestion of death's victory and a final sad but eulogistic acceptance of the interruption of life.

The program opened with the warm, quiet ripple of a Debussy transcription of a Schumann study of a Bach canon, "The Etude, Opus 56, No. 4". The program closed with an Andalusian romp by Infante in the same punitive pace and four encores to the standing ovation. One encore, Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2", was as fine, as thrilling as the Britten.

Here the two pianos truly set a musical dialogue, warlike, wistful, intoxicated, funereal. Stecher would send out a pixy-like message; Horowitz would respond. The final marvelous gallop started and the comedy, the trickery, became delicious.

Consumer Safety Group Pulls Back Own Product

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission said today it is recalling one of its own products — a possibly dangerous button it put out to promote toy safety.

Involved are 80,000 buttons which say "For Kid's Sake, Think Toy Safety." A spokesman said the buttons were intended as part of a pre-Christmas toy safety campaign, but they have not yet been distributed by commission offices around the country.

Ron Eisenberg, public affairs chief for the agency, said commission experts found that the button has paint with a dangerously high lead content, sharp edges and parts which a child could swallow — some of the very hazards the commission has been after consumers to watch for in buying toys.

PLANS ASTRAY — Poker-faced Sakini, played by Dan Solnit (from left) points to amusement of Captain Fisby, played by Michael Speak and the shocked Col. Wainwright Purdy III, played by Dave Leigon that instead of a Pentagon shaped school house, a teahouse has been constructed, in the Novato High School's production of "Teahouse of the August Moon."

'Teahouse' Opens Tonight At Novato High School

Novato High School's drama group will present "Teahouse of the August Moon" at the girls gymnasium opening tonight at 8:30.

Performances will be repeated tomorrow and Nov. 23 at 8:30 p.m. and on Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The cast includes Dan Solnit and Pat Terry as Sakini, Kris Donaldson as Sgt. Gregovich, David Leigon as Col. Wainwright Purdy III, and Michael Speak and Michael McDaniel as Capt. Fisby.

Russell Dreosch, English teacher, is the director; Richard Duke and Diane Lees, lights; Kathy Ridley, house chairman; Ronnica Henry, makeup; Cathy Shrum, props; Kim Perry and Sharon Spence, refreshments; Diane Lees, set design; Brian Cilley, sound; Maya Fogarty, ticket design, and Miriam Bonner, ticket sales. Tickets are $1.50.

To Air Goals

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will discuss policies and goals of the emerging general plan with advance planner Albert Solnit when the commission meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall, a spokesman said today.

Nocturnes Due In San Anselmo

David Nichtern, who authored Maria Muldaur's hit "Midnight at the Oasis," will appear with his four-piece group, the Nocturnes, at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo Thursday. Sharing the bill will be Yazoo.

Ted Ashford, who plays a combination of rock and jazz, will be at the Marshall Tavern today and tomorrow. Dinner patrons there on Sunday afternoon will hear Bach, Bluegrass and Co.

Jerry Corbitt, one of the founders of the Youngbloods, an early Marin band that gathered a large following before its demise, will perform at a free concert at noon Thursday at the College of Marin. It's sponsored by the college's Associated Students.

Seventeen performing groups, including eight rock and roll bands, will take part in a benefit for Marin Community Video tomorrow.

Slated for the gymnasium at the College of Marin from 3 p.m. to midnight are the following groups: Mitch Woods and His Red Hot Mama, Clover, Gemstome and Kit and Kaboodle, Steamin' Freeman, Circus, Melba Rounds and the Keester Sisters.

Rock performances this weekend and next week are:

Inn of the Beginning, Cotati — Pablo Cruise and Road Hog, today and tomorrow; free folk music Sunday; Jimmy Witherspoon, Monday; Blue Fox and the Griffith Band, Wednesday; the Valley Boys, Thursday.

Lion's Share, San Anselmo — Sound Hole and Everybody in the World, today; Clover and Entwhistle, tomorrow; James and the Mercedes and Friends, Sunday; Little Roger and the Goosebumps and Junction 175, Wednesday; David Nichtern and the Nocturnes, Thursday.

Marshall Tavern, Marshall — Ted Ashford's Chicago Boogie Band, today and tomorrow; Bach, Bluegrass and Co., 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Sleeping Lady Cafe, Fairfax — Okah Savannah, tomorrow; G. S. Sachdev, Sunday.

The Woods, Fairfax — Anna Rizzo and the A Train, Sunday; Little Willie and the Nite Worms, Monday; Ted Ashford Band, Tuesday; Pegasus, Wednesday.

Other Bay Area performances:

Country Roads, San Francisco — Clover, Sunday and Monday.

The Long Branch, Berkeley — Sound Hole, Sunday; Roadhog, Monday; Eddie Money, Thursday.

Keystone, Berkeley — Sons of Champlin, today; Alteca, tomorrow and Sunday; Anna Rizzo and the A Train and the San Francisco Funk System, Monday.

Santa Rosa Junior College, Santa Rosa — Nimbus, Wednesday.

Winterland, San Francisco — New Riders of the Purple Sage, Commander Cody and His Lost Planet Airmen and David Bromberg, today and tomorrow; Link Wray, Yesterday and Today and Nimbus, Tuesday.

Open House Scheduled

The Army's Western Regional Recruiting Command, long based in the Presidio of San Francisco, will hold open house at 2 p.m. Nov. 21 in its new headquarters in Fort Baker near Sausalito.

The recruiting headquarters, which commands some 800 recruiters in eight Western states, moved to Marin County in July to make way for takeover of its former buildings by the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. It's now the largest active-duty military organization in Marin County, according to its commander, Col. Philip S. Day Jr.

High-ranking Army and civilian officals will participate and the Sixth Army Band will play for the open house at Building 636 opposite the parade ground.

Bed Pushing Record Set

The record attempt began a week earlier when they set off to beat the 720 miles non stop record.

Posthumous Award Given To Architect

The late Wayne Hertzka, an architect who made his home in Kentfield, has been posthumously honored by the San Francisco Building Industry Conference Board.

Hertzka, who died Nov. 18, 1973, was a partner in the San Francisco firm of Hertzka & Knowles, architects of the Crown-Zellerbach and Standard Oil buildings in San Francisco.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Nino's Is Now A Pretty Diner With Old North Beach Menu

Some places you can pass by everyday and never notice.

If one of them happens to be a new restaurant where a restaurant has always been before, chances are you won't pay attention to it unless you're hungry or work in the neighborhood.

That's the way it is with Nino's, newest addition to that block on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael between Third and Fourth which has recently acquired some fine restaurants. The fact that Nino's is an excellent addition and worth of its company may not yet have come to your notice.

Very definitely there is something at the southwest corner of Lincoln and Fourth that hasn't been there before. The counter is gone (replaced by a wine bar); the tables boast nice linen; decor has been upgraded; the service is smooth. There is fine paper on the walls; the floor is newly carpeted and the kitchen is more concealed. Even the woodwork is different. In short, what you may have thought was just another restaurant is now a pretty little dinery. (Small? It seats 80).

Responsible for all this are Nino and Lea Mareschiello, whom you may not even meet, for both work in the kitchen. Lea's brother John Canzona is maitre d' in the dining room.

The menu reminds me of something out of the old days in North Beach — except for the price. But never again will you ever get a complete Italian dinner for six bits or even a buck with wine included. The antipasto tray is bountiful to the point of providing such things as white mackeral and pigs feet. There's a choice of the tradidtional minestrone or soup du jour and pasta is served before the entree. Vegetables are fresh. Desert is also included.

For a complete dinner you'll pay $5.50 up to $8.25 but that's par for the course these days. Most veal dishes are $6.75, one is $5.75. I had the voltolini (rolled and stuffed with prosciutto and cheese) and had to resort to a doggie bag to finish it at home. The menu is extensive — there are 32 complete dinners plus many a la carte selections (after 10 p.m. all service is a la carte). There is an excellent house wine. Service is from 5 p.m. (4 p.m. on Sundays). Closed Mondays.

Lunches (Tuesdays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.) are $2.40 to $4.95 and there are daily specials, usually about $2.75 with soup or salad and coffee, also a la carte salads and sandwiches.

Nino's has one end of its dining room with a movable partition, allowing private groups of up to about 20.

I'm not the only one to think well of the place. People have been telling me about it. If you don't get there before you might try it on Thanksgiving. Complete menu won't be served but there'll be six to eight dinners available, including turkey.

LAST TUESDAY NIGHT the Marin County Board of Education approved a very fine thing — a comprehensive restaurant training program to be initiated next February at Novato High School. It's now up for approval by the Novato School District. As with other courses in the Marin County Regional Occupational Program it will be open to both youths and adults.

A week ago I attended a preliminary foods advisory committee meeting and was much impressed with the proposal outlined by Marcia Greil, manager of program development — especially as it was presented to several critical restaurant owners and managers in attendance. They were encourated encouraged give their own ideas and they did. But the proposal was wholeheartedly endorsed as indeed it should have been.

The restaurant industry needs trained help and this appears to be the answer in Marin. Novato High School already has a restaurant and certain basic equipment. More will be purchased and the restaurant will be enlarged. Classes will encompass everything from dishwashing (don't laugh — that's very important in a restaurant) and cooking to service (waiting, hosting, bussing, cashiering, cleaning, etc.) and management. Undoubtedly there will be certain provisions for specialization.

Those interested may apply now for admission. Write to the Marin Regional Occupational Program, Office of Virgil Hollis, Marin County Superintendent of Schools, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera and an application form will be mailed. In the near future applicants will be called for an interview. The work of setting up classes will probably get under way by the first of the year.

MANY MARIN AND SONOMA RESTAURANTS are planning to remain open for dinner on Thanksgiving. Others will close, as it is afamily day. The KITCHEN FLAMBE — You don't need a fancy alcohol brazier or canned heat to put on a flaming food spectacle — and you can use a bottle of white wine instead of brandy. For Nino Mareschiello it's all in a night's work at the stove in his new restaurant, Nino's, in San Rafael.

DINING

One of the first to report was the Normandie on the San Rafael Miracle Mile, which will open for dinner at 4 p.m. Regular menu will be served, along with a complete turkey dinner at $6.50. Make reservations.

Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur will be open and you'll need reservations here, too, for one of three periods — 4, 5:30 or 7 p.m. There will be a choice of three entrees — roast beef, duck or turkey and full dinner price will be $7.50.

Meanwhile Lark Creek chef Pierre Joris has prepared a traditional early American holiday menu of turkey and all the trimmings for a display of table settings on display next Tuesday at Macy's in San Francisco. The affair is to assist in bringing the Rodin collection of sculpture to San Francisco's California Palace of the legion of honor.

Ernie's Restaurant in San Francisco (same ownership as Lark Creek Inn) is featuring an elaborate Victorian setting with the menu created by International Gourmet Society president Roy Andries de Groot. He has reconstructed the great Paris dinner of 1867 as it was served to German Chancellor Prince von Bismarck, Czar Alexander II, Kaiser Wilhelm I and Prince Edward of England.

Altogether there will be 15 different table settings, so if you need some ideas for serving your own Thanksgiving dinner this might be a place to visit.

FROM GLEN ELLEN in Sonoma County comes word that Bill and Marie Colling will celebrate their eighth Thanksgiving this year at London Lodge.

They plan to serve "the whole turkey and all the trimmings family style" — that is to say you carve, eat all you can and take home the rest. But you'll have to make reservations by Nov. 25, announce how large a bird you want and how many will be there. It's been very successful at London Lodge in past years.

GOOD NEWS for Black Point Inn diners — famed chef Jack Cardini is back here again. Jack has "retired" several times — but it doesn't seem to take.

THE DAY BEFORE THANKSGIVING — Nov. 27, Shipwreck Pete's in Novato will observe its sixth anniversary party. As with previous anniversary parties, Pete and Doris Lind will serve up the usual music, fun and food — roast pig, raw oysters, calamari, barbecued ribs, all kinds of fish and other delectibles.

This always gets a big play and if you haven't been to one of these parties you should enjoy it. You've got the next day to rest up — that's what the Linds do.

CHEZ PIERRE in San Anselmo may soon have a full general liquor license. Application has been made to acquire the license used at Agatha's Pubb, 621 Bridgeway in Sausalito.

THE GOLD NUGGET SPECIALTY HOUSE on the San Rafael Miracle Mile now has two days of closing — Sunday and Monday. This will probably go on through the winter.

Hours remain the same from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Gold Nugget is noted for its fabulous hamburgers but there are also several special complete dinners each night from $2.95 to $4.25.

Wilder Play Opens Tonight

Thornton Wilder's serio-comic play, "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be presented by the Marin Academy tonight and tomorrow at the school auditorium, Fifth and Mission avenues.

The play is directed by Phoebe Moyer. Actors include Peter Tempel as Mr. Antrobus; Molly Noble, Mrs. Antrobus; Allison Davies, Savina; Jeff Claxton, Henry, and Kym Jordan, Gladys.

The play traces the trials and tribulations of the family of mankind. Antrobus is the inventor of the wheel and the alphabet and his wife is described as a "charming and gracious mammal." They have two children, Henry and Gladys, and a beautiful but ornery maid, Sabina.

Performances will be at 8:15 p.m. both days.

Sinatra Takes Cabaret Award

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra was voted the top male star of the year and Liza Minnelli the top female star yesterday by the Academy of Variety and Cabaret Artists.

The academy is made up of performers who appear at Las Vegas hotel-casinos, agents and others in the entertainment business. The awards were made in a program emceed by Bob Hope, which will be televised Nov. 20.

Oil Wealth Perils World Balance

By HARRY B. ELLIS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON D.C. — Saudi Arabia has zoomed to the rank of fourth richest nation in the world and soon will surpass all but West Germany in foreign-exchange reserves, as the massive transfer of wealth to oil producing and exporting countries moves into high gear.

Altogether, reports the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the 13 nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) collected $25 billion for their high-priced oil over the last year, and now hold nearly 20 per cent of the world's monetary reserves.

The trend is accelerating. In another year, assuming oil prices remain constant, nations of the oil cartel will have lined their pockets with at least another $100 billion.

"By 1980," says U.S. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, "(OPEC's) total accumulations could exceed $500 billion. Imbalances of this magnitude," he adds quietly, "cannot continue. They are neither economically nor politically tolerable."

All this money flowing out of oil-consuming nations means that much less to be spent by consumers at home, a major reason why recession is deepening across much of the non-Communist world.

But no one has come up with a way to arrest the outflow, and the world's monetary reserves picture — national holdings of gold, currencies, IMF special drawing rights (SDR), and other assets — is turning topsy-turvy.

Last year at this time the Saudis held $4 billion, a healthy sum that placed them 13th on the world's scale. Now their reserves total $11.5 billion. Ahead of the Saudis are only West Germany ($32.5 billion), the U.S. ($15.7 billion), and Japan ($13.2 billion).

With Saudi reserves now piling up at more than $2 billion a month, King Faisal's desert kingdom — a land of burning desert sands and barren hills, with towns clustered in date-palm oases — soon will outstrip the U.S. and Japan.

This does not mean, of course, that the King's subjects — or the peoples of other oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikhdoms — live as well as Americans, Germans, or Icelanders. They do not.

The majority of people in Iran, Nigeria Indonesia, and the Persian Gulf lands still live at what Western peoples would call poverty levels, despite the oil wealth now swelling their government's coffers.

Populous OPEC members, like Indonesia, Nigeria, Iran, and Venezuela, can absorb their new-found wealth. But the Saudis, Kuwaitis, and Arabs of such tiny entities as Abu Dhabi and Qatar cannot.

They are stashing their surplus billions so fast into large American and European banks, and on such short-term call, that the banks, forced to reloan this money at longer term, are flashing warning signals.

Meanwhile, the reserves of OPEC members pile up like snowflakes in a blizzard. Iran now holds $6.31 billion, Nigeria $4.02 billion, and Venezuela $4.93 billion, with more flowing in daily as oil flows out.

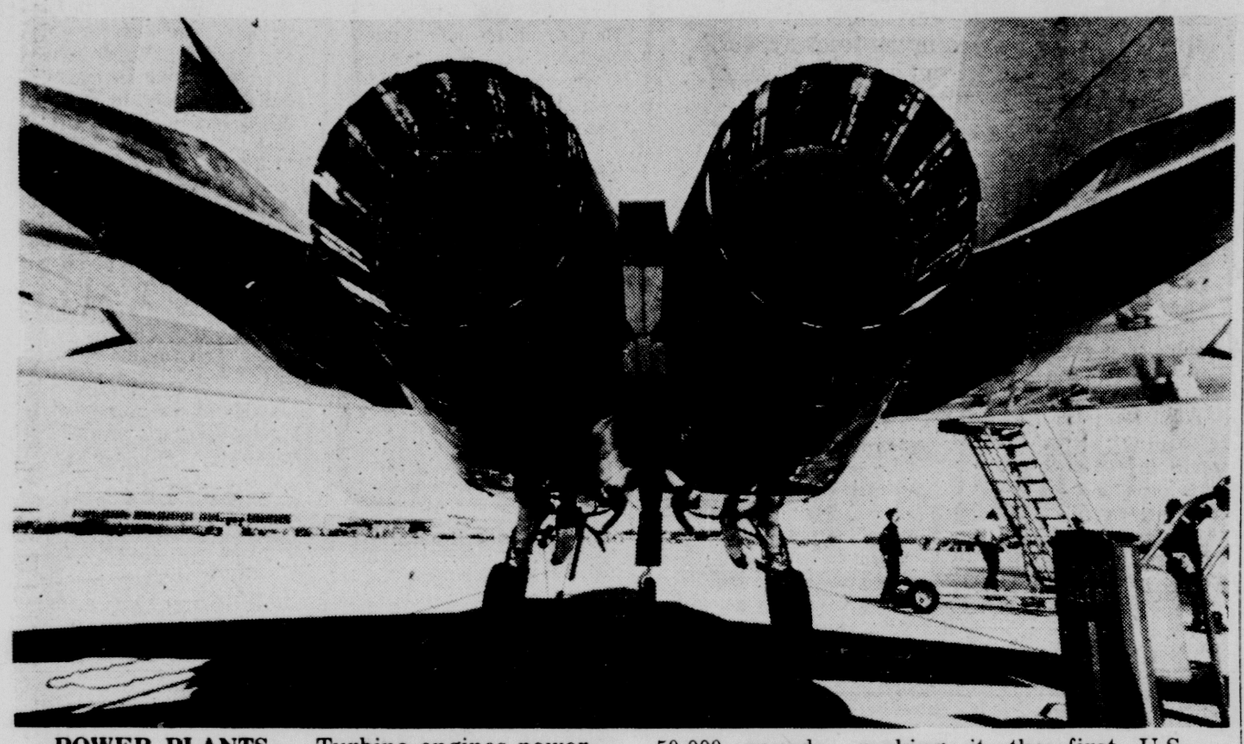
New Fighter Receives High Marks

EAGLE IN FLIGHT — Newest fighter plane in the nation's airborne arsenal is the F-15 Eagle, due to replace the F-4 Phantom and expected to be the mainstay of U.S. tactical combat needs through the 1980s.



POWER PLANTS — Turbine engines power the Eagle at two and a half times the speed of sound and provide a thrust of almost 50,000 pounds, making it the first U.S. aircraft whose thrust exceeds its weight. The F-15 weights 40,000 pounds when fully loaded.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Roaring into the skies is the F-15 Eagle — the new fighter aircraft that Pentagon defense planners expect to be the mainstay of U.S. tactical combat needs through the 1980s.

Basically a single-seat aircraft (although some two-seaters will be built for training purposes), the Eagle already is being given high marks for its agility and maneuverability, advanced radar system, and use of built-in computer control mechanisms. All told, the St. Louis-based McDonnell Douglas Corp., the prime contractor, is building an initial Air Force order of 164 aircraft, valued at more than $10 million each.

The first combat-ready fighter is to be delivered to Luke Air Force Base in Arizona Nov. 15.

Pentagon officials insist that the plane will provide a definite margin of air combat superiority for the foreseeable future, even against the Soviet MIG-25 (Foxbat). The present tactical combat mainstay of U.S. forces, the F-4 Phantom, was designed two decades ago.

Keen interest in the aircraft has already been shown by NATO allies. According to a Defense Department spokesman, "in at least one instance we have issued a letter of offer (sale)."

Meantime, the Defense Department is going ahead with evelopment of another plane, a much lighter tactical fighter-bomber to replace the aging F-104's that still constitute a hefty share of NATO defenses.

Air Force officials say the F-15 is the first U.S. fighter aircraft whose thrust exceeds its weight: "It just gets up and goes like nothing that is currently in the air."

Weighing about 40,000 pounds when fully armed, its two Pratt and Whitney turbine engines generate a total thrust of about 50,000 pounds. It is armed with three air-to-air weapons systems: a 20-mm Gatling gun and short- and medium-range missiles. By use of radar, targets can be pinpointed — even when far out of visual range.

So far, the Eagle has been flown about 66,000 feet at more than 2½ times the speed of sound — and can fly at particularly slow speeds when necessary.

Some Patrol Cars Will Be Smaller

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Highway Patrol is turning away — very tentatively — from the big car, the CHP said yesterday.

The CHP has ordered 1,109 Dodges for 1975, including 100 middle-sized Coronet models, assistant commissioner A.S. Cooper reported.

The majority of the 1975 Dodges ordered by the CHP will be the bigger Monaco models with 122-inch wheelbases costing $4,677.50 each. The 100 Coronets on 118-inch wheelbases will be tried "on an experimental basis," Cooper said.

The Coronets will cost $4,325.45 each.

Cooper said only one other state, Maryland, is experimenting in the use of less costly intermediates.

This is the 10th time in the last 12 years that the CHP has purchased Dodges. In 1967 Oldsmobile won the CHP contract, and in 1970 it went to Mercury.

Indian Attack Like Old West

SAN CRISTOBAL, Venezuela (UPI) — Indians armed with bows and arrows killed three persons and wounded a fourth in an attack on a ranch house in the remote state of Apure.

Police commissioner Luis Antonio Colmenares Garcia said a rancher, his wife and a visitor were killed and the rancher's 12-year-old daughter was wounded.

Colmenares said no motive for the attack, which occurred Monday, has been discovered.

NEW RAIL GUARDS TRAILER COURT

This new guard rail curving along the Atherton Avenue interchange of the new Novato Bypass is a thing of beauty to the residents of the Palm Lane Trailer Village who live below the elevated ramps. Residents became alarmed by the sound of squealing tires as soon as the interchange opened. Though there hadn't been any accidents, about 40 persons signed a petition to the state Division of Highways three weeks ago, requesting the guard rail which was promptly installed. Residents now say they feel less worry about cars tumbling down into the park, but are still concerned whether the freeway work altered drainage patterns to threaten them with flooding. Charles Murphy, county flood control engineer, said special drainage was included in the freeway work to "keep the problem from getting any worse, but they've had flooding problems for years."

A Ross Demand For Flood Work

The Ross Town Council — angered over a recent decision by Marin County supervisors to delay completion of the Corte Madera Flood Control Project — readied ammunition last night to see that the work gets going again.

The council stopped short of taking the long-delayed work back into court, but readied a letter expressing irritation at the board's action's on Nov. 4.

But councilman Roy Farrington Jones was more vehement. He called for fellow councilmen "to pull every plug . . . if they don't do it, we'll sue."

Mayor Frederick S. Allen backed Jones, and suggested the supervisors' action might have been politically motivated.

On Nov. 4 the supervisors agreed to delay the project through Ross while alternate flood control projects are studied. It was at the request of supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who for years has opposed the controversial project.

The $3 million project, the fourth and final stage of the control work, calls for transforming the creek into a concrete channel between the Ross Post Office and Winship Park Bridge, plus providing drainage facilities in the Ross Common.

What really upset the Ross council was that the board's decision will probably mean a year's delay in completion of the project until 1977.

Allen reminded fellow councilmen that last January Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court ordered the Marin Flood Control District, which is overseeing the project, to relieve flooding in Ross and told the town to cooperate in building the concrete ditch along the creek bed.

In the letter, which should be before supervisors today or tomorrow, the council said "it feels compelled to inform you that should you not do so, the council will strongly consider reopening the Ross-Flood Control legal action for the purpose of obtaining a further order requiring you to fund and proceed with the projects as called" in Judge Wilson's order.

The letter further stated "the council has no desire to engage in any further litigation in this matter, after two costly legal actions, but from the advice given us, it appears that your present stand on the project can only mean additional costs to the taxpayers . . ."

Postponed was another hot potato facing the town — a proposed regional growth control plan for upper Ross Valley. Allen said the council had not had any dialogue yet with Fairfax and Corte Madera, which have approved the project in principle. The matter had been on the council's agenda for discussion.

The Ross Town Council Also:

VARIANCES — Unamimously approved variances for Sheldon Jacknowitz, 188 Redwood Drive, for a two-bedroom addition, and to Graham Strathdee, 150 Lagunitas Road, for replacement of a porch off the kitchen which had been removed because of termite damage.

LOT — Delayed action until its next meeting on a hillside lot application from Albert Boyajian on Morrison Road.

HOUSING — Set a public hearing for its next meeting on traffic and housing elements for the town.

DEBRIS — Referred back to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson of Ross School a plan for additional collection days of debris on Ross Common.

CENTENNIAL — Will ask Gladys Smith to replace Councilman Jones on the county's bicentennial commission. Jones said he does not have the time to serve.

ROCK ROAD — Agreed to file a petition on deannexation of about four acres of land on Rock Road between Ross and Kentfield. The action will be forwarded to the Marin County Local Agency Formation for study by representatives of the Kent Woodlands Property Owners Association.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. in town hall.

Rate Lowered

NEW YORK (AP) — First National City Bank, continuing its role of industry pacesetter, today lowered its prime rate another quarter point to 10.25 per cent, effective Monday.

Boro Bows Out On Redevelopment Talks

By PAUL CANE

San Rafael Planning Commission chairman Albert J. Boro last night disqualified himself from all discussion of the city's preliminary redevelopment sketch plans, noting possible conflict of interest with his father's financial holdings.

Boro told a crowd of 30 gathered for a special commission meeting last night that he would not take part in any discussion of whether a massive shopping center should be built in downtown San Rafael, but would act on other redevelopment matters to come before the commission in future weeks.

At issue in the potential conflict is his father's ownership of 10 acres of Corte Madera marshland east of Highway 101, site of the proposed regional shopping center by developer Ernest W. Hahn.

Two of the four sketch plans under consideration for San Rafael redevelopment call for a similar massive shopping center downtown.

According to economic consultant Mike Marston of the firm Keyser-Marston Associates, the central Marin area needs one, but not two, such centers. Whichever center was built would render the other economically unfeasible, Marston said.

Therefore, Boro's father — Alphonse Boro of San Francisco — would stand to gain financially if the San Rafael center were not built and the Hahn project were to go through.

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels told the Independent-Journal that the elder Boro owns 10 acres (of 70 Hahn plans for development) in a rectangular plot between Highway 101 and the railroad tracks through the marshland.

San Rafael City Atty. Fred C. Robbins advised commission chairman Boro to withdraw from all proceedings involving the preliminary sketch plans, Boro said.

However, he told the I-J after leaving the meeting that he will serve on commission discussions of later redevelopment plans. "Once the direction of the plans has been determined, I understand that I can work on them," he said. "It's just while the shape of the plans is being discussed that I think it best to leave."

After the city council — acting as the redevelopment agency board — determines whether such a large shopping center will be built, the planning commission's function will be that of only "reviewing specific plans," he said.

In this first phase, he noted, "No matter how objective I'd be, there might be someone who would say that I wasn't."

After about two-and-a-half-hours of discussion with consultants over the four plans, the remaining commissioners seemed to lean toward Plan No. Three, according to Herbert G. Hotchner, city planning director.

He said both the audience and the commissioners expressed views that this plan, which envisions a small, subregional shopping center at the foot of Fourth Street seemed closest to what was desired for the downtown area.

The other plans were criticized for being either overwhelming, not doing enough or doing nothing for the downtown area, Hotchner said.

Next Wednesday the city council, acting as the redevelopment agency board, will review the plans and receive comments from the planning commission and a citizens' advisory committee.

Flaming Hay Truck Cause Of Collisions

Two cars, a pickup truck and a heavy trailer-truck rig were involved in a fiery collision near Petaluma last night but no one was injured.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Francis J. McNeil, 56, of Fallon, Nev., was carrying a load of hay in his semitrailer rig four miles south of Petaluma on Lakeville Highway when, a few minutes before midnight, a fuel line parted and his engine burst into flames.

McNeil stopped his truck, unable to pull over to the side of the road, and the fire immediately spread to the load of hay, causing dense smoke.

At that point, the patrol said, a pickup truck driven by Edward L. Landry, 30, of 1704 Alhambra Court, Petaluma, crashed into the back of the flaming trailer rig.

In short order a car driven by Alvis Minton Jr., 30, of 1437 Elizabeth Drive, Petaluma, crashed into the rear of Landry's pickup.

Then a car driven by William C. Dieckmann, 37, of 26 Old Creek Road, Petaluma, smashed into the rear of Minton's car.

The hay truck was destroyed by the flames and Dieckmann's car sustained minor damage. The other two vehicles were seriously damaged by the impact, the highway patrol said.

Metal Taken

Metal valued at $800 has been taken from the storage area of Terra Linda High School since Nov. 6, teacher T. S. Beattie reported yesterday to San Rafael police. Entry to the outside storage area was gained by prying off a lock, police reported.

Small Park Planned Nearby San Quentin

Preliminary plans for a small park for peaceful viewing of San Francisco Bay near San Quentin Prison were approved last night by the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission.

Sheldon Zatkin, city parks and recreation director, said the city has received a $48,000 grant to purchase almost four acres on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the proposed ferry terminal and the prison.

The park will feature benches and "quiet areas" for bay viewing, Zatkin said, but construction is not contemplated for a year or more.

In other action last night, the commission made plans to work with the Larkspur Heritage Committee to draw up an historical landmark ordinance for the city which would preserve the exteriors of historical buildings.

Hub Principals Awarded 9.5 Pct. Salary Boosts

San Anselmo School District trustees last night granted a 9.5 per cent cost-of-living raise to district principals and the assistant superintendent. (Another San Anselmo schools story, page 1)

The salary raise will cost the district a total of $10,594 and will be retroactive to last July 1, Supt. Frank R. Elliott said today.

The school board also reduced principals' work year for 1975 by 12 days in lieu of greater salary increases, Elliott said. Rising costs and declining enrollment have left the district strapped for money.

Principals will work 205 instead of 217 days next year, he said.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

SPECIAL MEETING — Set a special meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Red Hill school to discuss and call for an election next year to increase spending per pupil.

ELECTION — Called an election for March 4 for three seats on the board of trustees.

MEETINGS — Cancelled regular meetings Nov. 28 and Dec. 26 because of holidays.

CREDIT — Approved a policy to allow teachers salary credit for completion of College of Marin courses with approval of the district unit evaluation committee.

TEACHING — Approved a policy to employ half-time teachers if beneficial to the district and to allow them half of regular health and welfare benefits.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Thursday at Red Hill School library.

Teaching Course Given Approval

Trustees of the Old Adobe Union School District in Petaluma last night authorized the district's participation in a proposed course to familiarize administrators with current teaching techniques.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the program must be approved by state education officials who would finance half its cost.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
NO. 21432

Estate of MAURICE F. PURCELL, also known as MAURICE FREDRICK PURCELL, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned will sell at private sale to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereafter mentioned and subject to confirmation by the Court, at 1050 Northgate Dr., #350, San Rafael, California, on Tuesday, December 3, 1974, at 10:00 a.m., or in the time thereafter allowed by law, all the right, title, and interest of decedent at the time of his death and all the right, title and interest that the estate has acquired other than that of decedent at the time of his death, in the following described personal property, in its present condition, without any representation or warranty of any kind, express or implied:

Shoe repair equipment, shoe repair supplies, and inventory of shoes located in "Purcell's Shoe Repair Shop", 54 Bolinas Ave., Fairfax, California.

Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing, and will be received at the law office of RUSSELL D. JONES, at 1050 Northgate Dr., Room 350, San Rafael, California, or may be filed with the clerk of the above-entitled Court, or delivered to the undersigned personally at any time after the publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: Cash; ten per cent (10%) of the purchase price to be paid at the time of presentation of bid and balance on confirmation of sale by the Court. Payment of escrow and transfer costs and of retail sales tax will be by the purchaser.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an order confirming the sale.

CALIFORNIA REGIONAL WATER QUALITY CONTROL BOARD SAN FRANCISCO BAY REGION
1111 Jackson Street
Oakland, CA 94607
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The following dischargers have filed a Report of Waste Discharge:

1. Richardson Bay Sanitary District, 500 Tiburon Blvd., Tiburon, for discharge of municipal wastewater from its treatment plant into Richardson Bay.

2. Sanitary District No. 1 of Marin County, Plant Avenue, Greenbrae, for discharge of domestic waste from its treatment plant into Corte Madera Creek.

3. Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District, Fort Baker Road, Sausalito, for discharge of domestic wastes from its treatment Plant into San Francisco Bay.

4. City of Mill Valley, 450 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, for discharge of municipal wastewater from its treatment Plant into Richardson Bay.

The discharges and the Regional Board's proposed waste discharge requirements (National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit) have been previously described in a Public Notice.

DATE: December 17, 1974
TIME: 9:30 A.M.
LOCATION: Assembly Room, State Office Building, 1111 Jackson Street, Oakland

Interested persons are invited to attend to express their views on the discharge. Oral statements will be heard, but, for the accuracy of the record, all important testimony should be submitted in writing prior to the hearing. Oral statements should be brief to allow all interested persons time to be heard.

The Report of Waste Discharge, related documents, fact sheets, the Board's proposed requirements and all comments received may be inspected and copied at the Regional Board Office, 1111 Jackson Street, Oakland, (phone 415-464-1255).

Please bring the foregoing to the attention of any persons known to you who would be interested in this matter.

OFFICIAL NOTICE INVITING BIDS FOR THE PURCHASE OF BONDS, EAST SAN RAFAEL DRAINAGE ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 2, CITY OF SAN RAFAEL, MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received by the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, located in the City Hall, 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P.M. on the 18th day of November, 1974, for the purchase of an estimated $472,826.89 principal amount of bonds for East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 2, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California. Said bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared at said time and place.

These bonds are authorized to be issued, and the assessments are authorized to be levied, under the provisions of Resolution of Intention No. 4509 of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, adopted on the 18th day of June, 1973, as later amended, and proceedings subsequent thereto. The Resolution of Intention, as amended, provides with relation to said bonds as follows:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that serial bonds to represent unpaid assessments and bearing interest at a rate of not to exceed eight per cent (8%) per annum shall be issued herein in the manner provided by Division 10 of the Streets and Highways Code, the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, the last installment of which bonds shall mature fourteen (14) years from the 2nd day of July next succeeding ten (10) months from their date.

MATURITIES AND AMOUNT OF BONDS: Said bonds will be in the estimated amount of $472,826.89. All bidders, however, by submission of a bid, agree to purchase the total amount of bonds that may be issued. Bids will be calculated and award will be made on the basis of the following maturities regardless of the exact amount of the bond issue. The exact amount of the issue will be determined by subtracting from the estimated amounts stated herein the amount of assessments paid in cash during the thirty (30) day cash payment period following recordation of the assessment. The estimated maturity schedule on the bonds will be as follows:

ESTIMATED MATURITY SCHEDULE

Bonds Maturing July 2	Amount Maturing
July 2, 1976	$ 5,826.89
July 2, 1977	10,000.00
July 2, 1978	25,000.00
July 2, 1979	36,000.00
July 2, 1980	36,000.00
July 2, 1981	36,000.00
July 2, 1982	36,000.00
July 2, 1983	36,000.00
July 2, 1984	36,000.00
July 2, 1985	36,000.00
July 2, 1986	36,000.00
July 2, 1987	36,000.00
July 2, 1988	36,000.00
July 2, 1989	36,000.00
July 2, 1990	36,000.00
TOTAL	$472,826.89

Note: It is is estimated that there will be approximately five $1,000 bonds maturing each year, with the balance of the bonds in $5,000 denominations.

DATE OF BONDS AND INTEREST RATE: Bonds are to be dated the 2nd day of January, 1975, and will bear interest from said date. Interest rate is fixed in the Resolution of Intention, as amended, at not to exceed eight per cent (8%) per annum. Such interest shall be evidenced by coupons attached to each bond, and each of said coupons shall represent six months' interest on the bond to which it is attached. The first coupon will be for interest from January 2, 1975 to January 2, 1976.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds are authorized to be issued by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, by Resolution of Intention No. 4509, as amended, and proceedings subsequent thereto. The purpose is for the construction of a storm drainage pumping station, the construction of a ponding area and the acquisition of necessary interests in real property required for said work. These improvements are within the boundaries of the assessment district designated, "East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 2, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California," and reference for details is made to the proceedings for the formation and completion of said assessment district.

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest are payable in lawful money of the United States at the office of the County Treasurer, Marin County, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

CALLABLE BONDS: All bonds are callable pursuant to the provisions of the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 twice each year. No bonds may be called except on July 2 or January 2 and there must be a sixty-day notice of call. Any bond called will have interest to date of call and a premium of five per cent (5%) of the principal amount.

AUTHORITY FOR ISSUANCE: Said bonds were authorized to be issued by the proceedings in said assessment district and said assessment district was organized and consummated under the provisions of the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and bonds provided to be issued under the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 of the State of California.

SECURITY: Said bonds are payable from the redemption fund provided by law which is secured by all of the unpaid assessments within the boundaries of said district. Said bonds are further secured by a limited guarantee on the part of the entity which issued said bonds. Under the provisions of the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, any real property on which the owners have failed to pay installments of assessments as they fall due is sold for delinquencies by the City in the same manner as real property is sold for delinquent taxes. It is the duty of the City of San Rafael to bid such property in at such tax sale. It then becomes the duty of the City to transfer to the Redemption Fund the amount of the purchase. In the event there is not sufficient money in the General Fund to transfer this amount into the Redemption Fund, it becomes the mandatory duty of the City to levy a tax up to 10 cents on each $100.00 of assessed valuation of property within the boundaries of the City of San Rafael sufficient in amount to pay for the delinquencies. It becomes the continuing duty of the City, throughout the life of the bond issue, to levy such a tax and to pay for the installments upon property sold to the City for delinquencies. The maximum levy which the City is obligated to make in any one year is 10 cents on each $100.00 of assessed valuation. The assessed valuation of all taxable real property in the City of San Rafael for the fiscal year 1974-75 is $225,889,062.00. Ten cents on the $100.00 would therefore raise, in the City of San Rafael, the sum of $225,889.00, which is more than sufficient to cover the maximum amount of principal and interest accruing in any one year of the bond issue if a ten cent (10c) levy should be necessary.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of the law firm of Sturgis, Den-Dulk, Douglass & Anderson, 1322 Webster Street, Oakland, California, 94612, approving the validity of said bonds will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge. In the opinion of Counsel, interest on the bonds is exempt from all federal income taxes, and from State of California personal income taxes, under presently existing statutes, regulations and court decisions, and the bonds are also exempt from all California taxes except inheritance, gift and franchise taxes.

HIGHEST BID: Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates not exceeding eight per cent (8%) per annum in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of one per cent (1%). Each bidder must specify in his bid the amount and maturities of the bonds of each rate and all bonds maturing on the same date must bear interest at the same rate. No bid may name more than four interest rates, any of which may be repeated. No rate may be more than one and one-half per cent (1½%) higher than the lowest rate named in the bid. The interest payable on any bond on any interest payment date may, however, be represented by one or more coupons. A zero rate cannot be named for all or any of the time from the date of the bond to its stated maturity and the premium, if any, must be paid in the funds specified for payment of the bonds as part of the purchase price. No bid of less than 93% of par and accrued interest or for less than all of the bonds offered will be entertained. Unless all bids are rejected, the bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose proposal results in the lowest net interest cost to the issuer, and the net interest cost will be determined by deducting the amount of any premium paid from or adding the amount of any discount to the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds from their date until their respective maturities.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: The City of San Rafael reserves the right at its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The City of San Rafael will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than forty-eight (48) hours after expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the City Treasurer, City Hall, 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, as soon as the bonds can be prepared, but not earlier than the date of said bonds. Successful bidder, by making a bid, agrees to pay for and take delivery of the bonds within forty-eight (48) hours after notification by City that the bonds are ready for delivery, but bidder is not obligated to take delivery earlier than the date of the bonds. The successful bidder shall have the right at his option to cancel his offer to purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 45 days from the date of the bonds.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds herein offered for sale. Each bid, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael, and endorsed "Proposal for Bonds, East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 2, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000.00, drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the City of San Rafael to secure the City of San Rafael from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Check of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by mail upon the award of bonds. Check of successful bidder will be credited upon the purchase price of the bonds, and no interest will be paid upon the deposit of any successful bidder. Check of the successful bidder will be forfeited to City if the bidder fails to pay for and take delivery of the bonds within the time provided for in this notice as liquidated damages.

NO LITIGATION CERTIFICATE: The City of San Rafael will furnish to the successful bidder, at the time of the delivery of the bonds, a no-litigation certificate, certifying that there is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the bonds.

DATED: November 4, 1974

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Husband Is Not Quite Himself Following Promotion And Move

Mrs. J. B. from Hartford, Conn., writes: "My husband accepted a promotion that necessitated our moving to another state. Financially and socially it was an excellent move, and we love the new area we're in. Our neighbors have been wonderful, and the children seem quite content. All the members of our family were getting along beautifully until I suddenly realized that John was not quite himself.

"He began to have regrets and second thoughts about the change he had made. What complicated the situation was that his new assignment was not as rewarding as he thought it would be.

"HE'S SO depressed and easily agitated that his work is suffering. Our physician suggested psychiatric counseling and hospitalization, but John flatly refuses. The brooding, depression and loss of self-esteem have become so bad, I'm afraid he might attempt suicide. Do you think forcing him to see a psychiatrist would be a dangerous move?"

No, I do not. You must take the bull by the horns and insist that he see a psychiatrist. Hospitalization may not be needed if outpatient care can be arranged.

To a great extent, most of us are creatures of habit. And comfortable niches are hard to give up.

Rigidity, the inability to change or roll with the punches, is one of the most common reasons for a depression. By all means, get him to a psychiatrist as soon as possible and use whatever tactics you feel necessary. Only a professional can determine the source of your husband's anxiety.

THE OUTLOOK for middle-life depression usually is good. But watch out if your husband makes a sudden recovery. This is a dangerous sign because it often means that the person has decided to commit suicide. It is a situation that could be described as the lull before the storm.

Your husband's experience is not unusual. Anyone who has changed jobs knows that feeling of uncertainty are part of doing something different. New assignments mean new friends, new ways of doing things and new responsibilities. Adjustments take time even when the person is not depressed.

Perhaps your husband's new duties are beyond his ability. As business pressures mount, so do the feelings of guilt, inadequacy and insecurity.

Try to convince your husband that psychiatrists have the necessary tools to dispel severe melancholia. Reassurance can go a long way. If you and he have any marital problems, put them on the shelf for the time being.

POSTNASAL DRIP

F. R. writes: Could my cigarette smoking be causing postnasal drip?

REPLY

BEER, WEIGHT

A reader writes: How much would a person gain in a year if he drank a bottle of beer every day?

REPLY

One bottle of beer contains about 173 calories and it takes 3,500 unused calories to gain a pound. If this person eats just enough to maintain the same weight, that daily bottle of brew would add approximately 17 pounds a year.

SURGICAL INFECTION

REPLY

Not always, but when an infection does occur, staphylococci frequently are responsible.

STILL'S DISEASE

Mrs. R.O. writes: Does Still's disease cause fever for long periods of time?

REPLY

Yes. In this form of rheumatoid arthritis, which affects children, the victim's temperature often reaches 105 degrees Fahrenheit daily for months. Spinal involvement is common.

Farm Bureau Hits Land Use Planning

FRESNO (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation "is opposed to land use planning" unless it is locally controlled, said Leonard H. Johnson, assistant director.

Boston Boxes Porno Houses

BOSTON (UPI) — The city Zoning Commission has given its blessing to what may be the first zoning amendment in the nation aimed at adult entertainment.

The commission amendment forbids adult entertainment except in the Combat Zone, a two-block area where X-rated movie houses, strip joints and adult magazine stores now flourish.

An aide confirmed that Bradley, 80, was discharged from the UCLA Medical Center Wednesday.

ABC Plans 7 Midseason Replacements

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC Television Network says it will put seven new programs on the air early next year as midseason replacements for two series already cancelled and four others that will be cancelled.

On Oct. 9 the network said it was cancelling "The Texas Wheelers" and "Kodiak."

On Wednesday ABC added to the list "The New Land," "Paper Moon," "Nakis," and "The Sonny Comedy Revue," starring Sonny Bono.

All are first-season programs that premiered on ABC last September. CBS and NBC each already have cancelled two new series and are expected to announce more cancellations and midseason changes later this week.

ABC said its six new midseason series are:

"Toma," a new version of the hour-long police series ABC cancelled last after the star, Tony Musante, asked out of the show. The new version stars Robert Blake, starts Jan. 1 and will appear Friday nights.

"Saturday Night At the Movies," two hours of films which will start on Jan. 11.

"Hotel Baltimore," a half-hour Thursday night comedy series produced by Norman Lear and concerning life in a gone-to-seed hotel. Premiering on Jan. 16, it will be followed on that date by:

"Laren," another half-hour comedy which stars Karen Valentine as a single career girl in Washington, D.C.

"Barney Miller," starting on Jan. 19, a half-hour New York police comedy series that will be aired Sunday nights and star Hal Linde.

"S.W.A.T." a one-hour Monday night series about a "special weapons and tactical team" on the police force of a large city. It starts Feb. 17.

"Caribe," also premiering on that date, is another hour-long police series that is set in Miami and stars Stacey Keach.

Breast Smear Test Developed

BERKELEY (UPI) — University of California scientists are developing a "breast pap smear" which they hope will expose cancerous tumors before they can be felt or found by instruments.

The method, still in its experimental stage, is patterned after the widely known cervical pap test.

Researchers Adeline J. Hackett and Gertrude C. Buehring described the method yesterday as the removal of small mounts of breast fluid, followed by a microscope analysis of fluid cells.

The test will be evaluated in the coming weeks with samples taken from women donors at Peralta Hospital in Oakland.

Pioneer Speeds Toward Jupiter

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — Pioneer 11 sped within 11 million miles of Jupiter yesterday with all systems "working perfectly," scientists reported.

The spacecraft, already inside the orbit of the gaseous Jupiter's four outer moons, is heading for a Dec. 2 flyby of the brightly banded planet.

John Muir Film Slated On Sunday

A feature-length film entitled "John Muir's High Sierra" will be shown Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Fine Arts Theater at College of Marin.

Producer Dewitt Jones of Bolinas will be on hand to narrate, giving his own observations and reading from the journals of Muir, the famed 19th-century explorer of the area.

Film footage was taken in all four seasons, and includes time-lapse photography of summer storms, backpacking in the high country, a winter ski tour to 12,000-foot-high Muir Pass, and a two-day climb of the 2,200 foot sheer south face of Washington's Column in Yosemite Valley.

The performance is sponsored by the Golden Gate Geographic Society. Admission is $3.25 for adults and $2 for students.

Former Newspaper Publisher Is Dead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Francis M. (Jack) Flynn, former president, publisher and chairman of the board of the New York News, died today after a short illness. He was 71.

Flynn suffered a heart attack on Oct. 26 while visiting friends in Elkton, Md. He died in New York Hospital.

DESPITE LOW RATINGS

'Night Stalker' Escapes The Ax

NEW YORK (AP) — If you tune to ABC-TV tonight at 10 p.m., you'll see a small, battered hat moving briskly around Chicago. Beneath the hat is actor Darren McGavin.

He plays Carl Kolchak, a brash, disheveled reporter working for a Chicago wire service in a series called "The Night Stalker." He specializes, to his boss's dismay, in bizarre stories.

While the ratings say this show wasn't watched by many viewers, it still escaped cancellation this week when ABC announced its midseason program changes. Which is good fortune, indeed.

"Night Stalker" has a lot of verve and rancid charm and should be seen at least once by everyone. Tonight is as good a night as any.

Tonight's saga concerns a state Senate candidate whom we soon learn is young, terrifyingly ambitious, wants to be president and has sold his soul to the devil for quick political success at any cost.

The deal lets him transform himself into a vicious dog, making his race the first in which voters could throw the candidate a bone.

Kolchak starts sniffing all this out while puzzling over the mysterious deaths of key opposition figures and the demise of the candidate's campaign manager. The last gets his in a 4-floor elevator crash in which the only survivor is a vicious dog.

Kolchak's interest heightens when the candidate fails to show up at a public TV station to debate the incumbent. The station cancels the debate and announces that "Musical Holiday," starring Alice Faye and John Payne, will be shown instead.

He finally tracks down the rascal at home that evening, but gets no interview. He instead gets attacked by a vicious dog, which rips the coat pocket of his rumpled drip-dry suit.

His crusty bureau chief Simon Oakland dismisses Kochak's theory that the potential senator is owned and operated by the devil.

But the rascal, Carl cries in frustration, "is evil incarnate and he's going to go all the way to the White House!" He later mutters, "That's the trouble with this country. Nobody cares."

Fortunately, the republic is saved by this probing reporter, but you'll have to watch tonight's show to find out how.

Mosquito District Moves On Its Plans For Sonoma

Annexation of 340 square miles in central Sonoma County to the Marin Mosquito Abatement District has been completed and the district will begin to administer the area next July 1, Dist. Mgr. Allan D. Telford said yesterday.

The annexed area covers the entire Central Sonoma Valley and includes the major population center of Santa Rosa, Cotati and Rohnert Park. Portions of southern Sonoma County, including Petaluma, are already in the district.

Telford said that the district will hire at least four new operators to cover the area and will need to add some equipment or buildings to its Sonoma County operation.

He said that the district might move its headquarters from San Rafael to Petaluma.

"We will have to decide whether it would be more efficient to have a substation there or to move headquarters," Telford said. The district already owns property in Petaluma.

Telford said the district board will begin to consider plans for the new area after the first of the year. Half of the board members' terms expire Dec. 31.

Loane Working For His Points

Loane, a young man who did his place kicking for Drake High School and College of Marin before transferring to the San Luis Obispo school two years ago, has made only four of 14 field goal tries this season.

JOHN LOANE

For one who has been nominated for the Shrine East-West game next month, that doesn't sound like all-star figures. But when you consider the distance of his tries, there's room for forgiving.

John has made good on kicks of 30, 32, 40 and 33 yards. His 10 misses have come from 54, 40, 49, 52, 41, 49, 55, 43, 45 and 50 yards. There are no cheap shots when you span 40 to 55 yards.

Last year Loane made seven field goals ranging from 24 to 52 yards and missed only three, attempts from 52, 47 and 54 yards out. From 40 yards in, Loane has missed just once in nine attempts his two years at Cal Poly.

He has been excellent in his extra point kicks. His consecutive conversion string went to 37 before being snapped. Loane's chief tutor is Gordon Tovani of San Rafael, the dean of the barefooted place kickers. And no, Loane wears football shoes when he does his thing.

VOLLEYBALL, ANYONE? The people from Mt. Tam Racquet Club in Larkspur have promised top-flight volleyball Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in Marin Catholic High School's gym. The club has sponsored a local team to challenge the Underground Construction team of Concord.

A women's match between teams from the Oakland YMCA and Hayward State will start the evening off. The Oakland team is ranked seventh in the nation and, according to Mt. Tam spokesman Gray Buetzow, all four teams are in the Northern California Double A Class, one step below the Olympic level.

Ticket cost is $1 and the Mt. Tam Racquet Club will donate the proceeds to Marin Aid To Retarded Children to help that agency's involvement in the Special Olympics for handicapped youngsters.

NEW APPROACH to sports movement has hit Sonoma State College. There will be a workshop at Hamilton Air Force Base on Friday, Nov. 22, 6 to 10 p.m., and Saturday, Nov. 23, 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The workshop is called "Personal and Interpersonal Awareness Through Sports," and is worth one unit of credit by the school's continuing education division.

Co-leaders of the class are Dr. Stan Goertzen and Don de Groot, psychologists and sports teaching professionals. Part of the workshop will include demonstrations by nationally-ranked marathon runner Mike Spino and tennis pro Dyvcke Spino.

"These two guests will show how one can do better in any sport through new psycho-physical tools utilizing endurance, strength, flexibility, sensing and inner space," said de Groot.

"We will use such diverse orientations as running, Aikido, sensitivity work, guided daydreams, Yoga, Zen and others which offer approaches that enhance 'the game' as well as the cognitive and conscious-raising aspects of individuals," said Goertzen.

As they say at times such as this: Far out, man.

Aaron Welcomed Back To Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Home run king Henry Aaron is a Milwaukee ballplayer again, at least for two years under a "playing contract" he signed yesterday. But he could be a Brewer "for many years to come," Club president Allan (Bud) Selig said.

"We expect Henry to have a very, very long relationship with us," Selig said at a news conference reintroducing Aaron to the local media after his nine-year absence.

Selig had been asked whether Aaron, who will be 41 on Feb. 5, was in line for a top administrative job with the Brewers after the "playing contract" expired.

Selig said "nothing specific" had been discussed regarding Aaron's career two years hence, but it was easy enough to read between the lines of his lengthy answer.

The Brewers don't have a general manager and it's no secret that Aaron would love to become the first black GM in major league baseball.

But for the time being, Aaron will concentrate on increasing his home run total of 733. Brewers field manager Del Crandall — a teammate of Aaron's during the Braves' heyday here in the 1950s — said Aaron would be used "primarily as a designated hitter but at times will be called on to play the field."

"This is a tremendous challenge to me," said Aaron, who broke into major league baseball with the Milwaukee Braves in 1954. "This is a new league, one I'm unfamiliar with. I feel I'll have more responsibility than I've ever had in my career. The main thing is to help bring a championship back to the city I love so dearly.

"I played under tremendous pressure last season and I didn't want that season to be my last. I'm better than a .268 hitter."

Aaron, who admitted he has slowed down in recent years, hit only 20 home runs last season — his lowest total since he hit 13 in his rookie year. He said the pressure and publicity he received after breaking Babe Ruth's record of 714 career homers prevented him from concentrating fully on playing ball.

"I consider last year not a typical Henry Aaron year," he said. "I'd like to come back and hit 30 or 35 home runs next season."

The Brewers obtained Aaron from Atlanta for outfielder Dave May and a minor league player in a deal agreed to Nov. 2.

Selig said the agreement was "an extraordinary contract for an extraordinary player," but he would not divulge whether the slugger was getting the reported $200,000 a year he got at Atlanta.

"We are delighted to have the

WANNA FIGHT?

FIRST FOAL BORN

Secretariat A Dad

WINONA, Minn. (UPI) — Triple crown winner Secretariat's first foal was born early this morning.

A red chestnut colt was born at Sahaptin Farm in Winona, Minn., the product of the mating of the Prince of Thoroughbreds and an Appaloosa brood mare named Leola.

John Nankivil, owner of the colt, said there is no way of calculating the value of a stud colt with classic Appaloosa markings and carrying Secretariat's characteristics.

Nankivil described the horse, which was between 100-125 pounds, as a huge leggy colt with a white blaze on his face and three white socks like his father. He also carried the Appaloosa white blanket on his rump and vertically striped hooves.

Dr. Tom Tischer, 26, a veterinarian from the University of Minnesota who attended the birth, said it was normal and rapid, lasting 12 minutes. He said he expected a normal growth process in the animal.

Nankivil, business manager at St. Mary's College in Winona, bought Leola from Claiborne Farms in Kentucky where she was used to nurse thoroughbred horses. He sold shares in the Appaloosa's expected colt to 20 investors who now have the right to bring one mare a year to be bred with the new horse.

Leola, who was born in Pecos, Tex., was sired by a registered Appaloosa named Yellow House on a North Dakota Indian Reservation.

Secretariat's son, the first colt born of the 36 mares he bred last year, was expected to make great contributions to the Appaloosa breed.

He's Kind To His Linemen

OAKLAND (UPI) — Every time the San Diego Chargers win, quarterback Dan Fouts buys his offensive linemen dinners.

It must work out well because the young signal-caller has been dropped only 10 times in nine games going into Sunday's battle at the Coliseum against an Oakland team which has won eight games in a row.

Although Fouts has only had to pick up the mammoth tab for the heavy-eating crew three times this season, he has shelled out the last two weeks after wins over Cleveland and Kansas City and would love to make it three in a row.

"They're close as a unit and that is what it takes," says Charger line coach Howard Mudd, a former San Francisco 49er star, of his offensive wall.

Oakland defensive tackle Art Thoms called Charger starter Carl Mauck "the best center I've played against" after the Raiders squeaked to a 14-10 win in the teams' first meeting.

Tackle Russ Washington was voted Most Valuable Player on the Chargers' 2-11-1 team last year while veteran Ira Gordon has filled in well for the departing perennial all-star Walt Sweeney.

Guard Doug Wilkerson, a 256-pound acquisition from Houston, has been compared to Oakland star Gene Upshaw.

Sunday's game won't be televised because some 1,200 tickets remained to be sold as of 1 p.m. yesterday.

49ERS' NOLAN

Kind Words Don't Help

CHICAGO (UPI) — After both Oakland and Dallas won squeakers from San Francisco, members of both teams praised the 49ers for being stronger than their 2-7 record would indicate.

"No matter how nicely it was put," says Coach Dick Nolan, "we still lost. I would much rather hear that we are lousy in winning."

But the 49ers find themselves a narrow pick for Sunday's game at Chicago. The Bears are 3-6, but have not scored a touchdown in 15 quarters although their defense is a ferocious one.

If the 49ers are to break their seven-game losing streak, it will probably be through the air. The Bears are tough on the run and San Francisco's top offensive lineman, guard Woody Peoples, will be sidelined another week.

The other starting guard, John Watson, apparently will be ready for the Bears after missing last Sunday's game. Jean Barrett and Bob Penchion will share Peoples spot.

The 49ers made only 65 yards, including a 25-yard quarterback scramble, on the ground against Dallas.

Rookie Tom Owen, 10 of 18 against Dallas, will get the starting nod with Steve Spurrier, out all season with a shoulder separation, ready to move in should Owen falter.

HENDERSON ROLLS FIFTH 300 GAME

Henderson, 37, got the perfect score in the first of three games, and followed it with a 222 and 211 for a series total of 733. Every shot in the 300 game was in the 1-3 pocket.

A 196-average bowler, Henderson got his last perfect score nearly a year ago, and his first in August of 1971. Three of the previous games were at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael, the other at Castle Lanes in San Francisco. The latter was the only one not sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress.

Villaflor, Lunny In Technical Draw

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A severe cut over the left eye of world junior lightweight champ Ben Villaflor resulted in a technical draw last night in his scheduled 10-round nontitle bout with unbeaten Ray Lunny III of Redwood City.

State Boxing Commission physician Don Lastretto examined Villaflor after the sixth round and ruled the champ was in no shape to continue after receiving the accidental cut.

Under California state boxing laws, a bout terminated in accidental injury is ruled a victory for the fighter who is hurt if he is ahead at the time, and otherwise called a technical draw.

One official had each fighter ahead and the third the two men even at the time of the accident.

Villaflor, 131¾, a Filipino now fighting out of Honolulu, dropped Lunny, 133, momentarily in the second round but Lunny came back to stun Villaflor in the second and the action was even the rest of the way.

When the bout was halted, Villaflor's corner expressed dismay both that the fight had been stopped and that the champ was not ahead on all three cards.

Terra Linda Wins Class C

Terra Linda High School won the Marin County Athletic League C basketball title yesterday, finishing the season with a 53-25 win over San Rafael.

John Flook scored 12 points to pace the Trojans, who finished with a 7-1 record.

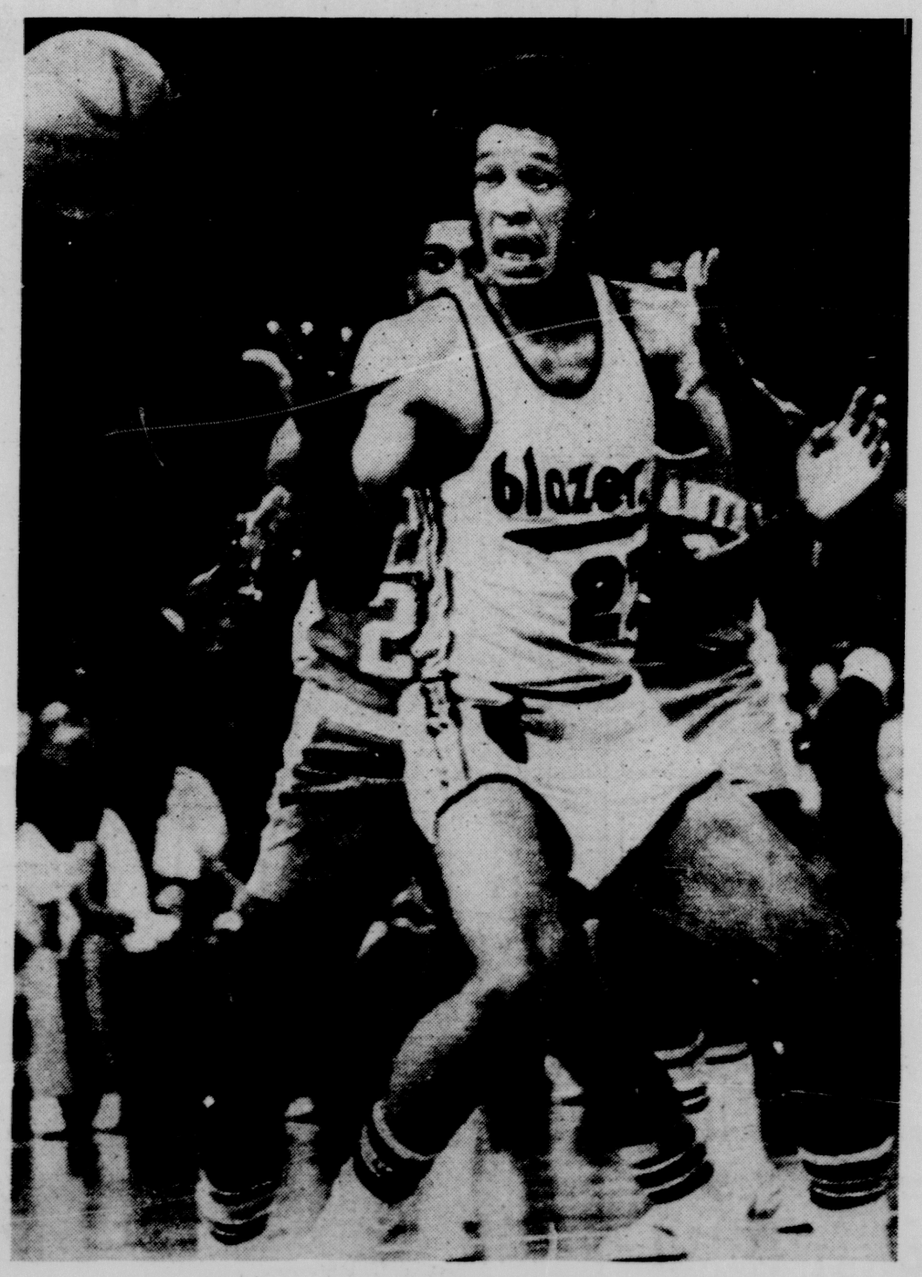
Redwood also beat Marin Catholic in class B, 61-27. Kevin Dowd and Pete Silen had 13 points each for the Giants.

San Rafael Rec Cage Officials

The San Rafael Recreation Department is accepting applications for men officials in the Rec Adult Basketball League.

League play begins Dec. 2 and concludes March 1. Pay runs from $15 to $18 per night with each official working three games per evening. Interested persons should contact Ralph Dannenberg, recreation supervisor, at the Recreation Department, 1400 Fifth Avenue.



GOOD HANDS

No Decision Reached On Grid Question

The athletic department of Marin Catholic High School met yesterday to discuss the possibility of its football program rejoining the Marin County Athletic League next year, but no decision was reached.

Athletic Director David Gonsalves said the official decision will be made by the administrators of the Kentfield school Nov. 26.

Heavyweight Smith Wins On Decision

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — California heavyweight champion Howard Smith, 204½, Los Angeles, settled for a 10-round unanimous decision win over Raul Gorsito, 205, New York, at the Olympic Auditorium last night.

Smith won 9-1, 7-1 and 7-1 on the three officials' scorecards but failed to put his clever opponent down. He registered his 20th victory in 21 starts.

Gorsito's record fell to 19-7.

Celtics Hurting Without Cowens

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Tom Heinsohn asked, "who would you rather be without, Dave Cowens or Ernie DiGregorio?"

The answer, last night at least, was Ernie DiGregorio.

The Boston Celtics, as they have all year, played without Cowens, recovering from a broken foot. The Buffalo Braves were playing minus Ernie D., out with torn cartilage in his knee, and doing very nicely, thank you.

The truth is Buffalo has enough horses to gallop without their 6-1 playmaker from Providence College while Boston shows time and again its inability to handle a good-shooting, mobile center when Cowens is not available.

"We've been playing good basketball since we lost Ernie," said Braves Coach Jack Ramsay after the win that gave Buffalo a 2½-game lead over Boston in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division.

"We've beaten a lot of good teams both at home and on the road. When Ernie was injured, I told my players to concentrate on the things that will help them win, like playing better defense," Ramsay said. "We won't score as many points and we'll miss his ball handling, so we have to distribute those things among other players and they all have done a good job."

The defense paid off in the second half when the Braves shut down Boston's fast break. Trailing 62-59 midway into the third period, the Braves struck for eight unanswered points and never relented.

"They played well, we played well but they got the key baskets and we didn't," said Celtic Coach Heinsohn, whose team lost for the second time in seven games. "We did well on the boards (winning the rebound battle 62-55) but we didn't get any points inside."

Knicks 94 Cavs 89

Earl Monroe poured in 21 of his 26 points in the second half as he took advantage of Cleveland guard Austin Carr's foul trouble to spark New York's victory. Carr picked up his fifth foul midway through the third period and sat out most of the second half, scoring 11 points. Dick Snyder replaced him and shot the Cavs back into a tie with five straight jumpers after they trailed by eight after three quarters. Snyder finished with 20 points.

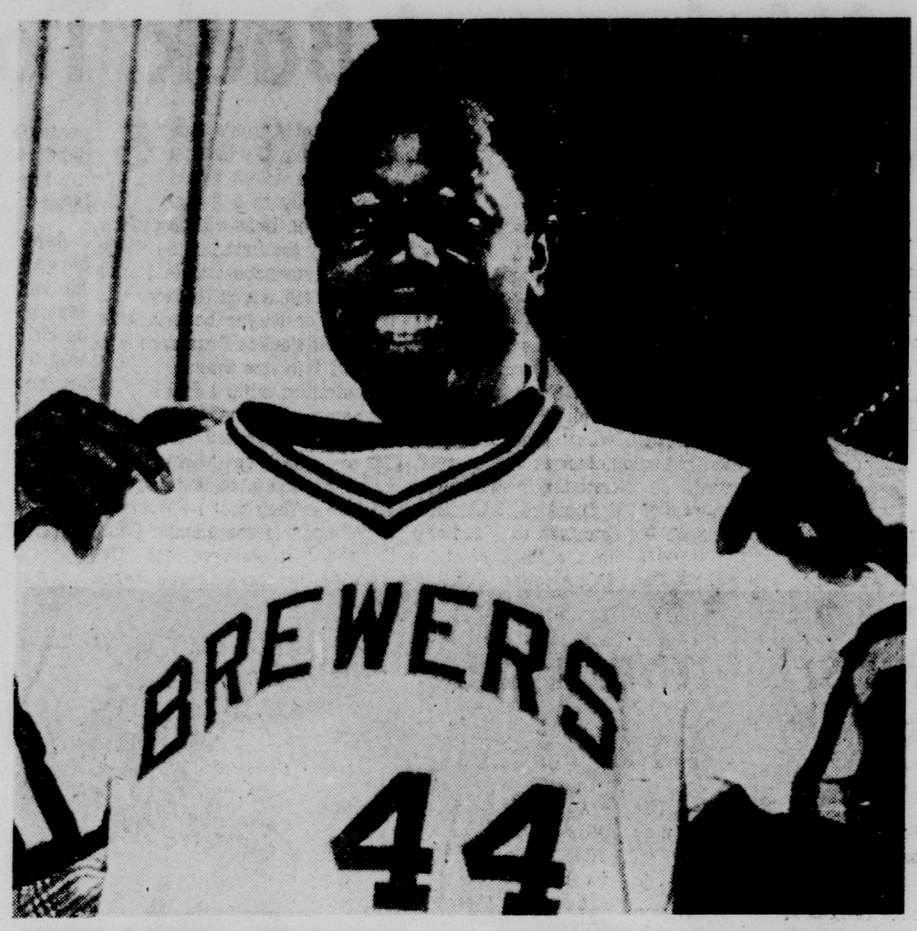
Rockets 105 Bulls 96

Zaid Abdul-Aziz sank two free throws with 2:44 left to give Houston the final lead in its first win over Chicago in almost three years. Chicago's Chet Walker scored 33 points while teammate Jerry Sloan had 21. Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 24 points.

Blazers 104 Hawks 92

A 12-point explosion by John Johnson midway through the third period sparked the Blazers past Atlanta. Johnson, scoreless in the first half, scored 12 straight points in a two-minute span to increase a six-point lead to 14. He scored 17 in the period and added a career high 16 rebounds as he ended with 19 points. Rookie John Drew scored 31 for Atlanta.

Portland played without rookie center Bill Walton in the second half after he dislocated his little finger on the left hand. He was taken to a local hospital for X-rays to determine the extent of the injury. Geoff Petrie led Portland with 22 points.



HOME AGAIN — Hank Aaron, all-time major league home run king, held up his new uniform yesterday during a press conference in Milwaukee. Aaron began his big league career in that city before the Braves moved to Atlanta. (UPI Telephoto)

Bondurant Wins NorCal Honors

Bob Bondurant of Terra Linda, who rescued Sears Point Raceway and brought championship events back to the Bay Area, was named Motorsportsman of the Year yesterday by the Northern California Motor Sports Press Association.

Bondurant, a retired international road racer, became associated with the Sonoma County track in the fall of last year when he moved his nationally famous school for high performance driving there from Ontario Motor Speedway in southern California.

Earlier this year Bondurant took over as manager at Sears Point, which had a rocky three-year history of financial trouble and inactivity. By drawing top talent and national point races, he has managed to keep the course open.

AARON

greatest baseball player of our generation," Selig said. "He brings class and dignity back with him to Milwaukee."

Lee MacPhail, American League president, also was on hand and recalled how he goofed when he didn't act fast enough to sign Aaron to a New York Yankee contract in 1952. He said Aaron's return to Milwaukee "is a great day for the American League."

All of Aaron's home runs have been hit with the National League Braves — 398 with Milwaukee and 335 with Atlanta. He has a lifetime batting average of .310.

"I'm not here to be a batting instructor, but I'll give advice if I'm asked," he said. "I hope some of the things I've learned in 21 years will rub off on the young players here."

WFL's Birmingham Team Evicted From Its Motel

Combined AP & UPI

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A motel chain threw the World Football League Birmingham Americans out on the street yesterday because the team could not pay its bills.

The Americans also revealed they had not paid their players for five weeks nor their coaches and staff in two weeks.

Team officials said the offices in the motel were used for the coaching staff and were not the team's corporate offices.

The team's coaches set up a temporary office at Legion Field and waited for the return of club owner Bill Putnam. Putnam has been in New York trying to borrow money for the team.

Earlier this week, the state attached the club's bank account and the gate receipts from the Birmingham-Shreveport game Wednesday night.

More Football

FOXBORO, Mass. — The New England Patriots yesterday signed free agent Dave Chapple and said the fourth-year punter will play Sunday against the New York Jets.

Chapple, released by the Los Angeles Rams after the sixth game of the season, was signed after a one-day tryout with New England. He had a career punting average of 42.3 yards per kick going into the season but punted for just a 35.4-yard average this year with Los Angeles.

BURLINGTON, Vt. — The University of Vermont football coach has vowed to fight efforts to end intercollegiate football at the university, but the school's president said he is confident the trustees would agree to end the program.

"We're certainly not going to let them destroy the football program without a fight," coach Carl Falivene said yesterday after president Edward C. Andrews Jr. announced his decision to end the 77-year-old program as part of a $1.5 million budget reduction.

HONOLULU — James Phelan, who was the head football coach at the University of Washington for a dozen seasons and a player at Notre Dame under Knute Rockne from 1915 through 1917, died at Queen's Medical Center yesterday. He was 81.

Phelan entered the hospital last Saturday and suffered a heart attack Tuesday.

SPORTS SHORTS

Baseball

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Hal McRae, who followed a lackluster 1973 season with .310 hitting in 1974, today was named the Kansas City Royals' player of the year.

McRae, a unanimous choice of the Kansas City chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, led the Royals' hitting all season long and finished third in the final American League batting statistics.

Bowling

CHICAGO — Southpaw Johnny Petraglia won seven of eight match games and picked up a 1,743 pin fall to take a sizeable lead in the first round of head-to-head play in the $100,000 Brunswick World Open bowling tournament.

Petraglia, of Brooklyn N.Y., who hasn't captured the title in two years, led by 222 pins with 16 more match games to go in the semifinals today. Five finalists will meet in tomorrow's nationally televised windup.

Golf

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Dale Hayes of South Africa fired a five-under-par 56, a course record, to take a three-stroke second-round lead with a 133 in the $50,000 South Africa Professional Golfers Association Championship.

RABAT, Morocco — American Billy Casper led the $85,000 International Grand Prix Tournament by one stroke with a 36-hole total of 140.

Tennis

BOMBAY, India — American John Andrews reached the semifinals of the $50,000 Grand Prix Tennis Tournament with a 7-6, 6-2 upset over Spain's Manuel Santana.

LONDON — Giullermo Vilas of Argentina edged Manuel Orantes of Spain 6-1, 6-7, 7-6 and moved into the semifinals of a $75,000 Indoor Tennis Tournament.

Stillwell Suffering From Pneumonia

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Stanford defensive end Roger Stillwell has developed a minor case of pneumonia and was listed as doubtful today for Saturday's game at Oregon.

Several Stanford players have had flu this week but are expected to be ready for the Ducks.

GOLF NOTES

Spina's Eagle Is Difference

Ray Spina knocked in an eagle on the third hole Sunday to propel himself and Max Oncina to a one-up victory in the championship of the 15th annual Rosehill Tournament at Indian Valley Golf Club.

Spina used an eight iron from 125 yards out on the par five, 475-yard hole for his eagle which put his team ahead of Roger Lefler and Gordon Findley.

Thirty teams of two competed in the five-week tourney.

Frosh Football Crown To Drake

Drake High School defeated San Rafael, 20-6 yesterday to win the Marin County Athletic League freshman football championship.

Danny Eichenbaum sparked the victory by running 75 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. He also threw a touchdown pass of 40 yards to Chris Chapman. The other Drake score came on a nine yard pass from Bill Cuneo to Chapman.

Both teams had three wins and a loss going into the game.

USC Continues Its Bid For Roses

By The Associated Press

The Southern California Trojans and UCLA Bruins try to maintain a collision course tomorrow in the Pacific-8 Conference race to the Rose Bowl.

Meanwhile, the Stanford Cardinals and the California Golden Bears try to keep up their darkhorse hopes for the Pac-8 crown.

The nationally eighth-ranked Trojans, 4-0-1 in the Pac-8, entertain the Huskies, 2-3, in Los Angeles, while the 3-1-1 Bruins are at Oregon State, 2-3. USC and UCLA collide Nov. 23, although a Trojan victory over Washington coupled with UCLA defeat at Corvallis would eliminate the Bruins.

Stanford, 3-1-1, is at 0-5 Oregon, and the Cardinals could be in the thick of it if USC and UCLA falter. But Stanford's 34-10 defeat to Southern Cal last week means the Trojans would win the trip to Pasadena New Year's Day for the seventh time in the last nine years if USC and Stanford wind up tied for the title.

California, 3-1-1, also has a mathematical chance to win the title, but the 19th-ranked Bears, still on NCAA probation, are ineligible for the Rose Bowl. They host 1-4 Washington State.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, San Diego State wrapped up the league championship with a 37-9 victory over Pacific last Saturday night, and the Aztecs, 6-2 overall, host 2-6-1 New Mexico State Saturday night in a non-league game.

In other PCAA action, San Jose State, 6-3-1, is at Fullerton State, 4-5, Pacific, 5-5, is at Wyoming, 2-7, Wichita State, 1-7-1, at Fresno State, 4-6, and Western Michigan, 3-7, at Long Beach State, 4-5.

"Our players realize they could, should and must win to go anywhere New Year's Day," said USC Coach John McKay, whose defense has given up only 81 points in eight games.

Anthony Davis, USC's senior tailback who ran for two touchdowns and passed for another at Stanford, needs 157 yards to pass O. J. Simpson as the No. 1 all-time rusher at USC.

"We know that we're going up against the team which is expected to win the conference title," said Washington Coach Jim Owens, "and it's going to take everything within our power to stay with them."

Has Southern Cal Sun Already Set?

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The Southern California Sun may have set.

Since winning the World Football League Western Division title five weeks ago, the Sun has lost three out of four, including a 27-24 setback to the Florida Blazers last night.

Now Southern California, 13-7, goes against the Hawaiians in a WFL playoff opener on national TV here next Thursday night.

Florida, the WFL East champ with a 14-6 record, hosts the Charlotte Hornets at Orlando next Wednesday night.

"We should have gotten that punt off," said Sun Coach Tom Fears. "There's no reason why we shouldn't have. After the runback, they wouldn't have had time to run a play."

Something At Stake Tonight For Seals

OAKLAND (UPI) — There is actually something at stake tonight when the Toronto Maple Leafs call on the California Golden Seals, who despite their 3-10-4 record still have only lost one game at home.

Thus Toronto, whose 4-7-3 mark for 11 points, and the Seals, with 10 points, apparently will battle all season long for one playoff spot. Each game between them means a four-point swing.

Should the Seals win two straight, it would be the first time since Feb. 6 and Feb. 8 of last season.

NHL ROUNDUP

Goalies Dryden, Lopresti In Special Kind Of Night

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

In terms of both notoriety and accomplishment, Ken Dryden and Pete Lopresti stand more than an ice rink apart. But the two goaltenders shared a special sense of accomplishment last night.

Dryden, making a comeback after sitting out all of last season, enjoyed what he termed "my most satisfying win so far this year" when he helped the Montreal Canadiens gain a 4-1 victory at Boston. Dryden, who has yet to show the consistent form that carried the Canadiens to two Stanley Cup championships before he left the club over a contract dispute, turned aside 39 Bruin shots.

The victory was particularly significant for Dryden since the night before he had been bombed for eight goals in his own arena by the Buffalo Sabres.

"I've had better spots in the games we've won against Toronto and Philadelphia," Dryden said. "But coming in and beating Boston like this is the high point of the year."

Lopresti didn't have as much to show for his night's work in Buffalo as the Sabres beat him and the Minnesota North Stars, 5-3. However, it was his first start in the National Hockey League and thus will remain a landmark for him.

The previous night, on Wednesday, Lopresti had been watching the scoreboard as Buffalo rolled up the score on Montreal, and that didn't exactly put him in the best frame of mind.

"When I saw they got eight goals on Ken Dryden in Montreal, all I could think about was 'what can they do at home,'" said the 20-year-old native of Virginia, Minn.

Lopresti didn't fare too poorly against the Sabres, who stretched their unbeaten string to 10 games. He allowed four goals, the fifth coming after he was pulled from the net for an extra skater in the final minute of play.

They were the only two games played in the NHL.

Canadiens 4, Bruins 1

Guy Lafleur scored two goals for Montreal and Guy Lapointe and Jacques Lemaire had one each. The victory lifted the Canadiens to within four points of first-place Los Angeles in Division 3.

Sabres 5, North Stars 3

Rick Martin scored two power play goals in the second period to give Buffalo a 4-2 lead. Jude Drouin cut Minnesota's deficit in half with his first goal of the season in the third period but Danny Gare scored into an empty net with six seconds left to clinch the game.

The Sabres boosted their lead over runnerup Boston to nine points in Division 4 and Buffalo Coach Floyd Smith said, "If anybody had told me we'd have that lead at this time, I wouldn't have believed him."

Tennis Classes In Fairfax

Taught by local instructor Don Pruitt, the classes meet one hour per week for eight weeks. Cost is $10.

Warner Teams In Bowl Games

Marin-Sonoma Junior Football Conference champions will play in two post-season Pop Warner bowl games. First game is Sunday, 1 p.m.

At that time, the San Marin Broncos will meet the Napa Chargers in pee wee division play (70-105 pounders) in the Napa Memorial Stadium. Napa represents the Golden Empire Conference.

On Nov. 23, the Rancho Cotate Collegians will visit Salinas to play the midget division (90-125 pounds) playoff winner of the Monterey Bay Conference. Time and stadium will be determined later.

Introducing the '75 Corollas.

Radial tires standard on most models (SR-5 shown.)

Lowest priced car in America:* Corolla 2-Door Sedan.

But they come with more than basics.

For instance, our SR-5 sports such items as AM/FM radio, tach, clock, radial tires and a 5-speed transmission.

So you see, it's not so much the price that makes it a bargain.

There are a couple of things we put in every '75 Corolla which we think you'll especially like.

In short, we build every Toyota exactly the way we'd like you to own one.

With pride.

Grossi Finally Hits The Mark

Poor Domingo Grossi of Inverness. For over 10 years he has been going out of California to other states always hoping to get a big deer or an elk. Never has he succeeded until this year when he got both a big buck and a big elk. He was a happy fellow.

Of course he called to give me the news, so I wrote it up in last week's column. I even called him up to tell him which day it would be in. Did you see the item? Neither did I. Somewhere along the way a couple of sentences were dropped, with the rest of the lines making the article read as if Tom Hall of Nicasio got those trophies. Well, Tom did get a 200-pound buck too, but not the elk. I suppose Tom has been beseiged by friends for a piece of that elk meat.

Someday I expect to read that I returned from Webber with my wife Mary who had four points and weighed 160 pounds dressed out. Her head now adorns the Giddings' trophy room. If you read that remember, I didn't write it.

WITH PRODUCTION improved from last year in most areas, prospects are considered bright for hunter success on the opening weekend of pheasant season in California.

The Department of Fish and Game forecasts success ranging from fair to good for hunters taking to the field in the season opening statewide tomorrow. The season will continue through Dec. 8.

The rice harvest in the Sacramento Valley has been completed and the stubble has been burned in most fields. This should help concentrate pheasants on remaining habitat, the Department of Fish and Game said.

IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA, the state's Honey Lake Wildlife Management Area and the Tule Lake and Lower Klamath National Wildlife refuges will provide the bulk of hunting opportunity.

The northern area of the Sacramento Valley is rated among best bets in the Central Valleys, and the Oakdale area in San Joaquin Valley should be good. However, the harvest in the San Joaquin Valley generally could be down from last year.

Game-farm birds will be provided in the same areas in southern California as they have been in previous years. The 19,500 planted birds will be released in several Imperial Valley areas.

Roosters only are allowed in the bag in northern and central California. Birds of either sex may be taken elsewhere in the state. Limits statewide are two per day opening weekend, and four per day thereafter with four in possession. Hunters may possess four pheasants on and after the second day of the hunting season statewide.

Shooting hours are 8 a.m. until sunset. Don't forget to get your pheasant stamp.

AN INTENSIVE state-federal effort to stamp out the season's last major outbreak of botulism among California waterfowl — this plus the start of cooler weather — apparently is producing results.

This was the word this week from the DFG which, with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is choking off a waterfowl dieoff at the southern tip of San Francisco Bay.

As of midweek, the Fish and Game said, the outbreak had claimed a total of 12,000 birds, about 1,500 more than the count from the previous week. Losses were continuing at the rate of something like 100 birds daily, down sharply for the first time in the nine-week term of the flare-up.

On another front, at the city sewer ponds in Stockton where botulism broke out late in September, the casualty rate continued to drop and losses had stabilized at little more than 4,000 birds. The loss rate was about 20 birds per day this week.

Cramer Calls For Champion Soccer Team

"We will, we must, develop an American team capable of winning an Olympic medal and qualifying for the World Cup finalls," he said in a podium-pounding speech. "And we can't just talk about it. We must do it."

Cramer spoke at a luncheon to show the San Jose Earthquakes' highlights film and promote interest in this weekend's Stanford Invitational Soccer Tournament, involving the Pac Eight.

The competitors in the Stanford tourney will play two games today involving 40-minute halves.

Bare Facts Cost Soccer Player

LONDON (UPI) — The bare facts of life cost Irish soccer international star Terry Mancini $360 and a two-week suspension today.

Mancini was penalized by a Football Association disciplinary committee for dropping his shorts in front of the directors box while playing for Queens Park Rangers against Ipswich in an English First division match on Oct. 4.

Mancini said after the match "It was just a giggle," but the disciplinary committee did not share the joke and imposed the penalties for conduct likely to bring the game into disrepute.

Novato Defeats Tam In Swimming

Novato High School defeated Tamalpais, 71-42 yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League girls' swimming meet.

Sue King, Cokie Sunderland and Laura Griffin all were double winners for Novato. Miss King took the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly, Miss Sunderland the 50 and 100 breastroke and Miss Griffin the 100 backstroke and 200 free.

First Coach

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — — From 1894, when the coach was a professor of Latin, to today, the University of Arkansas football team has compiled a proud football heritage. In 80 seasons, the Razorbacks have won 397, lost 286 and tied 33.

TERRA LINDA-SAN MARIN

Fight For Second Place Tomorrow

All or part of second place will be the prize tomorrow when the San Marin Mustangs and the Terra Linda Trojans clash on the last day of the Marin County Athletic League football season.

Kickoff is 1:30 at Novato High School.

The Mustangs, at 3-1-1, currently enjoy sole residence in second behind champion Novato, and they can remain that way in the final standings with a victory. But a win for the Trojans, now 2-2-1, would tie the two teams and open the way for San Rafael and-or Tamalpais to also gain a share of second.

The game will be an irresistible force — immovable object affair, pitting the best rushing attack in the league against the best defense against the rush. San Marin, led by Wayne Roche and Bob Bennett, has averaged 175 yards per game on the ground. Last week, the Mustangs picked up 171 enroute to a 28-13 win over Drake.

Terra Linda, conversely, has allowed only 28 yards per game rushing. The Trojan defense was totally effective in the second of last week's game against Novato, which ended in an 18-18 tie.

"We're going to try and run, and of course they're going to try and stop us," says San Marin coach John Treu.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas agrees, and says of the San Marin attack, "You try to contain them and not let them break off something. Keep them from making the big play."

The Trojans also have a "big play" capability, which they proved with three touchdown passes against Novato. Brad Lucchi, who threw two of them, and Brian Wark, who bruised his elbow after throwing the other, have given Terra Linda a respectable offense to go with the formidable defense.

Hot Tam Faces Drake

The Tamalpais Indians, with a chance to finish tied for second place, take on the Drake Pirates tomorrow at Mill Valley as the Marin County Athletic League football season ends. Kickoff is 1 p.m.

The Indians are hot, having beaten Terra Linda and San Rafael the last two weeks, and they stand now at 2-2-1 in the MCAL with a reputation as the most physical team in the league.

The Pirates, on the other hand, have had no end of troubles, particularly on defense. They have only one league win, and last week they suffered their fourth loss, 28-13, at the hands of San Marin.

Tam, therefore, is a solid choice to end the season on a winning note. That would insure the Mill Valley team of third place, and the combination of a Tam win and a San Marin loss to Terra Linda would give the Indians a share of second.

"Defensively we're really strong," says Tam coach Jess Racines, "and (Kevin) Murphy is running over people." Murphy got 71 yards in last week's 14-0 shutout of San Rafael.

"Concerning Drake, we feel they can move the ball. They were ahead of San Marin by two touchdowns. It's just that in their last three games, they haven't been able to sustain."

Drake continues to depend on the passing of Terry Fahey, who threw for 128 yards and a touchdown against San Marin.

A Game Of Percentages For Redwood, San Rafael

The San Rafael Bulldogs, who need a win to finish over .500, and the Redwood Giants, who need one to finish over .000, meet tonight at 8 o'clock in a season-ending Marin County Athletic League football game at Paul Miller Field in San Rafael.

It's been a disappointing season for both teams; San Rafael was in contention for the title before losing its last two league games, while Redwood has four losses, one tie and no wins.

The Bulldogs can still salvage a share of second place, providing they win tomorrow and Terra Linda beats San Marin. That would deadlock all three teams at 3-2-1. And Tam could make it a four-way tie by beating Drake.

Last week Tam knocked off San Rafael, 14-0, while Redwood lost to Marin Catholic in non-league action, 15-13.

San Rafael coach Bob Muster, like almost everyone else in the league, feels Redwood is much better than the record shows. "They look pretty good, and they did a good job on Marin Catholic," he says. "They throw the ball well, and we expect them to throw."

Giant quarterback Mark Chapman was six for 13 and 87 yards against Marin Catholic, including a touchdown toss to his favorite target, Chuck Hall. Tomorrow, Redwood's passing will be strengthened by the return to the lineup of wide receiver Randy Miller, who sat out the last two games with injuries.

The Bulldogs are a passing team too. But against Tam, they weren't very good at catching. Quarterback Dave Steele had what Muster called "one of his better efforts, but the fact that we didn't hold onto the ball was crucial."

San Rafael receivers dropped half a dozen passes thrown right at them, and the result was only five completions in 30 attempts for Steele. He's a good bet to do better tomorrow, even against a pass defense that leads the league.

Bears-49ers Game A Sellout

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears sold the last 30 tickets for Sunday's game with the San Francisco 49ers to a north side restaurateur, Eli Shulman, yesterday to guarantee that the game would be televised locally.

Schulman had an order for 30 tickets in the Bears' box office and a club spokesman said "we had to scrounge around a bit to fill it."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Tri-Continental A Bargain Buy

By DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. Many articles on mutual funds fail to mention Tri-Continental Corp. (NYSE). I would appreciate your discussing its investment merits. — O.T.

A. Closed-end funds, such as Tri-Continental, in most ways resemble mutual funds. Yet, because they have a set capitalization, rather than offering new shares continuously closed-ends are distinct from mutual funds and therefore are frequently ignored in discussions of mutuals. Trading price, which reflects supply and demand as well as net asset value, may be above (premium) or below (discount) net asset value per share of the underlying portfolio. Thus, when a closed-end is bought at a 20 per cent discount, the investor has $1.25 in assets working for him for every $1 invested.

Tri-Continental, the largest in this group, has a high-quality portfolio encompassing over 100 issues. In the last five years $8.46 in capital gains have been distributed and income dividends for the last 12 months have amounted to 87 cents per share. At the current price, Tri-Continental is trading at about a 15 per cent discount (discount has ranged from 2.4 per cent to 25.1 per cent in the last decade) and yields 5.4 per cent. Buy.

Q. You have mentioned on several occasions money market funds. I would like to know whether these have met the approval of the SEC. I cannot afford to take a chance with my money. — C.F.

A. The SEC (Securities & Exchange Commission) never approves any fund. They simply register it and make sure of "full disclosure" — nothing more. There is of course some risk involved in any investment — where else can you expect to get 10 per cent-12 per cent except with risk? If you want the absolute minimum of risk better buy U.S. Treasury securities now yielding about 7.8 per cent. These may be bought through a broker after issue or through a Federal Reserve Bank upon offering. Even these involve some slight risk, the risk that interest may go down. If held to maturity you will, of course, receive full principal value, your full interest and you won't have to pay state income taxes on the interest.

(Mr. Sargent cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

NEW HOME OF PCA

This $100,000 structure at 44 North San Pedro Road, across the street from the Marin Civic Center, will be completed about March next year by Professional Capital Agencies Inc., insurance brokers, of San Rafael. The company, now located at 121 Paul Drive in Northgate Industrial Park, is adding a new Computer Tax Service division to handle 1974 tax returns by computer. Joseph Landi Jr., president of PCA, also plans to introduce telephone interview service for tax clients. The 3200-square-foot building, designed by Berkeley architect Adrian J. Archer, will have textured redwood walls with cedar shingle eaves, surrounded by landscaping.

Stock Prices Tumble In Light Mart Trade

Declines led advances, 646 to 393, among the 1,479 issues crossing the tape.

Analysts said many investors remained on the sidelines because they were uncertain about the nation's economic problems and whether the United Mine Workers Union — on strike for the fourth day — would ratify a new contract. There is concern a lengthy strike could cripple the nation's already slowing economy.

Investors appeared to ignore news that trend-setting First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, lowered the prime lending rate it charges key corporate customers to 10¼ per cent from 10½ per cent.

The rate, which has worried Wall Street since it reached 12 per cent in July, now ranges from 10¼ to 11 per cent across the nation. The Federal Reserve Board has eased its policies somewhat lately, resulting in the lower rates.

What bothered many investors was the Labor Department report its wholesale price index for October rose 2.3 per cent — sharply higher than September's figure. The report indicated consumer prices would continue to rise.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

MacFarlane's Candy Will Open First Marin Shop Next Month

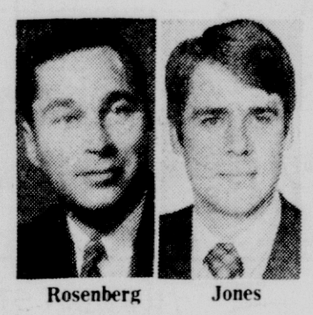
MacFarlane's Candy and Ice Cream Shop, headquartered in Oakland, will open its first Marin County shop during the first part of next month in Novato, at the Novato Fair Shopping Center.

It will cover 2,840 square feet of space at one end of the building where Safeway is located.

Owen Stephenson, president of MacFarlane's, said the Novato outlet will be a franchise store operated by Peter Parotino of Tiburon. The company has about 50 ice cream parlor and candy stores in California.

RICHARD M. ROSENBERG of San Rafael, senior vice president in charge of marketing and advertising division of Wells Fargo Bank, was named chairman of the communications committee, marketing division of the American Bankers Association and a member of ABA's Communications Council.

The Communications Council is responsible for the national advertising and public relations effort of the 14,000-member ABA.



Rosenberg Jones

JOHN S. JONES of Larkspur has been named credit officer in Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office. A 1972 graduate of the University of San Francisco, Jones joined Wells Fargo in March of 1973 and served as banking services officer in the Mill Valley office.

SHADY BUSINESS, a new shop operated by two Fairfax women, opened today on the The Port floor of The Port in Mill Valley, 393 Miller Avenue.

Owners Nancy Schuepbach and Mary Dumonte make and sell antique-looking lampshades that were in vogue during the 1900 to 1930's era. "We make frames from welding rods and cover them with old-looking cloth so that they look authentic," said Mrs. Scheupbach. Some shades have peacock feathers and others bead work, and all have long fringes.

Mrs. Schuepbach started making shades about a year ago for her brother, who has an antique shop in Seattle. Both Mrs. Schuepbach and Mrs. Dumonte have been residents of Marin for about six years.

Another new shop, featuring macrame and pottery, opened today in the same location as Shady Business. Owner of the new store is Joyce Harvell of Fairfax, who fires and glazes her own pottery and makes macrame, hanging vases and bells, and miniature perfume and oil bottles. Mrs. Harvell studied art for about six yers at schools including California School of Fine Arts, Art Center in Los Angeles, and College of Marin.

HOW SAFE are the banks? Are things so bad that some people are considering putting their money in a cookie jar?

These and other questions will be discussed at two free seminars to be held at Barclays Bank at Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo on Tuesday, Nov. 19, and Tuesday, Nov. 26. The seminars will be from 8 to 10 p.m. Speakers will be Robert McCafferty, manager of Barclays Bank, and William M. Taylor, managing executive of a securities firm.

The two money managers will also review such questions as how to pick a safe bank, gold investments, how to make money in a recession-depression, and real estate investments.

SLATER-COLOMBO Diversified Old Objects is the name of a new shop that opened this week at 209 Corte Madera Avenue in Corte Madera.

Owners are Jean D. Slater and Wynn Colombo of Bolinas, who formerly owned Aggie's Restaurant in Mill Valley for nine and one-half years until they sold it last August.

Slater-Colombo is located between Ted Smith Realtors and Dolman Realty. The new shop sells antiques, small oak pieces, china, glass, old pulleys and a variety of old brass, copper and bronze hardware. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

CLIFFORD S. LUND of Lund Associates, Inc., insurance brokers at 1418 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, has been selected for membership in the Kemper Insurance Companies' President's Club.

R. F. Ballus, western division manager of the Kemper Insurance Companies, said the membership "is a hallmark of excellence awarded to agents who have done an outstanding job for their policyholders." It is awarded for outstanding sales and service.

Lund has been active in the insurance business for 23 years.

W. S. ALLAN of San Rafael has been appointed senior vice president of the Hongkong Bank of California, San Francisco. He was formerly vice president and manager of the San Francisco main office.

Allan has been with Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for more than 20 years.

BAROSSI & CO. Realtors at 131 Camino Alto in Mill Valley announced the addition to its staff of Felix Ruggiero of Kentfield.

Ruggiero has 29 years of sales experience in residential and income properties, 21 years as a broker. For the past five years, he was with Brockmann Real Estate in Mill Valley. Barossi now has a sales staff of six.

MEL BECK, San Rafael accountant, just completed a seminar with the Tax Institute for Practitioners at San Francisco State University, conducted by the staff of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. Beck owns MDB Co. at 170 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael.

Hoffa Begins Campaign For Power

DETROIT (UPI) — James R. Hoffa, former boss of the powerful Teamsters union, has set the wheels in motion for a legal battle that may return him to union leadership.

Hoffa said yesterday he is ready to defy a presidential ban and seek the presidency of his old union local, the traditional springboard to national Teamsters power.

"I am sure I will get the nomination," Hoffa said. "People have told me I will."

The 61-year-old one-time union powerhouse said he expects to be nominated as president of Local 299 sometime next month.

Hoffa was freed from prison in late 1971 after he served nearly five years of a 13-year sentence for mail fraud and jury tampering.

His sentence was commuted by former President Richard Nixon with the stipulation that Hoffa not engage in union activities until 1980.

Hoffa said yesterday his attorneys have told him that an acceptance of the union local nomination would not violate that presidential order.

An appeal of a federal court decision upholding the ban against Hoffa is now before the U.S. Court of Appeals but final arguments are not expected until early next year.

Hoffa said yesterday whether or not he could assume leadership of the 18,000-member union local would depend on the outcome of his appeal.

Hoffa said he has not violated the terms of his release from prison and did not consider the ban binding for several legal reasons, including the fact he did not sign the commutation agreement.

Hoffa was president of the Teamsters for 10 years until he went to jail.

Hoffa and Fitzsimmons have since split and are now engaged in a power struggle for control of the local.

Today is Friday, Nov. 15, the 319th day of 1974 with 46 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

British Prime Minister William Pitt was born Nov. 15, 1708.

On this day in history:

In 1492, the first recorded reference to tobacco was made by Christopher Columbus, noting in his journal the use of it by Indians he had found in the New World.

In 1806, explorer Zebulon Pike sighted the 14,110-foot Colorado Rocky Mountain Peak that bears his name.

In 1920, the first assembly of the League of Nations was called to order in Geneva, Switzerland.

In 1972, the United States and Cuba agreed to discuss a curb on airline hijackings.

A thought for the day: British statesman William Pitt said after the American colonies had won their independence in the Revolutionary War, "I love Americans because they love liberty." He also said: "You cannot conquer America."

Tell Your Partner Only What He Needs To Know

One of the principles of keeping a secret is that you reveal it only to those who need to know it. Observe this principle at the bridge table. Much as you may love your partner, tell him only what he really needs to know.

ANOTHER SPADE

Dummy's ace of spades won the first trick. The jack of hearts rode around to the king, and West led another spade to make South ruff.

Declarer now drew three rounds of trumps, and East had to find three discards. The first two were easy, since East could afford to throw low spades. The next one wasn't quite so easy.

East finally decided to throw the ten of diamonds, hoping that this would tell his partner all about the diamond strength.

EFFECTIVE SIGNAL

The signal was effective. It did tell West where the king of diamonds was, but it also gave South the contract.

Declarer led a diamond, losing dummy's queen to East's king. South ruffed the spade return and ran the diamonds. The ace and jack collected East's remaining diamonds, and South had no further trouble.

If East had kept all of his diamonds, South would have been down two instead of making the doubled contract. The signal cost 1,290 points.

How could East tell what to keep? South had discarded two clubs from dummy on the third and fourth trumps. Moreover, West's bid and double indicated strength, which could be only in clubs. It was clearly up to East to keep control of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ - 2 ♦ - J 8 7 5 3
♥ - A Q 10 8 5 2 ♣ - K.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

If you count everything, you have 10 points in high cards and 4 points for the two singletons. Still, the value of the hand is not quite up to 14 points. A singleton king should be devalued slightly. Bid this hand secondarily to show that it has playing strength but not quite the right amount of high-card strength.

Reagan Declines

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday he won't accept any offer from President Ford to be vice president if Congress does not confirm Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Who Benefits From Inflation? Government Does

At first blush, it appears nobody does.

CERTAINLY ALL of us, as consumers, suffer rather than benefit. The purchases we must make continually cost us more. Our money "doesn't go as far."

The wage earner does not benefit. Whatever pay increases he gets are promptly eaten up by the price rise. Unless he is unusually fortunate, he winds up worse off than before, never catching up.

The investor does not benefit. Those "gilt-edged" securities he has put away for a rainy day don't draw enough interest to cover the decline in the dollar's value. And if he has invested in stocks, he finds that the unsettling effect of continuing inflation is more likely to make them decline in dollar value than increase.

At first, industry benefits. Inventories and plant expansions financed before inflation (or when it was at a slower rate) gain in value, resulting in a jump in profits. But this is very temporary. As inventories must be replaced, the rise in prices of materials quickly wipes out the temporary gain. At the same time, consumer resistance to increased prices cuts sales. Profits soon diminish or disappear. This has happened already in the automobile industry.

HOWEVER, the United States Chamber of Commerce suggests that there is one entity which benefits from inflation. It is the government.

It works like this: The income tax, major revenue producer for federal and most state governments, is graduated, taking a larger bite as incomes grow larger. Hence, as inflation pushes everything upward, the income tax takes not only more dollars but also a bigger percentage of the public's earnings, because more and more people move into higher tax brackets.

"This means," says the chamber's Nov. 4 Washington Report, "as inflation pushes income up, the government, through the progressive income tax, is not only taking a larger share of your income, but a larger share of all the income of business and individuals in the nation."

This, of course, gives the government more money to spend on everything from studies of the sexual habits of frogs to purchase of newer and more expensive fighter planes. But it is never enough to satisfy the government. Therefore the government keeps out-spending its income, putting us all farther into debt and further deflating the dollar and inflating prices.

THE CHAMBER reports that in 1971, federal, state and local governments took about $3.75 of every $10 income earned by the American people. The government share last year was up to $3.97. If the present trend continues, by 1981 over half of all the income of Americans will be confiscated by government.

Already, according to a study by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, the United States has the second highest per capita tax bite in the world, succeeded only by Sweden's.

The irony of all this is that we look to government to curb inflation when government is inflation's only beneficiary.

Ford Faces Potential Trouble On His Trip To The Far East

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will chalk up his own historic "first" when he travels to Japan next week.

He also will be attempting to establish his credentials as a statesman and leader of the most powerful nation in the world.

IN MAKING A FOREIGN trip — on the anniversary of his first 100 days in the presidency — Ford will only be following precedent set by his predecessors.

Since World War II, new Presidents have traveled abroad early in the game to test their foreign policy skills. Sometimes there have been rude awakenings as in the case of President Kennedy's first meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khruschev in Vienna in 1961.

Ford is anxious to get a grip on foreign policy making which was former President Nixon's strongest point. He has retained Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as his master diplomat, and most of the strategy emanating from the White House is definitely Kissinger's style.

Ford has never visited Japan before. When he flies to Tokyo Sunday he will become the first American president to ever set foot on that Pacific Island since the United States established diplomatic relations with it more than 100 years ago.

Other American presidents have been thwarted in their attempts to go to Japan. The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower had arrived in Manila en route to Tokyo when he got a telephone call from his press secretary, James Hagerty, recommending the trip be cancelled because of anti-American demonstrations.

Nixon had hoped to travel to Japan last summer following his Middle East and Soviet summits, but Watergate kept him from adding Japan to his list of presidential firsts.

FORD'S INITIATION into world diplomacy is fraught with potential trouble. Japanese demonstrators could disrupt his visit, and he is going to Tokyo at a time when Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka is on the political ropes, seeking to survive in office and fighting back against charges that he enriched himself in government.

Japanese diplomats are saying that Ford's visit will be symbolic and will have a significant impact relations elations between the U.S. and its World War II enemy. They insist that whether or not Tanaka remains as prime minister, U.S. Japanese policy will remain the same.

Despite the domestic strife in South Korea, Ford also will visit Seoul for talks with President Park Chung Hee.

Opposition leaders had urged that Ford not come for fear such a visit would bolster President Park's regime.

The world also will be watching when Ford flies to Vladivostok in eastern Siberia to meet with Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The two men will be taking each other's measure. Brezhnev, a backslapping man, got along famously with Nixon. He and Ford were expected to hit it off in friendly fashion.

The main issue in the Siberian mini-summit will be the nuclear arms limitation talks, but the two leaders are expected to include the growing possibility of a new conflict in the Middle East; U.S.-Soviet trade; immigration for Soviet Jews and European security.

Kissinger will fly to Peking following the meeting to report to Premier Chou En Lai and Mao Tse Tung.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND:

Drummond Urges Ford To Exercise Initiative

The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. President:

I wonder if you may not be readhing the same conclusion about the consequence of the election as I am.

It is this: The election creates an unworkable, divided government at a time when it can do grave harm.

REGARDLESS OF WHAT the voters intended, they did this:

—To deal with the twin perils of inflation and recession, they gave to Congress initiative and power Congress has never been able to exercise in the past.

—At the same time they greatly reduced the initiative and power which you, as President, need to exercise to make government work.

I am sure you appreciate this danger more than most. The election was not primarily a verdict on the Ford administration; it was a verdict on the Nixon administration. But the effect is the same.

The American people have increased the power of Congress to do what it cannot do and have decreased the power of the presidency to do what it needs to do.

AT A TIME of unchecked inflation and rising unemployment, at a time when the prospect of renewed war hangs over the Middle East, at a time when food production worldwide is declining and starvation is increasing — the United States is confronted with something near to a political vacuum in government.

This comes at a moment when it cannot be permitted to prevail.

This comes at a moment when the United States is enmeshed in economic, military and political crises of unprecedented proportions as perilous and more difficult to resolve than those of the war against Hitler.

But the election created such an unbalanced government that neither the president nor Congress alone can cope with these crises. It can only be done if the White House and Congress are willing to adjourn partisanship for the duration and work together in a spirit of wartime unity.

OBVIOUSLY THERE are leading Democrts in Congress who want to run for president in 1976. Probably you do, too. Fine.

But are we not at a crisis-juncture in history when the best way to run for president is to forget about it?

And wouldn't the momentarily jubilant Democrats like it that way? They fear you may be readying a strategy which will enable you to campaign against a "do-nothing 94th Congress."

Why not help them become a "do-something 94th Congress" which will give the nation the government it needs?

You have the resources to make the beginning, to make the first indispensable gesture.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Haunted House Draws Nearly 20,000 People

Thank you so much for the excellent support the Independent-Journal gave to our haunted house fund raiser for Children's Home Society.

In spite of extremely inclement weather, 19,233 people attended our event this year at our new location in Northgate Mall. This was due, to a great extent, to the outstanding coverage your staff was able to support us with. With a talent-team like Jim Kean and Beth Ashley helping us, it would be difficult to lose . . .

Petition For Guard Rail Gets Quick Response

I am writing you in regards to the petition that I drew up on Oct. 1, re the 101 bypass, namely Atherton Avenue, Novato, relocated.

I myself and all of the residents of this community, and many that are not on the petition, would be very grateful if you could mention in your newspaper "letters to the editor" the biggest thank you to all concerned in these signatures. But mainly to a few names set forth, connected with the State Highway Division.

With no plans on the re-routed state highways planning maps for this guard rail to be installed on the south side of Atherton Avenue, it took only three weeks to get the allocated funds and the materials. I am very grateful, as we all are, to a Mr. Edwards of the State Highways Division in San Francisco, . . . Ed Gregorige and Tom Olson, also of the Department of Transportation, . . . and of course Mr. Tom Nolan, city engineer for the City of Novato. This was given full attention and haste was made to install this guard rail. . .

We all at Palm Lane Trailer Court say thank you , you have helped us to feel safer, and much more at ease, in the wee hours of the a.m. especially . . .

Northern Counties Lucky To Have Senator Behr

Your recent editorial pointing out the great difficulty of any one person's representing six such diverse counties as Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Humboldt, and Del Norte was certainly true.

That's why these counties are so lucky that Sen. Peter Behr won the chance to do it, as he has shown in his first four year term that he is outstandingly devoted to his job, having had a 93 per cent attendance record. He also gave up all private law practice. This partly accounts for his extraordinary record of accomplishment, which will continue in his second term, we can be sure.

Way To Make That Price Mark-Up Secret

In the last six months many complaints have been aired because markets have raised prices of cans by scratching out the original price and substituting a new, and always higher, one. Now at least one local supermarket has figured a way out of that one:

While shopping this morning I watched for several minutes while a clerk removed half-a-dozen packages of mixed vegetables from the freezer; he sprayed the "indelible" price (47 cents in this case) on each package, wiped it carefully, then re-stamped each package with "54 cents."

Caveat emptor!

The Deeper Meaning Of Armistice Day

Another Armistice Day has passed, and that Armistice Day was to end all wars and bring a lasting peace. There has been a slipup somewhere along the way, for there are still wars and no peace. I thought we were a civilized world, where men were educated to work things out in a civilized way. I guess I am wrong.

The first Armistice Day found me in France in 1918, I was 18 years old in the U.S. Navy. I was stationed at a naval air station not far from Bordeaux. I was on shore patrol . . . when the official word came, Nov. 11, at 11 a.m., I can't describe it to you — young men, young women, old men, old women, crying, singing, thanking God in their own way.

Unless you lived in the British Isles or in Europe you really would not know the true meaning of this great day. Those dear people had been bombed and shelled for four years, and now it was all over, we thought.

So this Armistice Day only a few came to the program here. I can understand; it happened 56 years ago. To the school children it just means a day off from school to have fun, to the young business man whose firm gives time off, it means a free day to play golf or take the family for an outing.

Yet for those of us who were there it has a deeper meaning. I am sure we would like to forget it, yet there are some things in one's life you just can't brush off . . .

The land belongs to God. He only leases it to us to use it for a good purpose. Like little Puck says, "What fools these mortols be."

Coal Strike Should Awaken Americans To Some Hard Truths

WASHINGTON — Anyone who has suspected lately that life is just one damned thing after another sees his judgment ratified by a national coal strike. No single event can possibly do such multiple duty to worsen our already existing problems — inflation, recession and energy shortage.

Therefore, obviously, now is the time for the American people to be furious with the mine workers.

I WILL REVIEW that hasty conclusion after examining the likely results of a strike that lasts only two weeks, as United Mine Workers officials were predicting a few days back, or three weeks, as they are predicting at this writing, or longer.

Up to half a million workers will go off payrolls even if the strike is relatively short. Promptly after the miners go out — some 120,000 of them — railroad workers on lines that exist mainly to ship coal will start being laid off. At about the same time, retailers in coal areas will start reducing their overhead during slack business.

Then will come steel workers, who have been working close to the margin of their coal supply. Furnaces will be banked, and if the strike continues awhile whole plants and even the whole industry can be closed won. Directly after the steel slump will come construction cutbacks — in an industry that could hardly slump any lower — and automobile industry layoffs.

The electric utilities' stockpiles are higher than big steel's supply, varying from five to 12 weeks. But regional utility companies will be affected immediately. Brownouts will come first, as companies try to stretch their coal supplies.

The outward spread of shutdowns and layoffs from these basic industries requires little imagination. Top them with the possibility of another Arab oil embargo, and try to program the results.

THE FIRST FEW steps outlined here are inevitable, even with a mere token strike in which the UMW takes 10 days or so to approve an agreement — and to remind the coal companies and the nation of its unity, and its troublemaking potential next time. The latter steps would be reached only if the strike dragged out and became more than a token.

Either way, the coal miners are not going to be popular heroes in our country this month. The very least they are going to cause is a little inconvenience across the board.

And the very least they deserve while we are being inconvenienced is some understanding of the life the miners lead.

WHILE YOU AND I work in offices that look out to the sunlight, most miners work deep underground. While the worst daily hazard most of us face is smog along our commuting routes, miners live with the constant threat of explosions and cave-ins. While the average wage earner can retire to relax in good health, too many miners retire to wheeze out their brief old age with black lung.

While most industrial workers long ago were able to write strict safety standards into their contracts, the miners are still struggling to solidify their protection. And while the miners' wages went up less than 8 per cent last year, coal prices went up 61 per cent and the profits of the 10 biggest companies went up an average of 181 per cent.

If the miners' strike, however brief, does nothing else, it will serve the long-term national interest by dragging these facts out for us to face. And if you guessed from all this that the author of it is pro-miner, you are dead right.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 15, 1964

About 58,000 Ford Motor Co. workers were idle in strikes called by the United Auto Workers Union.

The body of a 15-year-old Tamalpais High School student was found in Richardson Bay, where he had died of exposure after being trapped in the mud.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 15, 1954

Retired Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer announced start of a petition drive seeking 10 million signatures urging the Senate to reject censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis.

Miners abandoned efforts to reach 15 of their fellows trapped in a cave-in in Mine No. 9 of the Jamison Coal Co. at Farmington, W. Va.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"The whole financial structure of Wall Street seemed to fall on the mere fact that the Federal Resrve Bank raised the amount of interest. Any business that can't survive a 1 per cent raise must be skating on thin ice.

"Why, even the poor farmers took a raise of from 6 to 10 per cent, with another 10 per cent to get a loan from a bank. It took all that to break him and nobody connected with the government paid any attention. But let Wall Street have a nightmare, and the whole country has to help get them back in bed again." — Aug. 12, 1929.

The American dilemma is that suddenly the best of all words is beginning to cost what it's worth.

Is Henry Kissinger's job in the Middle East tough? Well, did you ever hear of a referee telling two fighters to shake hands and come out peace-making?

Apparently we have to go through a coal strike because it will give the country such a relief when it ends.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

People Expect Legislature To Reform Its Operation

By EARL G. WATERS

Lest the 1975 legislature take the view it should resist or move slowly to bring about changes in organization and processes, it should be reminded that the people are expecting substantial improvements, not only on the state level but in Congress as well.

Already adopted for the 94th Congress, are a raft of rule changes. One which should be taken to heart by this state is the absolute prohibition against proxy voting. Substantial changes in committee assignments of members and subjects are also being made. Under new procedures, each committee will have subcommittees charged with examining executive activities under the committee's jurisdiction.

Congress has been in business for more than 180 years. Having its genesis in the Continental Congress, it has 20 years experience on top of that. If it is not too proud to revamp its operations, certainly this state's legislature, in existence only 124 years, must be viable too.

THE FACT IS there has been considerably tampering with the California Legislature in the past two decades by its own members, the public, and the courts. The most recent massive change, the two-year session, is still in its embryo stage. Since it is still formative, now is the right time to make alterations essential to giving it a chance to work.

The major fault in the present system stems from the fact the voters authorized a two-year session. Because of this, the members seem to think they must pretend to be in session throughout the entire period.

More appropriate would be to convene, introduce their proposals in the first year, take care of the budget and any urgency matters, and recess after not more than 90 days. The balance of the year could then be devoted to serious study of the proposals. Real depth would be gained by giving ample opportunity for all viewpoints to be presented plus doing their own research. They would also have time to look around and see how the bureaucrats are administering the laws they already have passed.

THE LEGISLATURE could then reconvene at the beginning of the next year to act intelligently upon the measures before it. And its labors should be concluded before that year's campaigns begin. For, aside from the suspicions which breed when members are receiving campaign contributions at the very time they are considering passage of legislation, the mixing of active legislation with campaigning is contrary to the best public interest.

In the first place, members standing for reelection find themselves too involved in campaigning to give proper consideration to legislation. Worse, the ambitious ones, seeking higher office, become less of statesmen and more of the political animal engaged in making insincere ploys merely to capture headlines. They tend to forget they have been sent to Sacramento to represent the people of their districts and start playing to the larger, statewide audiences. The old saw that one cannot serve two masters was never more appropriate.

Unfortunately the people have made office holding too attractive to too many. Instead of being satisified with the honor of representing a district, they view the legislature as merely a platform to greater things, such as being governor. Also unfortunately, the minute one becomes governor he starts thinking about being president.

The task is to get the legislators back to doing the job for which they were elected.

LUXURY AT SEA

Even Going Nowhere The QE2 Has Class

By STEWART DILL McBRIDE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BOSTON — Aproned waitresses dropped their popovers and pressed their noses against the restaurant's harbor window. Flash cubes exploded. A forest of several hundred arms waved on Commonwealth Pier as a palace guard of chubby tugboats escorted Britain's tueen of the seas into Boston Harbor.

The Queen Elizabeth 2, the best and possibly the last of the luxury liners, quietly arrived here one recent afternoon and slipped out later that evening for the first of a series of "cruises to nowhere."

She was back in port three days later.

For the nearly 1,500 passengers, most who had never traveled by sea before, the lovely lady of the ocean suffered a "touch of class" in times of economic woe.

Passage on the 67,000-ton QE 2 ranges as high as $97,035 (for luxury penthouse on an 80-day 'round-the-world cruise). But younger, less-affluent clientele is attracted to the shorter, less-expensive "samplers," as the travel agents call them.

But riding the ocean liners isn't what it used to be. Soaring fuel costs (QE 2 burns 500 tons of oil daily) and the proliferation of transatlantic air flights over the last decade, has forced the early retirement of some of the most prestigious liners, including the France, the United States, the original Queen Elizabeth, and the Queen Mary.

Cunard Line, Ltd., owners of the $84-million QE 2, has gone from 11 to 2 ocean liners in the past 10 years. The total number of transatlantic ship passengers has fallen from more than 10 million in 1957 to 638,000 in 1973.

Passengers sometimes are disappointed by the lack of pomp and pageantry that accompanied sendoffs in the past. Bon-voyage parties aboard the QE 2 are a thing of the past. Ever since a bomb hoax aboard two years ago, port security has become as tight as that at airports. No visitors are permitted aboard.

But the sight of the last of the graceful Queens and the majestic blasts of the ship's "whistle" as she leaves port still sends chills of adventure through her passengers and excites even those who come to wave good-bye.

'Dead Mail' Makes Life Interesting For Postman

CHICAGO (UPI) — It may be "dead mail" to Harry Gersie, but to one who has lost his wallet or had it stolen, the arrival of a "35-cents postage due" package from the post office is a miracle.

Gersie, 59, a 26-year post office veteran, works in the dead mail department and every day he sends between 40 and 100 wallets and purses back to their owners.

His efforts, a service the post office has provided "ever since I can remember," save thousands of Chicagoans from agonizing over lost blank checks, credit cards and identification — as well as personal notes and addresses.

Pickpockets and purse snatchers — usually only interested in cash — often use mailboxes as a way to dump evidence. And for a good Samaritans, dropping a found wallet into the nearest red, white and blue box is quick, cheap grace.

"We send the merchandise in a plain wrapper envelope postage due so if someone wants his wallet back, he has to pay," Gersie said.

Gersie said sometimes it is not so easy to determine where the wallet goes.

"Quite often," he said, "You have to figure out which of three addresses in the wallet is the latest one. Sometime a sales slip with a recent date on it will let you know. Sometime you just sort of have to guess."

He said a few times since he started doing this a year ago, someone has returned a wallet he sent them.

"In that case, we just try another address," he said.

"But I only work in wallets and purses," he said. "We have other departments to handle other items we find in the mails — like jewelry and clothing."

Man Awarded $364,500 In Damages Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Lawrence Candler, 40, has been awarded $364,500 in damages for a beating he suffered at the hands of three policemen in a street arguement over a traffic incident.

A jury ordered the city to pay $260,000. The additional $4,500 damages was assessed against officers Cornelius J. Lucey, William Gay, and Edward Fowley.

According to testimoney during Candler's suit, which asked for $3.5 million in damages, the policemen, in plain clothes, dragged Candler out of his car and administered the beating. Candler suffered brain damage and other injuries.

The incident occurred March 29, 1971, when Candler's car and the auto carrying the policemen approached a traffic signal and words were exchanged.

Counterculture Into 'Veggies'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The counterculture generation now is more interested in learning how to grow carrots than marijuana, the author of "The Last Whole Earth Catalog" says.

The counterculture movement has "pretty much lost interest in drugs," he declared. "There's far more enthusiasm for gardening, even by confirmed city people."
